NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, the first witness called today at the federal inquiry into the Morro Castle disaster, testified there were 32 persons in the lifeboat in which he left the ill-starred ship and that only two were passengers.

The chief engineer, dark-complexioned man of about 55, said he was asleep when the fire broke out. He admitted he did not go to the engine room. He said he telephoned there when he heard the alarm and they told him "everything was all right."

Got In Lifeboat

He said he did all he could to help passengers. He declared that Acting Captain William F. Warme told him when the flames were raging across the ship's superstructure to "take that boat." He got in lifeboat number one.

Dickerson N. Hoover, chairman of the board of inquiry, asked him who were in the lifeboat when he got in it. The witness replied there were about 32 persons in it. Two

Attorney Accepts Post As Head Of Campaign Organization For Year

CAMPAIGN DATES ARE OCTOBER 1 TO 6

WALTER W. BRAHAM

"Attorney Walter W. Braham, prominent member of the Lawrence County Bar, has accepted the General Chairmanship of the Campaign Organization now being assembled to solicit funds to fill New Castle Community Chest so that the eight affiliated agency needs for the remainder of 1934 and 1935, may be supplied," announced Mr. J. K. Love, President of the Community Chest Board of Directors.

Dates Are Selected

"October 1st to 6th, has been designated," continued Mr. Love, "as the intensive general solicitation week to culminate the campaign, in which over 230 of our business and professional men and civic-minded women will then canvass the business and residential sections of our city."

"Prior to this, however, five separate other divisions must be organized, namely: The Advanced Gifts Division, with a personal of 25 of our more prominent citizens, who will solicit about 200 of the larger corporations, firms, individuals and estates for subscriptions; community units with their investment or volume of business done in New Castle; an Employees Division, taking in all firms, institutions and plants employing ten or more on their payroll, calling for a division personnel of over 200 to conduct internal solicitation."

Body Of Captain Is Badly Burned

Remains Found In Fire Swept Cabin Of Ship

(International News Service)
ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 11.—Apparently there will be no autopsy performed on the body of Captain Robert D. Willmott, of the ill-starred liner Morro Castle, it was said here today.

The body of the captain, who died of a heart attack a few hours before the ship was swept by flames, was found in his cabin aboard the liner last night.

The remains were so badly burned that no autopsy of consequence could be made, it was said, and the body was left where it was found.

The discovery was made by Fire Chief William Taggart of Asbury Park and identification was made by means of a bunch of keys bearing a ring inscribed "captain."

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—Belief that the legislature meeting in special session Wednesday at noon will enact a stop-gap arrangement to finance relief to the end of the year without resorting to new taxation grew stronger today.

Incoming legislators, arriving early for party caucuses and conferences, were greeted on all sides with demands for a stop-gap arrangement under the call of Gov. Gifford Pinchot limiting their discussion solely to jobs aid.

Hope For Brief Session

Hearty agreement with the proposal for a brief meeting was expressed by legislative leaders who pointed out significantly at the same time that any attempt to agree upon new taxes would result in prolonged discord. It was considered certain that new tax bills will be introduced in the legislative hopper but there were increasing indications that Republican leaders are planning to go along with Governor Pinchot's plan which avoids tax levies.

The governor's recommendations to the legislature were expected to include suggestions that the $6,000,000 in available liquor stores profits be supplemented with $14,000,000

Philadelphia Girl Is Strangely Missing

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—Operators of the United States department of justice were conducting a nation-wide search for Virginia Swartz Gates, attractive blonde daughter of Thomas S. Gates, president of the University of Pennsylvania.

The young woman has neither been seen nor heard from since starting on a motor trip to her home here early last month from a ranch in Wyoming where she had spent a vacation.

Family Silent

Despite the disclosure by federal agents that the search was underway, Gates and members of his family retained a tight-lipped silence, refusing to give out any information concerning Miss Gates.

"We have not heard from my sister, but that is natural, since she is motoring leisurely. We are not worried," asserted Thomas S. Gates, Jr., a brother of the missing young woman. He refused to discuss the case and asked that member of the family be excused from further questioning.

Whether or not the young woman is in the hands of kidnappers, as has been reported, remained a disputed question pending official explanation of the search now underway.

Wyoming Ranch

Only the most meager details are available. Miss Gates is known to have been in Wyoming.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 11.—Against a nightmare backdrop of court litigation, of staggering regulations of municipal corruption and the display of armed forces, the dictatorship of United States Senator Huey P. Long went on trial today in a state seething with political tumult and embittered factionalism.

An armed force, forced by citizens as a precaution against possible bloodshed, enshrouded this city, prize in the deadly duel for political supremacy as voters tumbled out of their beds at the crack of dawn to thread their way in long lines to balloting places.

Ballots Being Cast

Throughout Louisiana citizens cast their ballots for candidates in eight congressional posts, two state supreme court vacancies and a seat on the Public Service Commission, but the real issue was one of the survival of a political dictatorship that Huey Long has founded under the nation's Republican form of government, which in theory delegates supreme authority to no one man or to no single group.

Names of rival candidates were of HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 11.—An NRA divided cleanly and sharply into three divisions—legislative, judicial and administrative—with General Hugh S. Johnson retaining the title of administrator and heading the administrative division, emerged today as the form of temporary reorganization to be effected by President Roosevelt.

The president and Johnson, conferring here in the executive's comfortable home on the Hudson river, have reached the stage of putting the new setup on paper. Johnson arrived here late yesterday and last night he and the president worked until past midnight at their task. Early this morning they were hard at work again.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Six county jail promoters were scolded here today as they made a vain effort to escape by sawing their way out of their cells.

Two of the alleged plotters were Nicholas Derembos and John Arndt, reputed Pittsburgh district smugglers. Both are under indictment for blinding an Oakland bookie after proprietor during a holiday last spring.

Guards discovered the escape plot after several iron bars had been partly sawed. Jail authorities announced they had confiscated the saws which had been smuggled into the prison.

Immediately after the attempted break was discovered, investigations were launched by District Attorney Andrew T. Park, County Detective Chief George Murray, and Warden John McNeil.

Wife Of Former Police Chief Is Shot And Killed In Her Bedroom

PHANTOM KILLER CASE POSSIBILITY

Husband Is Questioned; Reports He Found Wife Dead On Floor

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Julia Cummings, 30, wife of former Police Chief Thomas Cunningham, of suburban Swissvale, was shot and killed in the bedroom of her home early today under baffling circumstances.

Possibility that a "phantom killer" may have committed the crime was expressed by detectives shortly after they began an investigation.

They asserted the couple had received threatening letters and telephone calls recently.

Meanwhile, Cummings was taken into custody for questioning. He was being grilled severely by detectives. He said he discovered the slaying when he was awakened by the noise of his wife falling from bed in their apartment. He said he got up to let her back into bed, discovered her on the floor and then noticed a bullet wound in her head.

No Powder Marks

Police reported there was no powder marks on the flesh of the victim, indicating the shot had not been fired at close range.

Detectives were still at a loss as to whether the bullet which ended the woman's life had been fired from inside or outside the apartment. They asserted, however, that had the shot been fired from outside, the broken glass from a window should have fallen into the apartment. Most of it was found on the sidewalk outside.

Assistant Coroner James L. Davidson, said the bullet had been

Dear Pa Newc:

A reader of this column wants to know if it would be possible to transplant wild orchids at this time. I might say that anyone knowing of wild orchids in the woods at any time, my advice is to not disturb them. The orchid is the strangest of all the flowers in the plant kingdom. One orchid seed pod contains many thousands of seeds. And as the orchid grows in a cool damp place and the ground must contain a fungus in which the seeds drop in to make them grow and bloom, and without this fungus orchid seeds will not germinate or grow. There are more than three thousand kinds of orchids, and it is rarely that a true wild orchid of the woods is found.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, the first witness called today at the federal inquiry into the Morro Castle disaster, testified there were 32 persons in the lifeboat in which he left the ill-starred ship and that only two were passengers.

The chief engineer, dark-complexioned man of about 55, said he was asleep when the fire broke out. He admitted he did not go to the engine room. He said he telephoned there when he heard the alarm and they told him "everything was all right."

Got In Lifeboat
He said he did all he could to help passengers. He declared that Acting Captain William F. Warme told him when the flames were raging across the ship's superstructure to "take that boat." He got in lifeboat number one.

Dickerson N. Hoover, chairman of the board of inquiry, asked him who were in the lifeboat when he got in it. The witness replied there were about 32 persons in it. Two

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:

A reader of this column wants to know if it would be possible to transplant wild orchids at this time. I might say that anyone knowing of wild orchids in the woods at any time, my advice is to not disturb them. The orchid is the strangest of all the flowers in the plant kingdom. One orchid seed pod contains many thousands of seeds. And as the orchid grows in a cool damp place and the ground must contain a fungus in which the seeds drop in to make them grow and bloom, and without this fungus orchid seeds will not germinate or grow. There are more than three thousand kinds of orchids, and it is rarely that a true wild orchid of the woods is found.

Several new detours have sprung up in the vicinity of Erie and Union City, according to the detour bulletin for the week ending September 12. There is a detour between Cochranton and Mt. Hope, on Route 78, just off the Lakes-To-Sea highway; one north of Waterford, on Route 97; one at Spartansburg, one in Corry, one in Sugar Grove, and one at Spring Creek, in Warren county.

Mrs. Hetty E. Gibson, 520 East Winter avenue, has a most precocious night blooming cereus, for the plant is but two years old and has bloomed twice this year; about six weeks ago the plant shot forth one of its exquisite blooms and again Monday evening neighbors and friends came to see another bloom and Mrs. Gibson says she thinks it will bloom again this summer. It is unusual for a plant less than six or seven years old to bloom.

Cabin Of Ship

(International News Service)
ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 11.—Apparently there will be no autopsy performed on the body of Captain Robert D. Willmott, of the ill-starred liner Morro Castle, it was said here today.

The body of the captain, who died of a heart attack a few hours before the ship was swept by flames, was found in his cabin aboard the liner last night.

The remains were so badly burned that no autopsy of consequence could be made, it was said, and the body was left where it was found.

The discovery was made by Fire Chief William Taggart of Asbury Park and identification was made by means of a bunch of keys bearing a ring inscribed "captain."

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—Belief that the legislature meeting in special session Wednesday at noon will enact a stop-gap arrangement to finance relief to the end of the year without resorting to new taxation grew stronger today.

Incoming legislators, arriving early for party caucuses and conferences, were greeted on all sides with demands for a short snappy session under the call of Gov. Gifford Pinchot limiting their discussion solely to jobs aid.

Hope For Brief Session

Hearty agreement with the proposal for a brief meeting was expressed by legislative leaders who pointed out significantly at the same time that any attempt to agree upon new taxes would result in prolonged discord. It was considered certain that new tax bills will be introduced in the legislative hopper but there were increasing indications that Republican leaders are planning to go along with Governor Pinchot's plan which avoids tax levies.

The governor's recommendations to the legislature were expected to include suggestions that the $6,000,000 in available liquor stores profits be supplemented with $14,000,000.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 11.—Against a nightmare backdrop of court litigation, of staggering revelations of municipal corruption and the display of armed forces, the dictatorship of United States Senator Huey P. Long went on trial today in a state seething with political tumult and embittered factionalism.

An armed truce, forced by citizens as a precaution against possible bloodshed, enshrouded this city, prize in the deadly duel for political supremacy, as voters tumbled out of their beds at the crack of dawn to thread their way in long lines to balloting places.

Ballots Being Cast

Throughout Louisiana citizens cast their ballots for candidates in eight congressional posts, two state supreme court vacancies and a seat on the Public Service Commission, but the real issue was one of the survival of a political dictatorship that Huey Long has founded under the nation's Republican form of government which in their delegates supreme authority to no one man or to no single group.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Julia Cummings, 30, wife of former Police Chief Thomas Cunningham, of suburban Swissvale was shot and killed in the bedroom of her home early today under baffling circumstances.

Possibility that a "phantom killer" may have committed the crime was expressed by detectives shortly after they began an investigation.

They asserted the couple had received threatening letters and telephone calls recently.

Meanwhile, Cummings was taken into custody for questioning. He was being grilled severely by detectives. He said he discovered the slaying adding that he was awakened by the noise of his wife falling from bed in their apartment. He said he got up to left her back into bed and discovered blood on the floor and then noticed a bullet wound in her head.

No Powder Marks

Police reported there was no powder marks on the flesh of the victim, indicating the shot had not been fired at close range.

Detectives were still at a loss as to whether the bullet which ended the woman's life had been fired from inside or outside the apartment. They pointed out, however, that had the shots been fired from outside, the broken glass from a window should have fallen into the apartment. Most of it was found on the sidewalk outside.

Assistant Coroner James L. Davidson, said the bullet had been

STATE CONTROL FOR ALL FOREIGN BUSINESS

Germany Takes New Departure

Strict Control Of All Imports To Be In Hands Of Government

DESPERATE EFFORT TO BALANCE TRADE

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Sept. 11.—State control of all Germany's foreign business was announced today. Strictest control of every article imported into the Reich was provided for. Twenty-five governing boards were established to issue permits for foreign purchases and for obtaining the foreign exchange to buy them.

Seek To Balance Trade
The move represented a sweeping, last-stroke attempt by Germany to adjust her unfavorable trade balance by reducing the total of imports into the Reich to the same level as her exports to various foreign nations.

The plan, conceived by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, acting minister of economics and president of the Reichsbank, was announced by Dr. Sarnow, ministerial director of his government department.

All imports exceeding the value of ten marks (approximately $3.00) will fall under the jurisdiction of the control boards. Even agricultural products which hitherto were imported without limitation, fall under the restrictions.

To Fix Imports Total
The total amount of imports to be allowed will be fixed at regular periods by Dr. Schacht's department and the experts of the Reichsbank, so sweeping is the requirement that "import permits will be necessary even when payments are made in marks, a drastic departure in policy."

"In issuing permits," Sarnow said, "the main purpose will be to safeguard Germany's export industry by supplying it with necessary raw and party-manufactured materials. The measures are aimed at securing the maximum security payment necessary for imports."

little meaning today. Citizens voted for or against Huey Long.

At Jackson Barracks, the National Guard reservation on the city's outskirts, and along the length of the Toulouse docks on wide Lake Ponchartraine, some 2,500 combat troops, the state's entire militia force, heavily-armed, lay waiting for what none knew.

Police Are Ready
At the city hall and at precinct stations throughout the city, another armed force of 1,300 police, equipped with submachine guns, automatic rifles and gas bombs, presented a counter-threat to Huey Long's display of martial power.

But the police power of the city of New Orleans today lay in the hands of five men—an arbitration committee chosen and mutually accepted by the rival factions.

In their custody is the complete supervision, policing and checking of the primary results.

No Guards At Polls
No police, no militiamen, no armed men of any sort were to be permitted at the polls except at the discretion of the arbitration committee, acting in its one-day of super authority.

The armistice between the Long and Anti-Long factions was hailed today by the New Orleans press as assurance of a peaceful and honest election.

It eased a tense situation, but a note of disquiet still hovered over the city with the continued presence of the militia.

Believe Weapon Found
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—County detectives this afternoon announced they had unearthed their first "break" in the mysterious fatal shooting of Mrs. Julia Cummings, 39, wife of former Swissvale police chief Thomas Cummings.

Detectives revealed they had found the weapon believed to have been used in the slaying hidden in a chimney of the Cummings home. It had been carefully concealed and covered by soil.

The pistol, one of 32-20 caliber is a special make, they said.

Cummings was under severe grilling at the Swissvale police station of which he formerly was in command. Investigators were reported checking apparent inconsistencies in his story of being awakened this morning by a noise which he said he thought was caused by his wife falling out of bed.

have been on a ranch owned by friends in Wyoming. The location of the ranch or the date on which she left it has not been disclosed.

Miss Gates, who is 22, of medium build and weighing about 150 pounds, made her debut in October, 1930, at a tea given by her parents in their Chestnut Hill home here.

First word of her disappearance came from a Philadelphia, Pa., newspaperman who heard a short-wave ship-to-shore radio telephone conversation between Gates and Mrs. Gates aboard the liner Bremen.

"Haven't heard a thing about her yet but nothing has been made public," the newspaperman quoted Gates as telling his wife, who is Miss Gates' stepmother. During the course of the conversation, Gates was reported to have said that federal agents were working on the case.

Mrs. Gates arrived back at her home here last night, a few hours after the Bremen docked in New York.

The family's refusal to discuss Miss Gates' disappearance has led friends to believe the young woman may have been kidnapped. It was pointed out that "talk by the family" might interfere with the federal agents' investigation.

Several Resign Posts With NRA

More Than Dozen Resignations Tendered As Roosevelt And Johnson Confer

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—More than a dozen resignations have been tendered to NRA headquarters while President Roosevelt weighs the merits in the controversy over the future control and course of the recovery administration. It was learned today that Administrator Hugh S. Johnson laid his side of the case before the chief executive at Hyde Park.

Departure of Dr. R. Glancy, field administrator, was also reported because of dissatisfaction with a settlement by the state in the Hartman-Hosler Mills controversy. It was learned on reliable authority that his resignation was demanded by division administrator George Berry.

Although federal authorities have never stated how much the state must advance to obtain money from Washington until the end of the year, $20,000,000 could be roughly half the total needed. Previous federal-state agreements have been on a 50-50 basis.

This plan is a slight modification of the offer Governor Pinchot made to federal relief administrator Harry L. Hopkins for avoiding a special session. Its chief attractiveness lies in the fact that it requires only amendment of the existing law permitting transfer of money from the motor funds to include a number of specific funds and an appropriation bill.

Start Caucuses
Modification of the plan, it was learned, was decided upon after highway department figures showed $24,000,000 in motor funds would not be available for transfer by the end of the year. A checkup by district highway supervisors indicated that commitments for work already under way will cut the motor fund to $8,000,000 at the end of December, it was learned in informal sources.

The first of the pre-session gatherings preparatory to the Wednesday opening came today when Democrats held an initial caucus with about half the party's legislative membership present. A later meeting was expected to follow, perhaps tonight, Republican legislators caucus tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Informal conferences were the order of the day as political leaders in the capitol city were geared to the tempo of a legislative gathering.

CHIEF ENGINEER ON MORRO CASTLE BEFORE PROBERS

of them were passengers—Dr. Cochrane and a person he didn't know. Q. Only two passengers, the rest crew? A. Yes.

Q. Were you in command of the lifeboat? A. No. I was knocked out by the flames. The quartermaster was in charge.

Couldn't Get Passengers
Q. I want to know why that boat took off with you as an officer in it and with only two passengers? A. There were no other passengers around the deck. We could not get down to the lower decks where the passengers were because of fire sweeping across the ship. We couldn't get any others.

Q. How many could the boat carry? A. Fifty-eight, I believe. Hoover wanted to know why more efforts were not made to get more passengers into that lifeboat.

"Well," said the chief engineer with a fringe of insistence in his voice, "we simply couldn't get through that fire to reach them." Abbott had previously stated he was asleep when the fire alarm awakened him. Hoover asked him what time he retired.

"About 10 p. m.," he replied. "I took hands with Captain Warrins and said, 'best of luck, old top.' He said he would be at Scotland Light at around 4 a. m. Then I turned in."

(It was acting captain William E. Warrins' first night as commanding officer of a cruise passenger ship. The captain, Robert R. Willmott, had died a few hours before the disaster of heart disease.)

Terrible Fire
The chief engineer was asked if it was a bad fire and he replied: "It was a terrible fire, the worst I've ever seen."

Hoover asked Abbott if, when he was aroused by the fire going at 3 a. m., he could have gotten to the engine room. The chief engineer explained that he could but he did not because, when he telephoned the assistant chief engineer, he was told everything was all right down below. He said he thought it was his duty to report to the captain which he did.

Q. When you first came out did you see fire other than in the lifeboat? A. The library, the mezzanine and the lounge. And from these places it spread rapidly.

Asked if he ever had any difficulty with the crew of the engine room. "No," the men in the engine room worshipped that ship and worked together," he replied.

Q. What is your theory as to what started the fire? A. I don't know sir. It was such a big fire I heard talk of lightning and on the shore at Spring Lake, N. J., at 1 a. m. I was landed I heard talk of a ball of fire.

Previous Fire
Abbott was asked if he knew anything about the fire that had occurred on the Morro Castle on August 27 when the liner was enroute from New York to Havana.

"Yes," replied the witness. "Captain Willmott said somebody must have thrown a lighted cigar on the deck and sparks flew back. One of the night watchmen smelled smoke and the blaze was put out."

The chief engineer said that on that night of the disaster he saw no evidence of falling pressure on the pumps. Asked of what material the external superstructure of the ship was made he replied, "all steel."

The chief engineer said he did not think the fire started from electric installation.

Q. Reference has been made to a locker in the library. Was there any great amount of electric installation centered there? A. Over it is the wireless room and other things. Many emergency lights wiring is centered near there.

Then this question was shot at the witness: "If the fire started there would it cripple much of the electrical system of the ship?"

"Yes, sir," the witness said. Abbott said the lowest he saw the fire was "C" deck and he did not believe it went lower than that. It hadn't up to the time he left on the lifeboat. He left the ship about 3:30 or 3:45 a. m. and did not until the captain told him to go.

The chief engineer was asked how the crew in the engine room left the ship.

"Most of them got out through the shaft alley," Abbott replied. Asked if he gave the order to lower life boat number one, on which he was, using his reply negatively, asserting that the captain gave the order.

"Any panic then?" "No, sir."

The witness was excused.

STATE CONTROL FOR ALL FOREIGN BUSINESS

Germany Takes New Departure

Strict Control of All Imports To Be In Hands Of Government

DESPERATE EFFORT TO BALANCE TRADE

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Sept. 11.—State control of all Germany's foreign business was announced today. Strictest control of every article imported into the Reich was provided for. Twenty-five governing boards were established to issue permits for foreign purchases and for obtaining the foreign exchange to buy them.

Seek To Balance Trade
The move represented a sweeping, last-stand attempt by Germany to adjust her unfavorable trade balance by reducing the total of imports into the Reich to the same level as her exports to various foreign nations.

The plan, conceived by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, acting minister of economics and president of the Reichsbank, was announced by Dr. Sarnow, ministerial director of his government department.

All imports exceeding the value of ten marks (approximately $3.00) will fall under the jurisdiction of the control boards. Even agricultural products which hitherto were imported without limitation, fall under the restrictions.

To Fix Imports Total
The total amount of imports to be allowed will be fixed at regular periods by Dr. Schacht's department and the experts of the Reichsbank. The measure is aimed at securing the maximum security payment necessary for imports.

To Issue Permits
Sarnow said "the main purpose will be to safeguard Germany's export industry by supplying it with necessary raw and partly-manufactured material."

The measure is aimed at securing the maximum security payment necessary for imports.

BALLOTS CAST IN LOUISIANA

little meaning today. Citizens voted for or against Huey Long.

At Jackson Barracks, the National Guard reservation on the city's outskirts, and along the length of the Toulouse docks on wide Lake Ponchartraine, some 2,500 men, equipped with machine guns, automatic rifles and tear gas bombs, presented a counter-threat to Huey Long's display of martial power.

But the police power of the city of New Orleans today lay in the hands of five men—an arbitration committee chosen and mutually accepted by the rival factions.

In their custody is the complete supervision, policing and checking of the primary results.

No Guards At Polls
No police, no militiamen, no armed men of any sort were to be permitted at the polls except at the discretion of the arbitration committee, acting in its one-day of superior authority.

The armistice between the Long and Anti-Long factions was hailed today by the New Orleans press as assurance of a peaceful and honest election.

It eased a tense situation, but a note of disquiet still hovered over the city with the continued presence of the militia.

COUNTERFEITERS HELD
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Philip Varchetta and Francesco Giorano, Rankin, were being held for court here today following a hearing before a United States commissioner on charges of passing counterfeit money.

According to federal agents, Varchetta confessed to using the bogus currency in a Bradock store.

Believe Weapon Found
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—County detectives this afternoon announced they had unearthed their first "break" in the mysterious fatal shooting of Mrs. Julia Cummings, 30, wife of former Swissvale police chief Thomas Cummings.

Detectives revealed they had found the weapon believed to have been used in the slaying hidden in a chimney of the Cummings home. It had been carefully concealed and covered by soot.

The pistol, one of 32-20 caliber is a special make, they said.

have been on a ranch owned by friends in Wyoming. The location of the ranch or the date on which she left it has not been disclosed.

Miss Gates, who is 22, of medium build and weighing about 160 pounds, made her debut in October 1930, at a tea given by her parents in their Chestnut Hill home here.

First word of her disappearance came from a Bridgeport, Conn., newspaperman who heard a short wave ship-to-shore radio telephone conversation between Gates and Mrs. Gates aboard the liner Bremen.

"Haven't heard a thing about her yet but nothing has been made public," the newspaperman quoted Gates as telling his wife, who is Miss Gates' stepmother. During the course of the conversation, Gates was reported to have said that federal agents were working on the case.

Mrs. Gates arrived back at her home here last night, a few hours after the Bremen docked in New York.

The family's refusal to discuss Miss Gates' disappearance has led friends to believe the young woman may have been kidnapped. It was pointed out that "talk by the family" might interfere with the federal operative's investigation.

Several Resign Posts With NRA

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—More than a dozen resignations have been tendered to NRA headquarters while President Roosevelt weighs the merits in the controversy over the future control and course of the recovery administration. It was learned today as Administrator Hugh S. Johnson laid his side of the case before the chief executive at Hyde Park.

Departure of Dr. R. Glancy, field administrator, was also reported because of dissatisfaction with a selection by him in the Harman-Hosely Mills controversy. It was learned on reliable authority that his resignation was demanded by division administrator George Berry.

Although federal authorities have never stated how much the state must advance to obtain money from Washington until the end of the year, $20,000,000 could be roughly half the total needed. Previous federal-state agreements have been on a 50-50 basis.

This plan is a slight modification of the offer Governor Pinchot made to federal relief administrator Harry L. Hopkins for avoiding a special session. Its chief attractiveness lies in the fact that it requires only amendment of the existing law permitting transfer of money from the motor funds to include a number of specific funds and an appropriation bill.

Start Caucuses
Modification of the plan, it was learned, was decided upon after highway department figures showed $15,000,000 in motor funds would not be available for transfer by the end of the year. A checkup by district highway supervisors indicated that commitments for work already under way will cut the motor fund to $8,000,000 at the end of December. It was learned in informed sources.

The first of the pre-session gatherings preparatory to the Wednesday opening came today when Democrats held an initial caucus with about half the party's legislative membership present. A later meeting was expected to follow, perhaps tonight. Republican legislators caucus tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Informal conferences were the order of the day as political leaders in the capital city were geared to the tempo of a legislative gathering.

Many Dismissals From State Jobs

Seven From Bucks County Dropped From Payrolls; Six Appointed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—Half a dozen appointments, five resignations and ten involuntary resignations in state personnel were announced today by the governor's office.

Of the dismissals, seven of them were from Bucks county, the home of Joseph R. Grundy who supported Senator David A. Reed in his primary contest with Gov. Gifford Pinchot after having been in the Pinchot corner in the 1930 gubernatorial elections. Three of the Bucks county employees were employed in the Department of Labor and Industry; the others in agriculture. They were:

Clinton Obinger, New Hope, junior inspector, $1,920; Patrick F. Keating, South Langhorne, assistant investigator, $1,620; George C. Hansel, Doylestown, junior inspector, $1,860; all with labor and industry; S. Leighton Haines, Bristol, livestock inspector, $1,620; E. Ellwood Parr, Andalusia, dog law investigator, $1,860; Archibald G. Wright, Bristol, disinfecter, $1,620; and Henry W. Turner, New Hope, advanced veterinarian, $3,540.

Appointments included: Freda Dosch, Kittanning, record clerk, governor's office, $1,020; Helen Cook Williams, Kittanning, stenographer, clerk, labor and industry, $1,020.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—On the basis of incomplete returns, it appears that while the Republicans did not gain in Maine, they held their own in the re-election of Senator Hale and in the Brewster victory in the 3rd congressional district.

The vote in Maine shows the necessity of an intensification of Republican efforts. We intend to work all the harder. We are going ahead. ## CHIEF ENGINEER ON MORRO CASTLE BEFORE PROBERS of them were passengers—Dr. Cochran and a person he didn't know.

Q. Only two passengers, the rest crew?

A. Yes.

Q. Were you in command of the lifeboat?

A. No. I was knocked out by the flames. The quartermaster was in charge.

Q. Couldn't Get Passengers

Q. I want to know why that boat took off with you as an officer in it and with only two passengers?

A. There were no other passengers around the deck. We could not get down to the lower decks where the passengers were because of fire sweeping across the ship. We couldn't get any others.

Q. How many could the boat carry?

A. Fifty-eight, I believe.

Hoover wanted to know why more efforts were not made to get more passengers into that lifeboat.

"Well," said the chief engineer with a tinge of insistence in his voice, "we simply couldn't get through that fire to reach them."

Abbott had previously stated he was asleep when the fire alarm sounded him. Hoover asked him what time he retired.

"Around 10 p. m.," he replied, "I shook hands with Captain Wurns and said, 'best of luck, old top.' He said he would be at Scotland Light at around 4 a. m. Then I turned in."

It was acting captain William E. Wurns' first night as commander of a crack passenger ship. The captain, Robert R. Willmot, had died a few hours before the disaster of heart disease.

Terrible Fire
The chief engineer was asked if it was a bad fire and he replied: "It was a terrible fire, the worst I've ever seen."

Hoover asked Abbott if, when he was aroused by the fire going on at 3 a. m., he could not get out of the engine room. The chief engineer explained that he could but he did not because when he telephoned the assistant chief engineer, he was told everything was all right down below. He said he thought it was his duty to report to the captain which he did.

Q. When you first came out did you see fire other than in the library?

A. The library, the mezzanine and the lounge. And from these places it spread rapidly.

Asked if he ever had any difficulty with the crew of the engine room, the men in the engine room worshipped that ship and worked together," he replied.

The chief engineer said that on that night of the disaster he saw no evidence of fading pressure on the pumps. Asked of what material the exterior superstructure of the ship was made he replied "all steel."

The chief engineer said he did not think the fire started from electric installation.

Q. Reference has been made to a locker in the library. Was there any great amount of electric installation there?

STATE CONTROL FOR ALL FOREIGN BUSINESS

Germany Takes New Departure

Strict Control Of All Imports To Be In Hands Of Government

DESPERATE EFFORT TO BALANCE TRADE

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Sept. 11.—State control of all Germany's foreign business was announced today. Strictest control of every article imported into the Reich was provided for. Twenty-five governing boards were established to issue permits for foreign purchases and for obtaining the foreign exchange to buy them.

Seek To Balance Trade
The move represented a sweeping, last-stand attempt by Germany to adjust her unfavorable trade balance by reducing the total of imports into the Reich to the same level as her exports to various foreign nations.

The plan, conceived by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, acting minister of economics and president of the Reichsbank, was announced by Dr. Sarnow, ministerial director of his government department.

All imports exceeding the value of ten marks (approximately $3.00) will fall under the jurisdiction of the control boards. Even agricultural products which hitherto were imported without limitation, fall under the restrictions.

To Fix Imports Total

The total amount of imports to be allowed will be fixed at regular periods by Dr. Schacht's department and the experts of the Reichsbank so sweeping is the readjustment that import permits will be necessary even when payments are made in marks, a drastic departure in policy.

"In issuing permits," Sarnow said, "the main purpose will be to safeguard Germany's export industry by supplying it with necessary raw and party-manufactured material."

"The measures are aimed at securing the maximum security payment necessary for imports."

little meaning today. Citizens voted for or against Huey Long.

At Jackson Barracks, the National Guard reservation on the city's outskirts, and along the length of the Toulouse docks on wide Lake Ponchartraine, some 2,500 combat troops, the state's entire militia force, heavily-armed, lay waiting, for what none knew.

Police Are Ready

At the city hall and at precinct stations throughout the city another armed force of 1,300 police, equipped with submachine guns, automatic rifles and tear gas bombs presented a counter-threat to Huey Long's display of martial power. But the police power of the city of New Orleans today lay in the hands of five men—an arbitration committee chosen and mutually accepted by the rival factions.

In their custody is the complete supervision, policing and checking of the primary results.

No Guards At Polls

No police, no militiamen, no armed men of any sort were to be permitted at the polls except at the discretion of the arbitration committee, acting in its one-day-of-supreme authority.

The armistice between the Long and Anti-Long factions was hailed today by the New Orleans press as assurance of a peaceful and honest election.

COUNTERFEITERS HELD

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Philip Varchetta and Francisco Giorano, Rankin, were being held for court here today following a hearing before a United States commissioner on charges of passing counterfeit money.

According to federal agents, Varchetta confessed to using the bogus currency in a Braddock store.

"She is so selfish" usually means, "She beat me to it."

have been on a ranch owned by friends in Wyoming. The location of the ranch or the date on which she left it has not been disclosed.

Miss Gates, who is 22, of medium build and weighing about 160 pounds, made her debut in October 1930, at a tea given by her parents in their Chestnut Hill home here.

First word of her disappearance came from a Bridgeport, Conn. newspaperman who heard a short wave ship-to-shore radio telephone conversation between Gates and a Mrs. Gates aboard the liner Bremen.

"Haven't heard a thing about her yet but nothing has been made public," the newspaperman quoted Gates as telling his wife, who is Miss Gates' stepmother. During the course of the conversation, Gates was reported to have said that federal agents were working on the case.

Mrs. Gates arrived back at her home here last night, a few hours after the Bremen docked in New York.

The family's refusal to discuss Miss Gates' disappearance has led friends to believe the young woman may have been kidnapped. It was pointed out that "talk by the family might interfere with the federal operatives' investigation."

Several Resign Posts With NRA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—More than a dozen resignations have been tendered to NRA headquarters while President Roosevelt weighs the merits in the controversy over the future control and course of the recovery administration. It was learned today as Administrator Hugh S. Johnson laid his side of the case before the chief executive at Hyde Park.

Departure of Dr. R. Glancy, field administrator, was also reported because of dissatisfaction with a settlement by him in the Harriman Hosiery Mills controversy. It was learned on reliable authority that his resignation was demanded by division administrator George Berry.

Although federal authorities have never stated how much the state must advance to obtain money from Washington until the end of the year, $20,000,000 would be roughly half the total needed. Previous federal-state agreements have been on a 50-50 basis.

This plan is a slight modification of the offer Governor Pinchot made to federal relief administrator Harry L. Hopkins for avoiding a special session. Its chief attractiveness lies in the fact that it requires only amendment of the existing law permitting transfer of money from the motor funds to include a number of specific funds and an appropriation bill.

Start Caucuses

Modification of the plan, it was learned, was decided upon after highway department figures showed $14,000,000 in motor funds would not be available for transfer by the end of the year. A checkup by district highway supervisors indicated that commitments for work already under way will cut the motor fund to $8,000,000 at the end of December, it was learned in informed sources.

The first of the pre-session gatherings preparatory to the Wednesday opening came today when Democrats held an initial caucus with about half the party's legislative membership present. A later meeting was expected to follow, perhaps tonight. Republican legislators caucus tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Informal conferences were the order of the day as political leaders in the capitol city were geared to the tempo of a legislative gathering.

crushed by bone but evidently had been fired from a revolver.

Another bullet was found imbedded in a cupboard in the bedroom. This cupboard was in the line of fire of the bullet which killed Mrs. Cummings. Evidently detectives asserted, the slayer had missed with one shot.

Believe Weapon Found

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—County detectives this afternoon announced they had unearthed their first "break" in the mysterious fatal shooting of Mrs. Julia Cummings, 30, wife of former Swissvale police chief Thomas Cummings.

Detectives revealed they had found the weapon believed to have been used in the slaying hidden in a chimney of the Cummings home. It had been carefully concealed and covered by soot.

The pistol, one of 32-20 caliber is a special make, they said. Cummings was under severe grilling at the Swissvale police station of which he formerly was in command. Investigators were reported checking apparent inconsistencies in his story of being awaked this morning by a noise which he said he thought was caused by his wife falling out of bed.

Correct this sentence: "When we get the right laws," said the liberal, "The strong will no longer fatten on the weak."

"Where," asks an editor, "Is America's best farm land?" Speaking off-hand, we'd say it is washing down the Mississippi.

Many Dismissals From State Jobs

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—Half a dozen appointments, five resignations and ten involuntary resignations in state personnel were announced today by the governor's office.

Of the dismissals, seven of them were from Bucks county, the home of Joseph R. Grundy who supported Senator David A. Reed in his primary contest with Gov. Gifford Pinchot after having been in the Pinchot corner in the 1930 gubernatorial elections. Three of the Bucks county employees were employed in the Department of Labor and Industry; the others in agriculture. They were:

Clinton Obinger, New Hope, junior inspector, $1,920; Patrick F. Keating, South Langhorne, assistant investigator, $1,620; George C. Hansell, Doylestown, junior inspector, $1,860, all with labor and industry; S. Leighton Haines, Bristol, livestock inspector, $1,620; E. Ellwood Parr, Andalusia, dog law investigator, $1,860; Archibald G. Wright, Bristol, disinfecter, $1,620; and Henry W. Turner, New Hope, advanced veterinarian, $3,540.

Appointments included Freda Dosch, Kittanning, record clerk, governor's office, $1,020; Helen Cook Williams, Kittanning, stenographer-clerk, labor and industry, $1,020.

G. J. Jones Of B. & O. Retires On Pension—Has Fine Record

Honoring G. J. Jones, boiler foreman of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops, who retired on pension September 7, employees of the Shop gathered for the purpose of demonstrating their esteem. J. B. Harward general foreman of the shops made the presentation of the shop gift to Mr. Jones and spoke of his long and honorable record.

Mr. Jones entered the service of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company in 1886 as a boilermaker apprentice in the Glenwood shop. He was promoted until he finally was made foreman of the boiler shop at New Castle Junction.

He has resided in New Castle for 25 years, first residing in the Seventh Ward but now residing in Walmo.

Governor Re-elected.

The triumph of Governor Louis J. Brann (D) over Alfred K. Ames, 73-year-old retired lumberman of Machias, in being the first Democratic governor of the Pine Tree state in 82 years to win a second term, was followed by a win for the Democrats in the first congressional district.

The "New Deal" candidate retained his seat in the second congressional district but in the third former Governor Ralph O. Brewster (R) defeated his long-time rival, Representative John G. Utterbach.

The "Wets" won three to two in repealing the liquor transportation law in this state, "Dry" for 76 years.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—On the basis of incomplete returns, it appears that while the Republicans did not gain in Maine, they held their own in the re-election of Senator Hale and in the Brewster victory in the 3rd congressional district.

The vote in Maine shows the necessity of an intensification of Republican efforts. We intend to work all the harder. We are going ahead. It is evident that the people have not yet understood what it all means. Somebody, sometime, will have to pay the bill and the people of this country must realize this. We intend to redouble our efforts all along the line.

the Ministers Wives association, the Ministers club, the Retired Ministers and others.

Sunday morning will mark the mass religious service in the Cathedral with Dr. J. A. Galbraith of the Epworth church in charge and Bishop Edgar Blake the presiding bishop delivering sermon. On Sunday evening a number of the visiting ministers will fill pulpits of other churches of the city. Rev. Claude Downs will occupy the pulpit in Calvary Presbyterian, Rev. Albert Marriot will occupy the pulpit in the Central Presbyterian church. Rev. Ugo Crivelli will occupy the pulpit in the Italian Methodist church and Rev. F. D. Eisenwein will occupy the pulpit in First Methodist.

Late this afternoon a few of the early arrivals checked in for the conference with the bulk of the ministers arriving on Wednesday.

CHIEF ENGINEER ON MORRO CASTLE BEFORE PROBERS

of them were passengers—Dr. Cochran and a person he didn't know. Q. Only two passengers, the rest crew?

A. Yes.

Q. Were you in command of the lifeboat?

A. No. I was knocked out by the fumes. The quartermaster was in charge.

Couldn't Get Passengers

Q. I want to know why that boat took off with you as an officer in it and with only two passengers?

A. There were no other passengers around the deck. We could not get down to the lower decks where the passengers were because of fire sweeping across the ship. We couldn't get any others.

Q. How many could the boat carry?

A. Fifty-eight, I believe. Hoover wanted to know why more efforts were not made to get more passengers into that lifeboat.

"Well," said the chief engineer with a tinge of insistence in his voice, "we simply couldn't get through that fire to reach them."

Abbott had previously stated he was asleep when the fire alarm awakened him. Hoover asked him what time he retired.

"Around 10 p. m.," he replied. "I shook hands with Captain Warrms and said, 'best of luck, old top.' He said he would be at Scotland Light at around 4 a. m. Then I turned in."

(It was acting captain William F. Warrms' first night as commander of a crack passenger ship. The captain, Robert R. Willmott, had died a few hours before the disaster of heart disease.)

Terrible Fire

The chief engineer was asked if it was a bad fire he replied: "It was a terrible fire, the worst I've ever seen."

Hoover asked Abbott if, when he was aroused by the fire going at 3 a. m. he could have gotten to the engine room. The chief engineer explained that he could but he did not because, when he telephoned the assistant chief engineer, he was told everything was all right down below. He said he thought it was his duty to report to the captain which he did.

Q. When you first came out did you see fire other than in the library?

A. The library, the mezzanine and the lounge. And from these places it spread rapidly.

Asked if he ever had any difficulty with the crew of the engine room.

"No, the men in the engine room worshipped that ship and worked together."

Q. What is your theory as to what started the fire?

A. I don't know sir. It was such a big fire I heard talk of lightning and on the shore at Spring Lake, N. J., after I was landed I heard talk of a ball of fire.

Previous Fire

Abbott was asked if he knew anything about the fire that had occurred on the Morro Castle on August 27 when the liner was enroute from New York to Havana.

"Yes," replied the witness, "Captain Willmott said somebody must have thrown a lighted cigar on the deck and sparks flew back. One of the night watchmen smelled smoke and the blaze was put out."

The chief engineer said that on that night of the disaster he saw no evidence of falling pressure on the pumps. Asked of what material the external superstructure of the ship was made he replied: "all steel."

The chief engineer said he did not think the fire started from electric installation.

Q. Reference has been made to a locker in the library. Was there any great amount of electric installation centered there?

A. Over it is the wireless room and other lighting wires. Many emergency lights wiring is centered near there.

Then this question was shot at the witness: "If the fire started there would it cripple much of the electrical system of the ship?"

"Yes, sir," the witness said. Abbott said the lowest he saw the fire was "C" deck and he did not believe it went lower than that. It hadn't up to the time he left on the lifeboat. He left the ship about 3:30 or 3:45 a. m. and not until the captain told him to go.

The chief engineer was asked how the crew in the engine room left the ship.

"Most of them got out through the shaft alley," Abbott replied.

Asked if he gave the order to lower life boat number one, on which he went ashore, he replied negatively, asserting that the captain gave the order.

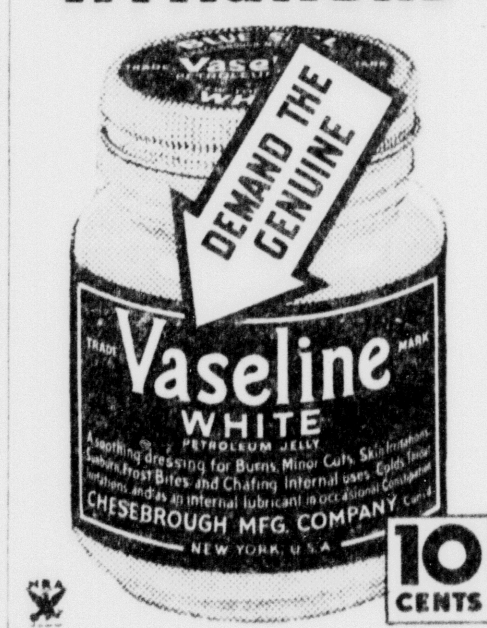

"Any panic then?"

"No, sir."

The witness was excused.

QUOTARIANS BEGIN FALL DINNER MEETS

An atmosphere of jovial congeniality was spread about the dinner table in a small dining room of the Elk's Club Monday evening as the members of the Quota Club came together after the summer vacation.

"Where did you go on your vacation?" "Did you have a nice trip?" and such other phrases were the greetings between the members as they assembled in the club parlor and then went to the dining room, where they were received by the president, Miss Katherine Hite, and the officers: Mrs. Claire Brown, Miss Neta Moore, vice presidents; Miss Mary Cummings, secretary and Marguerite Cortes, treasurer. The long table was centered with a vase of summer flowers and double candelabra with lighted blue tapers shown over all. Hostesses for the month are Lois Benton, Mary Oserfender and Elizabeth McSane. Mrs. Josephine Kison was a special guest.

Miss Hite called a business meeting after dinner had been served and again teams were chosen for an attendance contest, with Arlene Wald as captain of the blues and Mary Oserfender as captain of the grays. The contest will end in January 1935.

A music committee was appointed: Lila Henshaw, Reva Gormley, Elizabeth Rose, Marguerite Cortes and Julia Hirdina.

Claire Brown, chairman program, allotted speeches of the convention to the various members to be reviewed at the coming meetings.

Monday evening, September 17, the members will again meet at 6 p. m. for dinner and a program, this meeting to mark the beginning of the contest.

DINNER IN CHURCH FOR J. H. W. SOCIETY

Places were arranged for 43 Monday evening at a long table attractively appointed when the members of the Jean Hill Williamson Society opened the fall activities in the dining room of the Highland United Presbyterian church.

Margaret McGraw led the devotionals and Mrs. Jay L. Reed presided at the piano during the song period.

Mrs. Edward Balph, a missionary on furlough from India, gave a most interesting talk.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Mrs. D. L. Ferguson, Mrs. Robert A. Eckles, Mrs. Lawrence Felt and Mrs. Anna Nixon.

Special guests were Sara Bates, Becky and "Billie" Wallace.

Surprise Shower

A surprise shower was an event of recent date held in honor of Mrs. J. W. Watkinson of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., formerly Catherine Kaczmarek of this city at the home of her mother, Mrs. Josephine Kaczmarek of North Liberty street. The evening was spent with music, games and social chat. A delightful luncheon was served by the bride's sister, Miss Stella Kaczmarek assisted by Miss Helen Colchuck. About sixty guests were present. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Watkinson are here on a two weeks vacation and are expecting to return to their home in Mt. Vernon on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkinson were married June 9th at Mt. Vernon, New York.

Pageant Club

The Guard Pageant Club of the W. L. C. had a delightful party Monday evening in the K. of P. Hall, East street, with cards and bingo forming the pastime of the evening.

Mrs. Mollie Finnegan, Mrs. Helen Ray, J. P. Turney and Joseph Finnegan won 500 awards and the bingos prizes went to Mrs. M. Hazen and Mrs. E. Hoyle.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Bertha Patterson, Jessie Harper, Mrs. Emma McKissick, Mrs. Anna Stephenson and Mrs. Margaret Hammond.

Monday evening, September 17, the club will meet again for a social period.

W. L. C. Club

"ORIENTAL PARTY" HONORS GUESTS

Mrs. Carl S. Hart, 142 Garfield avenue proved herself a charming hostess Monday evening when she entertained a group of thirty women from the Epworth M. E. church honoring her guests, Mrs. L. F. Hemmaway, of Mercer, and Miss Gertrude Hanks, of Lima, Peru, South America, the latter formerly being a teacher here.

At 6:30 o'clock a delicious dinner was served at a table attractively arranged in oriental fashion. Huge hand painted Japanese figures decorated the center, and individual miniature hand painted umbrellas, cleverly designed marked each place as favors. The menu, too, was suggestive of the orient. Mrs. Hart was assisted in serving by Mrs. J. M. Edwards, Miss Grace Sutzinger and Mrs. Effie Morrison.

Informal diversions whiled away the balance of the evening.

Miss Hanks, who is in charge of a girl's school in South America, is visiting friends and the Senior High school renewing acquaintances. She has been given a year furlough.

SURPRISE PARTY IS FAREWELL IN NATURE

A lovely farewell courtesy was offered Arnette Howard who will leave the first of next week for Grove City college, when ten members of the Elizabeth class of Trinity Second U. P. church tendered her a surprise party Monday evening at her summer home on the Harlansburg road.

Delightful handkerchiefs, conveying many good wishes, were showered upon the guest of honor, and following an informal period of sociability, a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Frank Boyard and her aides, Misses Jean Wimer and Mary Alford.

Guest Artist

Durban Rhodes of this city, a member of the Studio club of Youngstown, will be one of the guest artists at the opening fall meeting to be held this evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Reckstrom on Philadelphia avenue, Youngstown.

A program of songs will be presented by Miss Marion Stravinsky, accompanied by Miss Lillian Hallstone, and a talk on "Music in Everyday Life" will be given by Dr. Henry V. Strains. Miss Barbara Delaney will give piano numbers.

Mrs. J. N. Martin will be chairman of the sewing committee as before and she will have for her assistant, Mrs. Fred W. Sontum. Mrs. Fannie B. Gormley is chairman of the cutting group, and Mrs. Frank C. Douds of the sewers.

Miss Laura Stevenson will oversee the fruit donations this year and Mrs. Eliah Kaplan will have charge of publicity. Mrs. S. W. Perry will be purchasing agent.

Plans are going forward for the annual fruit donation in October, and it is hoped that the public will respond as bountifully this fall, as it has in the past.

MEDICAL AUXILIARY LUNCHEON THURSDAY

Women's Auxiliary to the Lawrence County Medical society will have a luncheon-meeting Thursday, at one o'clock, in The Castleton.

Mrs. Augustus S. Koch of Altoona will be the afternoon's guest speaker and she will speak on the auxiliary work in general, stressing legislative measures that come up in Harrisburg of interest to the society.

It is expected that there will be between 60 and 70 present.

Class At Richards Home

Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Richards, 1042 Beckford street, were hosts last night to the members of the Truth Seekers class of the Third U. P. church.

Reports were made by the membership committee and new committees were named to plan a future tea at the church and a rummage sale. The treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Burnside, submitted her resignation and in her place Mrs. R. J. Benson was appointed. She will be acting treasurer for the remainder of the year.

The members enjoyed a social period following the business meeting.

Kuhn Reunion

The annual Kuhn reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kuhn, Enon Valley, on September 3. Sixty-eight relatives were served a delicious basket dinner, followed by an informal social period. Special guests were John Powell, John Kuhn, George Harkless and Bill Likers, known as "Uncle Walt and His Haymakers," who entertained with musical selections.

JUNIOR B. P. W. NAMES COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN

Executive board of the Junior B. P. W. held the initial fall meeting last evening at the home of the new president, Lucille Emery, on Laurel avenue.

Several committee chairmen were named as follows: program, Lois Higgins; membership, Grace Sankey; emblem, Barbara Armstrong; health, Mae Cronie; finance, Alice Mitchell; transportation, Virginia Conover; international relations, Alice Mae Huffman; public relations, Mary Whalen; research and education, Catherine Anderson; legislative, Marie Biddle; magazine and publicity, Sylvia Lee Martin; house and fellowship, Lois Gibson and Dorothy Boyles.

Plans were made for an open meeting for new members to be held Tuesday evening of next week, at 8 o'clock in the evening, at the B. P. W. cottage at Lakewood.

Further activities for the coming winter were outlined, among these being a bridge party in October and a dance at Christmas time.

COLLEGE GIRLS ARE ENTERTAINED AT TEA

Miss Miriam Woolcock of Blaine street has returned from Pittsburgh where she spent the week end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott Tully.

On Saturday, Mrs. Tully gave a tea for Miriam, who is her cousin, in her lovely home in Chatham village. Guests were former classmates of Birmingham school, and classmates at Mt. Holyoke college from the Pittsburgh district.

The tea table was exquisitely appointed with autumn flowers combined with pastel hues. The girls had a delightfully informal time renewing friendships and reminiscing.

Surprise Party

A number of friends gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sokolsky, of Cheaton, who were married recently, at a surprise party held on Sunday evening.

Games and dancing were the chief diversions of the evening. The Polish Rhythm boys furnished the music. Delicious refreshments were served late in the evening. Among the New Castle residents present: Misses Mary Biega, Stella Gorgas, Stella and Rosalie Stencer and the Messrs. William Wheat, Walter Domback, Stanley Meloszewski and Felix Biega.

QUOTARIANS BEGIN FALL DINNER MEETS

An atmosphere of jovial congeniality was spread about the dinner table in a small dining room of the Elk's Club Monday evening as the members of the Quota Club came together after the summer vacation.

"Where did you go on your vacation?" "Did you have a nice trip?" and such other phrases were the greetings between the members as they assembled in the club parlor and then went to the dining room, where they were received by the president, Miss Katherine Hite, and the officers: Mrs. Claire Brown, Miss Neva Moore, vice presidents; Miss May Cummings, secretary and Marguerite Cortes, treasurer. The long table was centered with a vase of summer flowers and double candelabra with lighted blue tapers shown over all. Hostesses for the month are Lois Fenton, Mary Ofterdinger and Elizabeth McBane. Mrs. Josephine Kison was a special guest.

Miss Hite called a business meeting after dinner had been served and again teams were chosen for an attendance contest, with Arlene Waid as captain of the blues and Mary Ofterdinger as captain of the grays. The contest will end in January 1935.

A music committee was appointed: Lila Henshaw, Reva Gormley, Elizabeth Rose, Marguerite Cortes and Julia Hrdina.

Claire Brown, chairman program, allotted speeches of the convention to the various members to be reviewed at the coming meetings.

Monday evening, September 17, the members will again meet at 6 p. m. for dinner and a program, this meeting to mark the beginning of the contest.

A SESSION WISELY LIMITED TO RELIEF

WISELY limiting the special session of the Legislature to relief of the unemployed and relief of the aged poor—Governor Pinchot disrupts the Democratic scheme to make a political sideshow out of the session, with political maneuverings in the interest of electioneering job-seekers.

Unable to prevent the wasteful extra session, the Governor has accomplished the next best thing in nailing legislative action down specifically to relief.

The Governor is too old and experienced a hand at politics not to smell political schemes a mile off. As a result, while it is too much to hope that politics will be entirely missing at Harrisburg starting Wednesday, the limitation placed on the session should greatly limit, also, political maneuvering.

It is now up to the Legislature, the scope of its meeting specified, to put through, just as quickly as possible, a practical, business-like program of appropriation for the balance of the year, close up shop and go home.

CHILDREN AND SAFETY

Police vigilance is increased with the opening of schools. School teachers impress upon their charges the vital importance of exercising care in crossing streets and try to instruct them in the performance of this hazardous undertaking. Parents caution their children against taking chances and urge upon them the necessity of watching for cars before stepping into the street in order to avoid being run down. The motoring public is appealed to be more careful than ordinarily, and, as a reminder, signs are painted in the streets in the vicinity of school buildings.

Yet, despite all of these precautions, fatal accidents occur. How to prevent them is a problem that seems impossible of solution. Children forget or carelessly ignore the safety instructions given them, and periods of recklessness seize motorists and truck drivers.

The greatest responsibility for the safety of children rests upon those who operate motor vehicles. Children, especially the younger ones, many of whom for the first time are venturing into the streets alone, can not be expected to exercise the sense of care as would an older person more experienced in the dangers of the streets. If motorists would keep constantly in mind the need of exercising extraordinary care and would do this, the lives of many children would be saved. Automobile clubs are doing important work in trying to further safety education.

Continuance of their efforts and maintenance of other precautions already in operation give hope that this year's fatality lists will be sharply reduced. Every possible precaution must be taken to see that the children are protected.

This task is one in the performance of which every adult should feel that he has a duty. Lives are at stake.

THE PIONEER SPIRIT

North Australia is in many ways akin to the American Southwest of the 1860s. Twice as large as Texas, it is virtually all one vast ranchland. Its 4000 inhabitants are nearly all stockmen. But, unlike the old Southwest, its cattle market is accessible only when the seasons favor. Only after heavy rains have dotted the desert plains with waterholes and covered them with grass can the vast herds be driven overland to market, a two-years' drive away.

Such cattle drives rose to the greatest peak in history in the American Southwest after the Civil war. Texas, a natural cattle country, had been neglected. Its herds increased many fold. The returning soldier-ranchmen found the country overrun with prime beef and the local markets completely broken down. After several ill-starred attempts to drive their beef overland to Mississippi River ports and to Chicago, they at last turned to the remnants of the new railroads creeping across Kansas, Abilene, Dodge City, Wichita, became their objectives, and thousands of head of cattle were driven overland. Between the years 1867 and 1875 literally millions were shipped to the eastern markets.

The trail herds became an institution. Herd after herd wound up the old Chisholm trail, leaving marks still visible. Then the railroads dipped into Texas and the trail days were over.

Chisholm trail and the other cattle trails constitute an important chapter in the history of American settlement. Are similar opportunities lacking today, that the country hopelessly permits the drive to smother its initiative and courage?

JOBS IN GERMANY

A recent decree of the labor office in Germany orders all unmarried Germans under 25 years of age from private and public employment. They are to be replaced by heads of families who have been jobless. There are certain exceptions from this rule. Young men supporting dependents, apprentices, former army men, and veterans of the Nazi party storm troops may keep their jobs, as do young married men.

The decree attempts to kill many birds at once—to reward those who have been loyal to the Nazi government, to encourage early marriage and to increase the population.

But what becomes of the ousted young men? They must live and eat. How will they manage? They are to be returned to the land—to government and private agricultural and civic works projects—and to domestic service. Apparently they are still to have work, but not quite so remunerative as before.

If the unmarried man who is fired was more efficient than the married man who takes his place, the government will reimburse the employer for the loss in production.

It all seems just a little fantastic, like a game in which the players all change positions without getting anywhere. The idea does not seem to be to try to get workers into jobs for which they are especially fitted, but merely to use jobs to reward certain groups for being good Nazis.

It is possible to carry this idea too far.

If you are in ill humor you make no effort to control your actions towards your friends as you would were you in the presence of those you considered less friendly.

You allow your meanness full rein, no matter how much it hurts your friends, and call it being "natural."

If they don't want to take you as you are you don't want to be classed as their friends.

Well, there is a limit to what friends will condone.

"One is likely to hear the term 'focal infection' very often. It means a collection of germs at some particular point in the body which produces poisons. These poisons invade the blood stream and lymphatic system, penetrate the tissues. Such conditions often do great harm to the general constitution," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.

"The dire possibilities associated with focal infections include chronic blood infections, kidney and blood vessels. Low and high blood pressure also may be due to the same cause. Of course, the above conditions are not always due to focal infection, but it is a common offender.

"Again, neuritis, sciatica, neuralgia and so-called rheumatism in a large proportion of cases have a focal infection to thank for their existence.

"All of which indicates that the prompt discovery of the source of the poison, and its equally prompt removal, is necessary in many cases to avoid tissue changes in the bodily structures. If the poison source is promptly removed, conclusive relief usually follows. But if the poison source is promptly removed, conclusive relief usually follows. But if the poison source is promptly removed, conclusive relief usually follows.

"It is thus appreciated why the physician now makes an extensive examination involving laboratory tests and X-ray when the cause of one's malady is not apparent and there is reason to believe that a hidden focal infection exists.

"While focal infection can develop in many parts of the body, by far the commonest sites for their damaging activities are at teeth roots, tonsils, middle-ear, and skull cavities communicating with the nasal cavities. Other, though decidedly less frequent locations, include the appendix, reproductive organs.

THOUGHTS ON THE BUSINESS OF LIFE
"Tolerance is the only real test of civilization." In a high civilization, opinion is free, and the right of opinion is everywhere respected. Men differ courteously though vigorously. Modern industry has introduced standardization to personality as we apply it to machines and commodities. That is the certain road to the destruction of civilization. Human personality must be at liberty to expand, to adventure, to leave the beaten track and blaze new roads.

THAT GLUTTONOUS COD
According to the Bureau of Fisheries, not even a fish expert has any idea what to expect when the stomach of a big codfish is opened. Not only is the celebrated cod a cannibal but is a glutton that gobbles just about everything in sight besides the everyday diet of smaller fish, crabs and lobsters. They are not averse to swallowing a bird such as a duck if the opportunity presents itself and the cod is large enough. Besides edible objects, such things as clam shells, pieces of rope, chunks of wood, stones and even old shoes have been found in their stomachs.

EXILED BEAVERS
Capt. John Smith was just applying the old rule of the beaver family when he decreed that those who did not work should not eat. Lazy animals will not be tolerated in a beaver colony and those which shirk their share of the work are driven from the lodge and compelled to live alone along the river banks in mud holes. They are known as "bank" beavers.

One Who Consults With President Roosevelt Seeking Business Advice Critics Clash Over Textile Strike

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th streetBy LESLIE EICHEL
Contributing Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The railroad man who confers with President Roosevelt most frequently is John Jeremiah Pelley, president of the New Haven & Hartford Railroad. The plans of Federal Co-ordinator Eastman to bring about co-ordinated operation of railroads, Pelley may loom large. He is expected to become chairman of a new organization of railroad executives which will work hand in hand with the government.

During the Hoover administration, W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania, and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, were consulted frequently. But Pelley is a younger man and has a great deal of western vigor, in spite of being an eastern railroad president.

Pelley, a native of Illinois, is 56. He began as a station clerk at his home town of Anna, Ill., in 1889. He continued with the one railroad—the Illinois Central—until 1929, working his way up till he very nearly reached the presidency. But, in 1929, he accepted the eastern call. Pelley, incidentally, is a Republican.

PRESIDENTIAL POLICY
What probably is occurring in administration circles is this: President Roosevelt, and Daniel Willard, that large business interests now have reached the ear of the people with their protests, is endeavoring to obtain information and advice first hand. Thus a vigorous railroad executive like Pelley is called into consultation.

The administration has complained that business leaders are negative—that they criticize but offer little that can be used in solving today's problems.

Business, of course, would estop (if it could) the present trends. And so would the Roosevelt administration, concerning many of the trends, if it could—but the movements are economically basic and deeper than any political maneuverings.

Persons calling on the president find him unusually well-informed on virtually every conceivable subject—and an excellent listener. In fact, he is too good as a listener. He does not commit himself.

The Liberals have a more definite complaint against the president than the conservatives have. They assert that he is piloting a ship without a chart.

NEEDLESS DEATHS?
Are deaths in international warfare needless? Is the warfare needless? Critics again have risen during the textile strike. They say that President Roosevelt could have warded off such a tense industrial struggle if he had pushed through a bill for a strong all-powerful labor board. But he permitted its enemies to emasculate such a bill.

There, again, the president was trying to compromise, to please both sides. Large business interests were opposed to such a type of bill. They preferred to "fight it out."

But "fighting it out" is not the simple matter it once was. Indeed, now "fighting it out" carries implications of revolution for workers.

"Apart from the recent crisis, there still remains in America the main problem of tariffs in relation to her position as a great creditor country. A policy which I venture to say is bound to prove itself unsound is fortunately opposed by Mr. Wallace, the secretary of agriculture, who makes it clear that the United States, if it wishes to be a factor in international trade, must co-operate with other countries in the exchange of goods."

Mr. Wallace emphasizes that, if the United States wishes to "sell abroad," it must buy from abroad, and a creditor must buy more than it sells. This expression of opinion goes to the root of what should be the future economic policy of the world.

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11TH

The World War Day-By Day—Sept. 11th 1914—Of the Battle of the Marne the German people thus far knew nothing. There was, of course, no censorship of the information that flowed into the German headquarters was almost as ignorant of the true state of affairs as the German people!

Von Moltke, in endeavoring to run things from a headquarters a hundred miles away, was dependent for communication with his five armies along the line between Verdun and Paris, upon wireless messages that were easy for Allied operators to intercept, and occasional visits by staff officers in motor cars.

At the crucial hour, Von Moltke sent a lieutenant colonel to straighten out things for his generals! As late as the 12th he didn't know what had happened to Von Kluck's army!

The consequences of the battle—the most decisive of modern times—were wholly misunderstood at first by both the French and the Germans. The Germans believed they had suffered merely a minor reverse and that after a new concentration they would be able to complete the drive on Paris. Actually, as we know now, the Battle of the Marne broke the German offensive, wrecked their whole strategy. They were compelled to retreat, to forego their planned Autumnal Equinox in Paris, to accept a long war. Yet save for the Prussian Guard and the scary Saxons of Gen. Hausen's army, they were nowhere routed.

The refusal of the British to fall in with the first French proposals for an attack at the Marne and their continued retreat actually helped to win the Battle! (And to prolong the war.) Incidentally, when the French generals Gallieni and Maunoury dashed to British headquarters in an automobile to get Sir John French's cooperation in the turnaround thrust at the Germans, they couldn't locate him. Gallieni tells us that he found the British staff depressed and unhelpful about saying that if England had known the condition of the French army, she would not have entered the war!

At least 2,200,000 men were engaged in the Battle along the front which extended from Verdun to Paris. Of these 300,000 were killed or wounded, the casualties being almost evenly divided between the antagonists. The losses in this battle (and throughout the war) were no greater in proportion to the men engaged than in any previous wars. (They became smaller as the war progressed.) Eighty percent of the wounded returned to service. And, according to the best accountancy, it cost $25,000 to kill a soldier.

Great Days—Sept. 11th 1777—The Continental Congress moved out of Philadelphia in a hurry: first Lancaster, Pa., then neighboring York became the capital of the year-old United States.

Cause the Battle of Brandywine, Howe's 13,000 men met Washington's 11,000 at Chads' Ford on Brandywine Creek, above Wilmington, Del., and forced Washington to retreat after an engagement of several hours, leaving Philadelphia open to the enemy. American loss: 1,200. British loss: 800.

Sept. 11th 1810—James Pollock was born. He is memorable because he is responsible for God, not mentioned in the Constitution, being upon our coins.

ARE DESTRUCTIVE TO SMALLER GAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—"Don't forget to take along Tabby—don't leave him behind to starve and become one of the worst enemies to America's smaller wild life." This is an appeal to cottagers and campers preparing to leave summer resorts with the passing of Labor Day being made by humane societies, state game officials and the More Game Birds Foundation.

Over one million homeless cats, abandoned by their owners, were picked up taken in special cat traps and destroyed by humane organization agents, game wardens and sportsmen subsequent to the 1933 summer resort season, according to an estimate of the Foundation. Reports indicate that, next to metropolitan centers, more tramp cats are taken near rural summer resorts than in any other sections of the country.

"The New York City branch of the American Humane association reports the destruction during 1933 of 213,835 homeless cats in that city alone," the Foundation points out. "but the damage city cats may do to the country's beneficial birds and small mammals is not to roam rural areas."

"The eminent naturalist John Burroughs estimate that each feral cat kills an average of 50 birds a year. Abandoned cats must eat, and it is only natural that, after having been deprived of their usual source of food, they should revert to a life in the wild. From resort refuse depositories they move on to nearby fields and woodlands. Here their natural hunting instincts revive and soon song and insectivorous birds, baby rabbits and squirrels are being destroyed."

"Bird protection societies, ornithologist and conservationists consider the feral cat the worst menace to smaller wild life in the country today."

Sight Doe, Fawn On North Beaver Farm

Two deer, a doe and a fawn, scampered across the Robert Wilson farm while Robert Black and Mr. Wilson were plowing late last week, it is reported.

The deer appeared in the vicinity of Hickory creek, trotted across a field of the Wilson farm and then turned down toward the creek again. Both Mr. Black and Mr. Wilson say they hopped high fences "with the greatest of ease"—the young one just as swiftly as its mother.

Mr. Wilson is a Civil War veteran but farms in spite of his years.

ARE DESTRUCTIVE TO SMALLER GAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(Day's News.)—The New York City branch of the American Humane association reports the destruction during 1933 of 213,655 homeless cats in that city alone. The association points out that the damage city cats may do to the country's beneficial birds and small mammals is not to be reckoned in terms of dollars.

The eminent naturalist John Burroughs estimates that each feral cat kills an average of 50 birds a year. Abandoned cats must eat, and it is only natural that after having been deprived of their usual source of food, they should revert to a life in the wild. From resort refuse depositories they move on to nearby fields and woodlands. Here they hunt and kill birds and insects, and small mammals and squirrels are being destroyed.

"Bird protection societies, ornithologists and conservationists consider the feral cat the worst menace to smaller wild life in the country today."

Two deer, a doe and a fawn, scampered across the Robert Wilson farm while Robert Black and Mr. Wilson were plowing late last week, it is reported.

The deer appeared in the vicinity of Hickory creek, trotted across the field of the Wilson farm and then turned down toward the creek again. Both Mr. Black and Mr. Wilson say they hopped high fences "with the greatest of ease," the young one as easily as its mother.

Mr. Wilson is a Civil War veteran but turns in spite of his years.

Osgood Awarded Degree At Cornell

HARLOW OSGOOD

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11.—Harlow S. Osgood, assistant professor at Westminster College since 1929, was awarded the Ph. D. degree at Cornell University at the end of the current summer session. Dr. Osgood has been on leave of absence from Westminster for the last two years, and takes up his duties again this week.

Dr. Osgood was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1927, and received the M. S. degree from Pennsylvania State College in 1929. His doctor's dissertation was "A Study of the Nutrition of the Adult Using the White Rat as an Experimental Animal."

Dr. Osgood hopes to continue research along the lines followed in his doctor's degree. This research is to be done at Westminster, in conjunction with Dr. C. M. McCay of Cornell.

BOTH NEED Air TO RUN!

One Burns Coal...One Gasoline...but Both MUST have AIR!

ROARING ALONG THE RAILS, this big giant needs plenty of air to keep its fires blazing, and steam pressure up. Shut off the drafts—and it would very soon halt.

SPEEDING OVER THE HIGHWAY, your car constantly draws in air, mixes it with gasoline, and makes the "gas" that gives it power. It uses more air than gasoline.

YOU CAN'T SEE THE DIFFERENCE—or feel or smell it—but with Mobilgas you realize you get smoother, more uniform performance regardless of the weather.

On Court House Hill

Motion to vacate order of sale of the W. M. C. Drake property in Washington township was made by the administrator, Martin Drake and Attorney Harvey E. Martin, at court. The time for return was continued until December.

An appeal from the decision of Alderman I. G. Mantz has been taken at the probate court. The case involves a dispute over the will of a late resident of the town.

In the estate of Jacob W. Thomas, his mother, Mrs. Bertha M. Thomas, widow of Jacob Thomas, deceased, has asked that the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, guardian for Thomas, be appointed executor of the estate.

Attorney Roy M. Jamison, executor appointed by the court to make sale of property in the Lydia Floyd estate, has asked that the time for filing his return be extended until December. The property is located in the Fifth ward. He has tried to sell it twice, but has been not successful. The petition was granted.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard, and Deputy Elmer P. Taylor, yesterday sold twenty-eight properties listed for sheriff sale this month. All of the properties were sold.

In the case of the Mahoning Finance Company against R. Rhodes, a petition for the court to set aside the judgment was presented in court. The case was argued by the Mahoning Finance Company and R. Rhodes. The court has reserved its decision.

FIRST FALL MEETING OF BUSINESS WOMEN

Fall and winter activities of the New Castle Business and Professional Women's club were formally launched last night when the membership assembled in the Green room at the Y. W. C. A. to discuss future plans and to hear Dr. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board, speak on his organization's expanding work.

Dr. Bennett's address was most enlightening because it reviewed for the members the changes which have entered the relief picture here since the formation several years ago of what was known as the Mayor's Relief committee.

A picnic for the members at the B. P. W. cottage at Lakewood beach was announced for Monday, September 17.

As a more impressive greeting to the several members who were returning last night from visits abroad this summer, the organization sang clever welcome songs composed especially for the occasion. They welcomed Dr. Mildred Rogers, Miss Mary Scherger and several others.

Presiding was the president, Helen Dana White, who displayed for the first time the trophy which the New Castle club carried back from the Eagles Mere state convention as a result of its fine representation there. The next state convention goes to Philadelphia in May, 1935.

The group received an invitation to attend a Butler dinner on October 12 when the district members will hear Mrs. Susan Rhodes of Columbia, Pa., state president of the B. P. W., speak.

Miss Alice Sterling, program chairman, introduced Dr. Bennett. The speaker answered questions following his prepared address.

Committee chairmen for the year's work, announced during the meeting, spoke of future activities and made it evident that 1934-35 would likely go down as a banner year for B. P. W. accomplishments.

The chairmen and their committees followed:

Legislative, Mrs. Bertha Bay; publicity, Rose Barber; finance, Lucille Lutton; educational, Laura Blucher; research, Pearl Hockenberry; health and recreation, Georgiana McNeese; program, Alice Sterling; emblem, Helen Meyer; membership-social, Mrs. Sarah Sankkey; public relations, Mrs. Hazel Boyd; international relations, Mary Van Diver; transportation, Wilda Smith; camp, Florence Davis; social service, Mrs. Mary Guy; magazine, Bess Gailey; house, Helen Hinkson, and music, Mary Bigley.

The meeting last night was the first for the organization this fall.

Choir Has Party
The choir of the O. E. S., Shengango chapter 333, began the fall activities Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Sarah Rhodes, Highland avenue, with Mrs. Dorothy Clark and Mrs. Bernice Parker as associate hostesses.

After a period of singing the group played cards with Mrs. Ruth Withers winning the bridge trophy and Mrs. Harriet Hammond the 500.

Mrs. Ruth Withers, who will leave the city October 1 to make her home in Syracuse, N. Y., was given a surprise shower of lovely hankies.

The evening concluded with lunch, the members to meet October 8 at the home of Mrs. Thelma Propst, North Beaver street.

Kupke Kard Klub
Unusually delightful was the meeting of the Kupke Kard Klub Saturday evening when the group went to the cottage of Hazen Kemps, near Harlansburg where cards were the diversion of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest King were successful in capturing the prizes for high scores. A delicious lunch was served ere the group started back to town, to meet again September 22 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Zeigler, Adams street.

CAMPAIGN CLUB OPENS MEETINGS

New Castle Hospital Campaign club opened the 1934 season Monday evening with an important meeting in St. Joseph's hall.

At the election, it was decided to retain the former officers; President, Mrs. Edward Davenport; Vice President, Mrs. George Metz; Secretary, Mrs. A. P. Stritzinger; Treasurer, Miss Adalaida Uhl.

Plans for the winter's activities were discussed, it being planned to continue meetings on the first Monday of each month, as heretofore.

Recreation plans will include a corn and wiener roast at which the club will entertain tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Leis on the Savannah road. Husbands will be special guests.

Serving on the committee are Mrs. George Metz, Mrs. A. P. Stritzinger, Mrs. P. C. Kelly, Mrs. Joseph Wertz, Miss Helen Hannon, Miss Helen Gallant.

Queen Esther Society
A good attendance marked the regular meeting of the Queen Esther society of the Third U. P. church, taught by Mrs. Bernard Hook, Monday evening, at the home of Miss Thelma Rose, Beckford street.

Mrs. William McGuire and Mrs. Fred Thompson were associate hostesses. The president, Miss Pearl Colnot, was in charge of the business meeting, and Mrs. Hook led the devotionals.

Miss Kitty Hopper, Miss Reba Sines and Mrs. William McBride were appointed members of a program committee to plan for future meetings. Games and contests were enjoyed under the supervision of Mrs. David Jones and Miss Betty Gray. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wilbur McKibben, Mrs. Bernard Hook and Mrs. Lloyd Wimer.

Mrs. Wayne Shearer was a new member present. Mrs. Ralph Logan and Miss Bessie Kelley of Ellwood City were special guests.

A delicious repast was served at small tables to thirty members later in the evening.

The society will meet the first Monday of October with Mrs. Hook of Beckford street. Mrs. Hook Rapson and Miss Virginia Long will be associate hostesses.

Concludes Visit
Mrs. C. V. Straley of Orlando Fla., today concluded a visit with Mrs. C. H. Johnson of Moody avenue, having been in the city for the past week.

Royal Neighbors
The Royal Neighbors will have a corn roast Wednesday at 5:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Pete Hilliers, Neshannock avenue.

Amity Club
Tonight at 8:00 o'clock, Miss Ann Burgo, of Washington street, will entertain the members of the Amity club in her home.

1932 Club
Mrs. Jessie Camblin will entertain the 1932 club at her home on North Beaver street Thursday afternoon at 1:30.

ADVANCE FREEZE-UP WARNING
Based on a twenty-year average, freezing weather is due in New Castle, October 5th.

If you have already put coal in the cellar, broken out the blankets, and have Eveready Prestone in your car, freezing weather won't bother you.

But do it now! Frozen radiators and cracked water-jackets shouldn't be trifled with. One shot of Eveready Prestone protects your car from both freeze-up and rust straight thru to next spring. It's absolutely safe... won't boil off, won't damage the finish, won't smell. Don't get it confused with alcohol or glycerine.

Your dealer has a chart that shows how little it costs you to have complete, reliable protection for your car. Eveready Prestone is all anti-freeze... no water. It's guaranteed by National Carbon Company, Inc.

LEGION AUXILIARY PARTY WEDNESDAY

Indications point to a large crowd being present tomorrow, Wednesday, evening, at the card and bingo party which will be given in the Legion home on North Jefferson street, by the Legion Auxiliary.

The affair will be for members of the post and their friends and a delightful evening's recreation is being anticipated.

Mrs. Sara McClafferty is chairman of the committee on cards while Mrs. David Cox and her aides Mrs. R. G. Clark and Mrs. Ivor Davis, is planning the refreshments.

DANCE AT FIELD CLUB TO HONOR STUDENTS

The usual dance frolic scheduled for New Castle Field Club members on Saturday evening, will be carried out in the form of a farewell event, honoring the young students who will return to their college studies. Activities will begin at 9 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Matthews will preside as hosts and it is expected an unusually large number will participate on this date.

Tindall Reunion
The Tindall family reunion, held at the Willows Saturday, was an enjoyable and successful affair. Relatives were present from near and far and spent the annual picnic day together.

Dinner and supper were enjoyed on tables bright with garden flowers. The afternoon was spent informally with chat and games. During a short business period the following officers were chosen: President, Milton Tindall; Vice President, Mrs. Alice Taylor; Secretary, Mrs. Sam Taylor; Treasurer, Mrs. Minnie Tindall; and historian, Mrs. Ralph Grove.

Horseshoe pitching and ball playing were interesting diversions. J. W. Fowler, of North Cedar street, was the oldest member of the family present, and his great-grandmother, Joanne Miller, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, of Beaver Falls, was the youngest member present.

The reunion of 1935 will be held at the same place on the first Saturday of September.

Party At New Wilmington
Mrs. Rebecca Clinefelter, North Market street, New Wilmington, was hostess of a party at the home of her family and a few friends gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday anniversary.

A sumptuous menu was served at noon with a beautifully arranged centerpiece gracing the attractive table decorated in tones of royal purple and hues of lavender. Informal diversions were enjoyed and the honored guest was the recipient of many lovely gifts, including several floral tributes.

Guests present were: Mrs. Anna Finney, Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard and son, Lowell Kent, New Castle-Ellwood road, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clinefelter and daughter, Esther, of Millburn, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Johnson and Mr. Boyd of Leesburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Welker Carter of New Wilmington.

Bertha Girls
The Bertha Girls of the First Methodist church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Earl Reeves, Garfield avenue, to begin the fall activities.

Mrs. Eleanor Everett led the devotional period, and reports were given by Ellen Woods and Mrs. Jean Henley. A book review was given by Ellen Woods after which the new president, Mrs. Myrtle Ray, took charge and outlined the work for the year.

Aides to the hostess in serving refreshments were Mrs. Eleanor Everett and Mrs. Betty Douglas.

Plans were made to have the October 8 meeting in the form of a tureen dinner.

Is Improving
New Castle friends of Miss Rebecca Wikison of Youngstown, will be pleased to learn that she is steadily improving from severe injuries suffered in an automobile accident several weeks ago.

It is expected that Miss Wikison will be able to leave Allegheny General hospital within the next couple weeks, but it will be sometime yet before she can resume her duties at the Woodrow Wilson Jr. High School at Youngstown, where she has been an instructor for a number of years.

Team To Dine
Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock the members of the degree team of the Protected Home Circle will have a tureen dinner, followed by a period of drill.

At 6:30 the regular lodge meeting will be held, followed by a social period of 500 and bingo, with Mrs. Helen Ray in charge.

Old Time Rebekahs
A noon-time dinner will feature the meeting of the Old Time Rebekahs club Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Richard Poster, Vine street.

Amerita Club
Mrs. A. Perifano of East Washington street, will be hostess to the Amerita club Wednesday this week, instead of Thursday.

Parent-Teacher Associations
ARTHUR MCGILL GROUP
The Arthur McGill Parent-Teacher's Association will have a business session Friday evening at 7 p. m. at the school, followed by a social on the lawn.

Realty Transfers
Caroline Moosman to Bronislaw Wolanski, New Castle, $1.

An Irish Protestant who had served as governor of Pennsylvania, he was 54 and Director of the Mint in Philadelphia when he persuaded the Secretary of the Treasury, Salmon P. Chase, that our coinage should bear a motto expressing in the fewest words that no nation can be strong except in the strength of God.

So In God We Trust was first impressed on 2 cent coins in 1864. Mr. Salmon's image was placed in the $10,000 bill!

(Original slogan on U. S. coins: Mind Your Business.)

Sept. 11th 1814.—A shot from a British vessel demolished a chicken-coop on the deck of the U. S. S. Saratoga, and released a young game-cock. The released fowl, startled by the noise of cannon, flew upon a gun-slide and, flapping his wing, crowed lustily and defiantly.

So began the Battle of Lake Champlain, the only battle in U. S. history in which Army and Navy forces engaged a foreign enemy simultaneously. With the Saratoga, and one brig, two schooners and 10 gunboats, the American Commodore Thomas Macdonough, 31 decisively defeated the British Commodore Andrew Downie, who had two sloops-of-war and 12 gunboats.

Downie was killed in action. While the naval battle raged, the American Brig Gen. Alexander Macomb, 32, with 6,000 men, routed 12,000 men under British Sir George Prevost. British losses were 2,000 ashore and 200 at sea; American losses were 150 ashore and 110 at sea.

In two days U. S. fighters had done what no other forces had done before—defeat a British naval squadron. The Battle of Lake Erie had been fought the day before.

Notable Nativities—Ulysses Aldrovandus, b. 1522, celebrated Italian naturalist who established when he was 45 the first herbarium and one of the first botanical gardens and museums of natural history in Bologna. James Thomson, b. 1700, Scottish poet who wrote England's popular anthem, Rule Britannia. A single poem made him a fortune; he wrote a poem about the Prince of Wales (afterward George II), was rewarded with a pension of $500 a year for life.

more frequently than otherwise removed from the exciting source. It is here where modern diagnostic methods get in their fine work.

"It should therefore be comforting to know that if, in spite of reasonable care and attention, focal infection develops which manifests itself in some form of conscious illness, an immediate visit to the doctor's office will place him in a position to discover the hidden criminal, rout him from his lair, and thus restore one to a normal condition with a minimum of damage done. In many instances a complete cure of the disease will also result."

"The moral therefore is to take one's illness troubles promptly to a physician. He can detect many severe conditions before they have gained strength to do permanent harm. Procrastination is the most effective weapon that a focal infection possesses."

Charge Violations Of N.R.A. Oil Code

Warrants Issued For Three Executives Of Erie Oil Company

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Warrants were issued here today for three executives of an Erie, Pa., oil company charging violations of the NRA code for the petroleum industry.

The warrants, based on information filed before Federal Judge Nelson McVicar by U. S. District Attorney H. S. Dumbald, set forth 32 counts for alleged violations of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Those ordered arrested were A. Hunter Willis, president and manager of the Willis Oil Company of Erie, H. H. Clemens, treasurer and paymaster, and Harvey McLaughlin, delivery manager.

It was the first action of its kind taken by the government in federal court here.

The informations alleged that the company forced two of its truck drivers to work as many as 63 hours a week although the code for that industry sets a maximum at 40 hours.

Judge McVicar set September 17 as the date for the executives to enter a plea or file an answer.

FIRST FALL MEETING OF BUSINESS WOMEN

Fall and winter activities of the New Castle Business and Professional Women's club were formally launched last night when the membership assembled in the Green room at the Y. W. C. A. to discuss future plans and to hear Dr. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board, speak on his organization's expanding work.

Dr. Bennett's address was most enlightening because it reviewed for the members the changes which have entered the relief picture here since the formation several years ago of what was known as the Mayors' Relief committee.

A picnic for the members at the B. P. W. cottage at Lakewood beach was announced for Monday, September 17.

As a more impressive greeting to the several members who were returning last night from visits abroad this summer, the organization sang clever welcome songs composed especially for the occasion. They welcomed Dr. Mildred Rogers, Miss Mary Scherger and several others.

Presiding was the president, Helen Dunn White, who displayed for the first time the trophy which the New Castle club carried back from the Ladies Mercantile convention as a result of its fine representation there. The next state convention goes to Philadelphia in May, 1935.

The group received an invitation to attend a Butler dinner on October 12 when the district members will hear Mrs. Susan Rhodes of Columbia, Pa., state president of the B. P. W. speak.

Miss Alice Sterling, program chairman, introduced Dr. Bennett. The speaker answered questions following his prepared address.

Committee chairman for the year's work, announced during the meeting, spoke of future activities and made it evident that 1934-35 would likely go down as a banner year for B. P. W. accomplishments.

The chairman and their committees follow:

Legislative: Mrs. Bertha Bay, publicity; Rose Barber; France, L. L. Linton; educational, Laura Blucher; research, Pearl Hockenberry; health and recreation, Georgiana McNeese; program, Alice Sterling; emblem, Helen Meyer; membership, Mrs. M. Sarah Linton; public relations, Hazel Boyd; international relations, Mary Van Diver; transportation, Wilma Smith; camp, Florence Davis; social service, Mrs. Mary Guy; magazine, Bess Galey; house, Helen Hinson; and music, Mary Bigley.

The meeting closed with the first for the organization this fall.

Choir Has Party

The choir of the O. E. S., Shenandoah chapter 33, began the fall activities Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Sarah Rhodes, Highland avenue, with Mrs. Dorothy Clark and Mrs. Bernice Parker as associate hostesses.

After a period of singing the group played cards with Mrs. Ruth Withers winning the bridge trophy and Mrs. Hattie Henson the 500.

Mrs. Ruth Withers, who will leave the city October 1 to make her home in Syracuse, N. Y. was given a surprise shower of lovely hankies.

The evening concluded with lunch the members to meet October 8 at the home of Mrs. Theima Propst, North Beaver street.

Kupie Kard Klub

Unusually delightful was the meeting of the Kupie Kard Klub Saturday evening when the group went to the cottage of Hazel Komp, near Harlansburg where cards were the diversion of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest King were successful in capturing the prizes for high scores. A delicious lunch was served and the group started back to town to meet again September 22 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Zeigler, Adams street.

A good attendance marked the regular meeting of the Queen Esther society of the Third U. E. church, taught by Mrs. Bernard Hook, Monday evening, at the home of Miss Thelma Rose, Beckford street.

Mrs. William McGuire and Mrs. Fred Thompson were associate hostesses. The president, Miss Pearl Collier, was in charge of the business meeting, and Mrs. Hook led the devotionals.

Miss Kitty Hopper, Miss Reba Sines and Mrs. William McBride were appointed members of a program committee to plan for future meetings. Games and contests were enjoyed under the supervision of Mrs. David Jones and Miss Betty Gray. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wilbur McKibben, Mrs. Bernard Hook and Mrs. Lloyd Wimer. Mrs. Wayne Shearer was a new member.

Wesley, Mrs. Ralph Logan and Miss Jessie Kelley of Ellwood City were special guests.

A delicious repast was served at small tables to thirty members later in the evening.

The society will meet the first Monday of October with Mrs. Hook of the church as the next couple.

Rapson and Miss Virginia Long will be associate hostesses.

Concludes Visit

Mrs. C. V. Stanley of Orlando Fla. today concluded a visit with Mrs. C. H. Johnson of Moody avenue, having been in the city for the past week.

LEGION AUXILIARY PARTY WEDNESDAY

Indications point to a large crowd being present tomorrow, Wednesday, evening, at the card and bingo party which will be given in the Legion home on North Jefferson street, by the Legion Auxiliary.

The affair will be for members of the post and their friends and a delightful evening's recreation is being anticipated.

Mrs. Sara McClafferty is chairman of the committee on cards while Mrs. David Cox and her aides Mrs. R. G. Clark and Mrs. Ivor Davis, is planning the refreshments.

DANCE AT FIELD CLUB TO HONOR STUDENTS

The usual dance frolic scheduled for New Castle Field Club members on Saturday evening, will be carried out in the form of a farewell event, honoring the young students who will return to their college studies. Activities will begin at 9 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Matthews will preside as hosts and it is expected an unusually large number will participate on this date.

Tindall Reunion

The Tindall family reunion, held at The Willows Saturday, was an enjoyable and successful affair. Relatives were present from near and far and spent the annual picnic day together.

Dinner and supper were enjoyed on tables bright with garden flowers. The afternoon was spent informally with chat and games. During a short business period the following officers were chosen: President, Miss Tindall; Vice President, Mrs. Alice Taylor; Secretary, Mrs. Sam Taylor; Treasurer, Mrs. Minnie Tindall; and historian, Mrs. Ralph Grove.

Horseshoe pitching and ball playing were interesting diversions. J. W. Fowler, of North Cedar street, was the eldest member of the family present, and his great-grandmother, Joanne Miller, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, of Beaver Falls, was the youngest member present.

The reunion of 1935 will be held at the same place on the first Saturday of September.

Party At New Wilmington

Mrs. Rebecca Clinfelter, North Market street, New Wilmington, was agreeably surprised Saturday, when members of her family and a few friends gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday anniversary.

A sumptuous menu was served at noon with a beautifully arranged centerpiece making the attractive table decorated in tones of royal purple and hues of lavender. Informal diversions were enjoyed and the honored guest was the recipient of many lovely gifts, including several floral tributes.

Guests present were: Mrs. Anna Finney, Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard and son, Lowell Kent, New Castle-Ellwood road, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clinfelter and daughter, Esther, of Millburn, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Johnston and Mr. Boyd of Leesburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Welker Carter of New Wilmington.

Bertha Girls

The Bertha Girls of the First Methodist church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Earl Reeves, Garfield avenue, to begin the fall activities.

Mrs. Eleanor Everett led the devotionals. A book review was given by Ellen Woods and Mrs. Jean Henry. A book review was given by Ellen Woods after which the new president, Mrs. Myrtle Ray, took charge and outlined the work for the year.

Aides to the hostess in serving refreshments were Mrs. Eleanor Everett and Mrs. Betty Douglas.

Plans were made to have the October 8 meeting in the form of a luncheon dinner.

Is Improving

New Castle friends of Miss Rebecca Wilkinson of Youngstown, will be pleased to learn that she is steadily improving from severe injuries suffered in an automobile accident several weeks ago.

It is expected that Miss Wilkinson will be able to leave Allegheny General hospital within the next couple of weeks, but it will be sometime yet before she can resume her duties at the Woodrow Wilson Jr. High School at Youngstown, where she has been an instructor for a number of years.

Team To Dine

Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock the members of the degree team of the Protected Home Circle will have a luncheon dinner, followed by a period of drill.

At 6:30 the regular lodge meeting will be held, followed by a social period of 500 and bingo, with Mrs. Helen Ray in charge.

Old Time Rebekahs

A noon-time dinner will feature the meeting of the Old Time Rebekahs club Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Richard Foster, Vine street.

An Irish Protestant who had served as governor of Pennsylvania, he was 54 and Director of the Mint in Philadelphia when he persuaded the Secretary of the Treasury, Salmon P. Chase, that our coinage should bear a motto expressing in the fewest words that no nation can be strong except in the strength of God.

So In God We Trust was first inscribed on 2 cent coins in 1864. Mr. Salmon's image was placed in the $10.00 bill!

(Original slogan on U. S. coins: Mind Your Business.)

Sept. 11th 1814.—A shot from a British vessel demolished a chicken-coop on the deck of the U. S. S. Saratoga, and released a young game-cock. The released fowl, startled by the noise of cannon, flew upon a gun-slide and, flapping his wing, crowed lustily and defiantly.

So began the Battle of Lake Champlain, the only battle in U. S. history in which Army and Navy forces engaged a foreign enemy simultaneously. With the Saratoga, and one brig, two schooners and 10 gunboats, the American Commander Thomas Macdonough, 31 decisively defeated the British Commodore Andrew Downie, who had the Confidence, one brig, two sloops-of-war and 12 gunboats.

Downie was killed in action. While the naval battle raged, the American Brig, Gen. Alexander Macomb, 32, with 6,000 men, routed 12,000 men under British Sir George Prevost. British losses were 2,000 ashore and 200 at sea; American losses were 150 ashore and 110 at sea.

In two days U. S. fighters had done what no other forces had done before: defeat two British naval squadrons. The Battle of Lake Erie had been fought the day before.

Oppose Diversion Of State Motor Tax

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—On the eve of the opening of the special session of the Legislature the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, AAA today called on the commonwealth "to keep its bargain with the motorist and protect the gasoline tax and license fee moneys from diversion to other than uses for which they are intended."

The Federal government has gone on record, the P. M. F. pointed out, as opposed to using motor taxes for other than highway purposes. The Hayden-Cartwright act, passed at the last session of Congress, is quoted as follows: "It is unfair and unjust to tax motor vehicle transportation unless the proceeds of such taxation are applied to the construction, improvement and maintenance of highways." Federal highway funds are being held back from those states that persist in diverting highway revenues to general use.

"Motorists of Pennsylvania do not seek to evade their duty," said S. Edward Gable, president of the state motoring organization. "They have paid and are paying plenty in taxes, but they insist that their moneys that go into the motor fund be continued in the form of taxes—not turned into exorbitant tribute. All they ask is a fair deal."

"Aside from the question of fairness, however, is that of efficiency. Diversion of highway funds to other uses will throw thousands of men out of employment in Pennsylvania. Highway funds normally provide $90 worth of productive jobs for each $100 spent, while as direct charity only about $85 out of every $100 goes to actual relief. Another fact to consider is that when money goes for road construction the state gets highways in return, while if the money goes to direct charity, nothing of permanence results."

"The gasoline tax and license moneys have been carefully gauged to meet highway needs, and the diversion of even relatively small sums must affect highway programs. Then, too, if even relatively small sums are diverted this opens the way to further raids on motor funds."

"Why should the motorist be especially taxed to pay for inland waterways, fish hatcheries, geodetic surveys, poor and unemployment relief? It is held by some that this diversion is excusable because the state 'needs money'. That reason might as well be given by the pick-pocket and the highway robber."

"Pennsylvania needs money to take care of pressing needs, but this should be collected by straightforward methods that bear fairly on all. Why should the motor car owner and driver be made the goat?"

"Motorists do not object to paying their full share of taxes, but they balk at unfair discrimination. Diversion of funds turns taxation into exorbitant tribute. Let's not smear the fair name of Pennsylvania with such a blot, even though it is done under the guise of emergency legislation. There is surely another and a fairer way out."

Editor News:

I am not surprised in the least to find Mr. Boyd of Pulaski township joining in this wet and dry contest. No doubt he speaks with sincerity in his denunciation of these "damnable taverns" that sell "damnable liquid" called beer. I am of the impression, however, that he lacks personal knowledge as to how a well conducted tavern is operated and as to the type of people who frequent such places. I would suggest that he accompany Miss Walker on a "bumming" tour to the taverns located in his neighborhood, with my personal assurance to him also that neither he nor Miss Walker will be shocked by unsightly and immoral scenes.

I rather believe that a little more association with us common, ordinary every day folks might work wonders on his opposition.

Mr. Boyd cites an automobile wreck, which occurred near his home as being caused by the "damnable liquid." I take exception to this statement in this particular case as I believe I have been informed correctly by parties interested that the people involved in this wreck were not in a drunken condition. I would like to ask Mr. Boyd just how many wrecks he has seen in the same vicinity between cars driven by perfectly sober persons.

I am in sympathy with Mr. Boyd's views in regard to drunken driving. This is one of the reasons why we need places dispensing alcoholic beverages operated by persons who place their social and moral obligations ahead of profits. "The fault is the man, not the thing abused." Let us endeavor to overcome our indulgence in alcoholic beverages by education and persuasion. Failing in that, it is then time to exact severe penalties. In other words, let us endeavor to promote temperance and disregard the radical principles of prohibition.

The human race has indulged in intoxicating beverages ever since the beginning of things. Mr. Boyd and Miss Walker have no more chance of eliminating old time alcohol than had Mr. Volstead and he certainly made a sorry mess of the United States in his attempt.

Mr. Boyd refers to the liquor business as being a creation of the devil. I call his attention to the following passage of Scripture found in Deuteronomy 14:26:

"And thou shalt buy unto thee money for whatsoever thy soul lusteth after, for oxen, or for sheep, or for wine, or for strong drink."

I also quote the following verse found in Ecclesiastes 9:7:

"Go thy way, eat thy bread with joy and drink the wine with a merry heart for God now accepteth thy works."

Why all this fuss about the wet and dry question anyway? The drys had several years in which to prove the feasibility of the "noble experiment," and after as many years of failure and attempting to force their desires upon a long suffering public they are now overwhelmingly defeated. Cannot these drys realize that in their radical stand on the liquor question, they are playing directly into the hands of the bootlegger, the gangster, the racketeer and the criminal? None of the drys could care to be classed as an ally of any well known former public enemy No. 1, Al Capone.

Drys try to force total abstinence upon the wet, but I have never yet heard of a wet forcing liquor down the throat of a dry.

One of the big troubles with the wet and dry question today or any other day is hypocrisy. Too many of our neighbors talk and vote dry and at the same time passy foot around the corner or out of town and get their drinks just the same. It wouldn't surprise me in the least, but what Miss Walker and Mr. Boyd number some of these people among their acquaintances.

I cannot help but discredit Mr. Boyd's assertions as to the drunken condition of New Castle residents. I personally spend a great amount of time in the city and I have yet to have had his experiences with drunken men and women on the city streets or anywhere else. I am sure that Chief Haven would not permit us folks from the rural districts to be subjected to such indignities.

I would like to say a few words in regard to township local option which in my opinion is the one big mistake, whether intentional or otherwise, made in the liquor control laws. Local option in any case can be nothing but a farce. I expect that a majority of readers of The News can recall the days when Lawrence county had local option and Lowellville, O., with a population of 1800 had 18 saloons and street cars were on a fifteen minute schedule between the two places. That was a fair example of local option.

The township local option clause in the liquor control laws gives certain persons the opportunity to try to force their own determinations upon others in the community. Only 10 per cent of the highest vote cast in the district is required to force the issue to a vote. Why not require 51 per cent? Why have one township dry and the neighboring township wet? Why deprive the taxpayers and business men of one township of legitimate revenue by forcing their trade across an imaginary line into an adjoining wet township? This discrimination will not lessen the consumption of alcoholic beverages in the least, but it will replenish the coffers and aid the township whose residents see things as they should be and who are unwilling to be ruled over by certain persons who endeavor to force their wishes upon township residents regardless of whether they are right or wrong.

Local option does not make it unlawful to buy or sell wholesale, possess, transport or consume alcoholic beverages in that territory. Speakeasies that have been eliminated through legitimate retail sales will only spring up again and much needed revenue will again be diverted into illegal channels.

Summer is about gone and winter is approaching fast. Unless industry that has been eliminated through legitimate retail sales will only spring up again and much needed revenue will again be diverted into illegal channels.

Summer is about gone and winter is approaching fast. Unless industry that has been eliminated through legitimate retail sales will only spring up again and much needed revenue will again be diverted into illegal channels.

"WHERE ARE WE AT?"

In these days when we hear so much about codes of different kinds, N. R. A., A. A. A., R. W. D. and Y. Z., we ask ourselves the question: "Where Are We At?"

We, from an economic standpoint, are about the same place that the man who is on his way to the County Poor House with all of his worldly goods in an old carpet bag; and from a moral standpoint, we are on the downgrade with the brakes out of commission. In spite of all we hear about returning prosperity there will be more men out of work and more men on the relief in Lawrence County this coming winter than there were last winter. It must make a farmer sick at heart when he thinks of all the money he has lost by raising hogs when he might have made a hundred dollars by not raising them.

Chief Wagon City records $4,500 in beer licenses and paid out $12,000 to $14,000 to regulate the beer traffic, and still we are told that the repeal of the prohibition law was a good thing from an economic standpoint. The wets tell us that more liquor was sold during the days of prohibition than there was before. If that was true, why were they not willing to let the law stand and not spend thousands of dollars to repeal it? The simple facts are that not one tenth part of the liquor was made, sold and drunk during the days of prohibition that was before the law was passed. Every business man knows that one of the biggest obstacles of returning prosperity is much more of the legitimate channels of trade.

We have heard that repeal would do away with the bootlegger, but the facts are that there is more bootlegging now than ever. A great field was opened up to them by the repeal and they all worked for it at the election. Automobile accidents have increased by the legalized liquor law. Perhaps three fourths of all accidents are due to drunken drivers. The man that starts out to drive in a half drunk condition and runs over some one and kills them, is of course guilty of murder. And so is the man that sold him the drink and every man and woman that voted for the return of the saloon is equally as guilty.

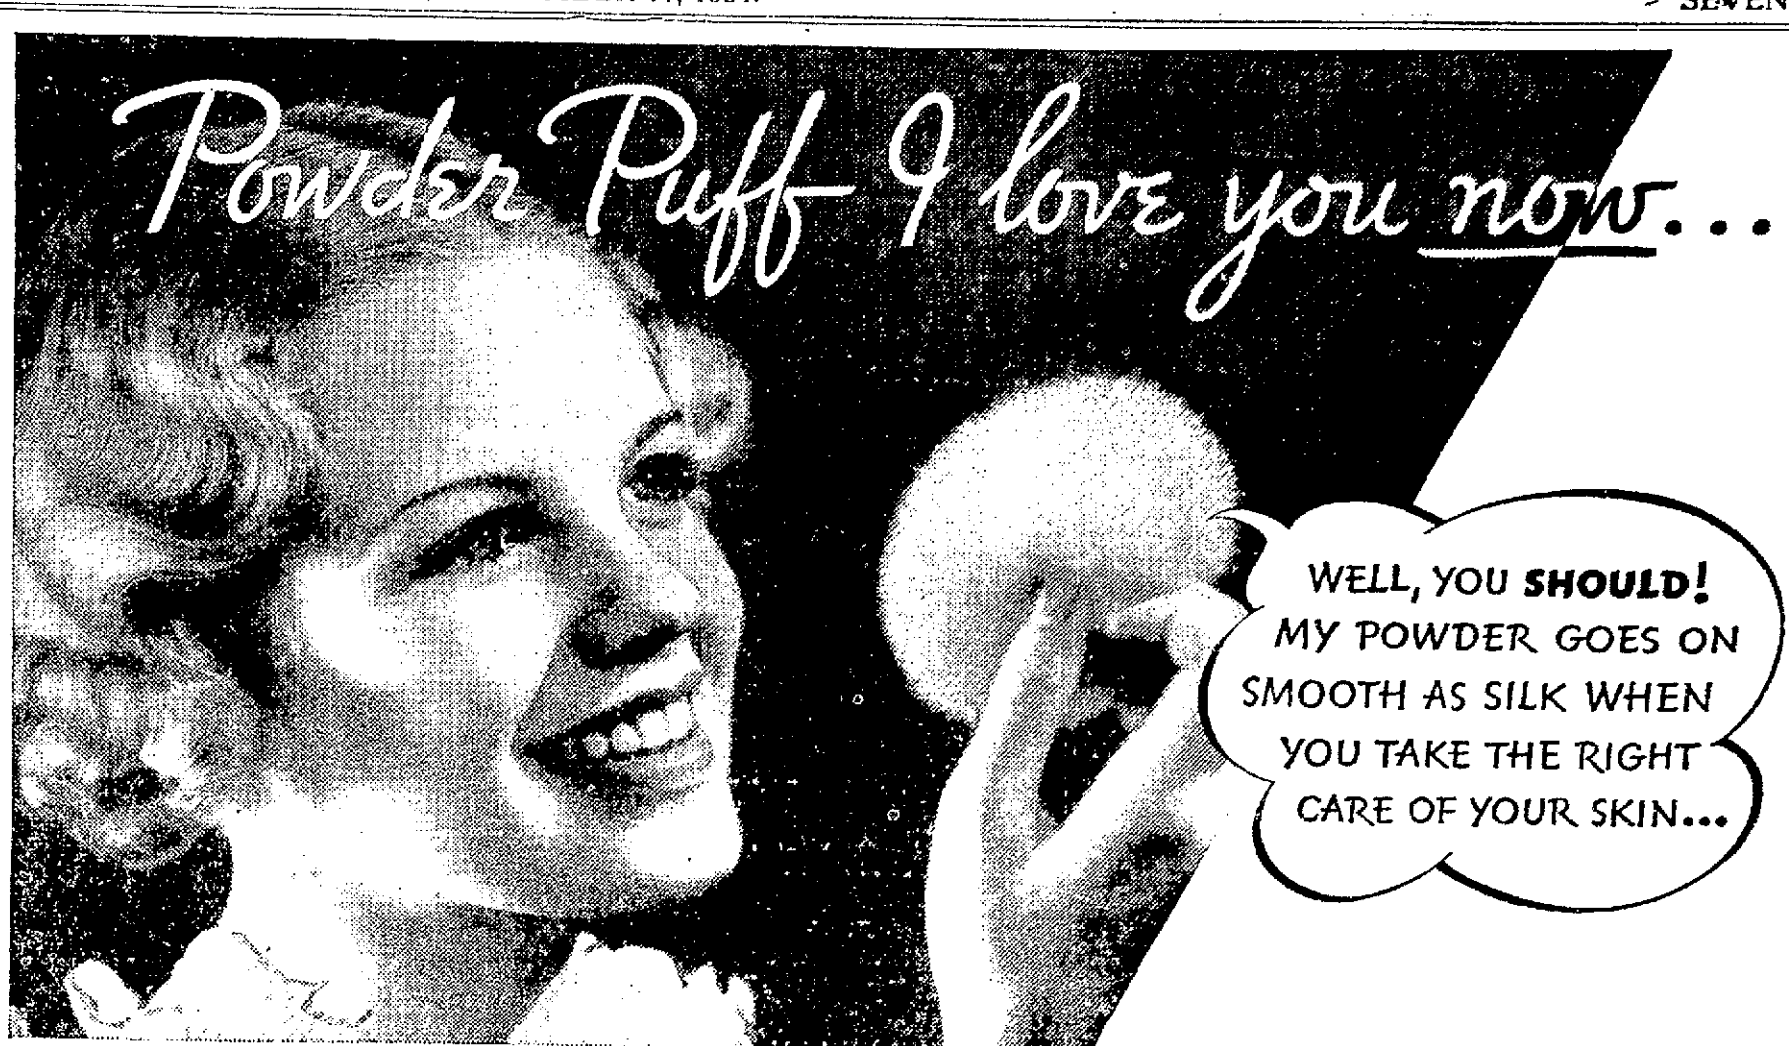

In the good old days of the open saloon, as the wets used to say, we often saw a finger board at the top of the stairs leading down into the basement, the words "to the bar" were printed on the board, which was fitting and proper; it was a bar that was barring some men out of the Kingdom of Heaven. Oh, yes, it was a bar alright, no doubt about that.

Oppose Diversion Of State Motor Tax

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—On the eve of the opening of the special session of the Legislature the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, AAA today called on the commonwealth "to keep its bargain with the motorist and protect the gasoline tax and license fee moneys from diversion to other than uses for which they are intended."

The Federal government has gone on record, the P. M. F. pointed out, as opposed to using motor taxes for other than highway purposes. The Hayden-Cartwright act, passed at the last session of congress, is quoted as follows: "It is unfair and unjust to tax motor vehicle transportation unless the proceeds of such taxation are applied to the construction, improvement and maintenance of highways." Federal highway funds are being held back from those states that persist in diverting highway revenues to general use.

"Motorists of Pennsylvania do not seek to evade their duty," said S. Edward Gable, president of the state motoring organization. "They have paid and are paying plenty in taxes, but they insist that their moneys that go into the motor fund be continued in the form of taxes—not turned into exacted tribute. All they ask is a fair deal."

"Aside from the question of fairness, however, is that of efficiency. Diversion of highway funds to relief will throw thousands of men out of employment in Pennsylvania. Highway funds normally provide $90 worth of productive jobs for each $100 spent, while as direct charity only about $85 out of every $100 goes to actual relief. Another fact to consider is that when money goes for road construction the state gets highways in return, while if the money goes to direct charity, nothing of permanence results."

"The gasoline tax and license moneys have been carefully gauged to meet highway needs, and the diversion of even relatively small sums must affect highway programs. Then, too, if even relatively small sums are diverted this opens the way to further raids on motor funds."

"Why should the motorist be specially taxed to pay for inland waterways, fish hatcheries, geodetic surveys, poor and unemployment reliefs? It is held by some that this diversion is excusable because the state 'needs money'. That reason might as well be given by the pick-pocket and the highway robber."

"Pennsylvania needs money to take care of pressing needs, but this should be collected by straightforward means that bear fairly for all. Why should the motor car owner and driver be made the goat?"

"Motorists do not object to paying their full share of taxes, but they balk at unfair discrimination. Diversion of funds turns taxation into exacted tribute. Let's not smear the fair name of Pennsylvania with such a blot, even though it is done under the guise of emergency legislation. There is surely another and a fairer way out."

Summer is about gone and winter is approaching fast. Unless miracles occur it will be one more hard winter for those yet without work and their dependents. We are supposed to be civilized communities of human beings and those that have incomes must take care of those who have none. What better source of revenue can we have than diverting liquor taxes and license fees into the proper channels to help care for these unfortunates?

The dries should consider themselves fortunate that the wets have assumed a great portion of this responsibility. What a "howl" the dries would set up if forced to produce a dollar for every dollar raised on liquor taxes and license fees. This is no time for this petty bickering. The state of Pennsylvania voted wet by a large majority, thereby signifying the wishes of its people and wet it should be all over. Repeal of the Eighteenth amendment has created jobs for millions. What would happen in the United States if the beer and liquor industry was wiped out tomorrow? Any person of average intelligence and fair-mindedness can answer that question. Education along the line of temperance is what we need, not prohibition.

G. E. HESS,

REPORT ARREST MADE IN CUBA IN LINER FIRE

(International News Service)
HAVANA, Sept. 11.—The Cuban army today was understood to have made a secret arrest in the course of its investigation of the mysterious burning of the Ward cruise liner Morro Castle. Confirmation was not immediately obtainable.
Major Cayetano Fraga, detective chief, denied published reports a communist leader had been arrested by his staff or on his order. The report stated the Red had boasted "planting" 20 radicals in the Morro Castle's crew before she left Havana on her last, fabled trip.
Secretary of the treasury Gabriel Landa, in charge of one phase of the Cuban government's investigation of the cruise ship fire, said this morning that no Reds had been arrested. Police also denied knowledge of such an arrest.

Await Funds To Complete Paving Of Washington St.

Allotment Used Up In Completing Project Thus Far, Highway Office States

Whether the repaving of East Washington street will be completed this summer or not depends on a further allotment of federal funds, it was stated at the local office of the State Highway Department this morning.

The original allotment apportioned to this project has been used up, and additional funds have been requested to complete the job. It will not be known for a few days whether the money will be forthcoming or not.

The stretch of paving from Croton avenue, east to County Line street on the north side of the street, and from Kutz street to County Line on the south side remains to be completed.

PLENTY OF SOLICITORS

Nieper Raises Prize Apples

Late frosts and a dry spring may have reduced the fruit crop in this section to an almost negligible minimum, but what fruit there is seems to be the beneficiary of the strength that should have gone into a larger crop.

J. Howard Nieper of Portersville brought a basket of Wolf River apples to J. E. Rouse, manager of The News on Monday, that look like a first prize from an international fair. In size they are huge, some of them approaching the size of a small squash. In color they are a rich red and golden. Few apples raised in Lawrence County or Butler County have surpassed them for quality of size and color and while Mr. Nieper's crop is not a large one the quality is there.

Await Funds To Complete Paving Of Washington St.

Allotment Used Up In Completing Project Thus Far, Highway Office States

Whether the repaving of East Washington street will be completed this summer or not depends on a further allotment of federal funds, it was stated at the local office of the State Highway Department this morning.

The original allotment apportioned to this project has been used up, and additional funds have been requested to complete the job. It will not be known for a few days yet whether the money will be forthcoming or not.

The stretch of paving from Croton avenue, east to County Line street, on the north side of the street, and from Kuriz street to County Line on the south side remains to be completed.

MORE OFFICERS OF SHIP BLAME INCENDIARIES

Morro Castle Fire Is Probed

Investigation Into Sea Tragedy Will Probably Last All Week

GRAND JURY WILL ALSO INVESTIGATE

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Between thirty and forty witnesses will be called at the federal inquiry now in progress into the cause of the Morro Castle disaster. It was announced today.

Three chief officers of the ill-fated liner have so far testified. They were agreed on one thing: incendiary was probably responsible for the fire which sent the luxurious pleasure ship to its flaming doom.

Officers Believe Fire Incendiary
"I think the fire was set," said acting captain William F. Wams, who succeeded to the command of the Morro Castle when Captain Robert D. Willmet dropped dead last Friday night several hours before the flames broke out.

Acting second officer Clarence Hackney testified that "it looked like the ship might have been set afire."

Ivan Freeman, acting first officer, said he thought the fire was set deliberately.

The first witness to be called today will be chief engineer Elmer Abbott, according to Dickerson N. Hoover, head of the steamboat inspection service of the department of commerce who is conducting the hearing.

Hoover indicated the hearing would last throughout the week. He planned to question all of the ten officers of the Morro Castle, perhaps twenty or thirty of the crew and a number of passengers.

Grand Jury Probe To Start
U. S. Attorney Martin Conboy announced he would begin a grand jury investigation of the disaster today. He issued ten subpoenas for officers of the Morro Castle after he had interviewed George W. Rogers, chief radio operator, who sent out the S. O. S. and who stuck to his post until the wireless room was enveloped in flames.

The hearing which was held in a crowded room in the Customs house, with spectators jamming against the witness chair, was to be transferred to a courtroom in the federal building where conditions were expected to be more satisfactory.

The testimony of all three of the Morro Castle officers was replete with sensation. All were of the opinion that the fatal blaze started in the locker of the writing room of the liner and spread so rapidly nothing could be done but order every one to the life boats.

Report Previous Blaze
In support of their belief that the fire was deliberately set, all three mentioned a previous suspicious blaze in the number 5 hold of the Morro Castle which was discovered and extinguished on Aug. 27 when the ship was enroute from New York to Havana.

Captain Wams also said that reports to him indicated that the writing room locker, in which the fatal fire started, exploded and the flames acted "like gasoline or kerosene." The fire extinguishers had no effect on the flames.

"I think some one put something in that locker," he declared.

He was very positive that lightning did not strike the ship. He denied that water pressure in the fire hose failed. He vigorously defended his crew, asserting the men were "absolutely competent."

He added that discipline was good. Captain Wams denied he had delayed ordering the wireless operator to send an S. O. S. after the fire started.

After he expressed the opinion that the fire had been deliberately set, he was asked if there had been any labor trouble on the Morro Castle.

"None whatever," he replied. The motive back of possible incendiary was a mystery to all three. Each emphasized that the ship had a loyal, able crew in good standing with workers at its two ports of call, New York and Havana.

Dr. G. S. Bennett Chosen President

Pastor Of First Christian Church Will Head Ministerial Association For Year

At the opening fall meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association held Monday morning in the First Presbyterian church officers for the coming year were selected.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church named president. Other officers include: Dr. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, vice president and the Rev. J. George Knapp, secretary-treasurer.

It was planned to hold the meeting on alternating Monday mornings through the year rather than weekly, as was the custom the past year.

The retiring officers were instructed to prepare and send fitting resolutions concerning the character and ability of Dr. Walter E. McClure, a former member, to his present church, his Presbytery, and any other bodies with which he is likely to be associated in his new field in Detroit.

Dr. Bennett named his committees

WHEN YOU'RE HEALTHY YOU'RE HAPPY!

The blame for "blue" days can be laid often to common constipation. It may bring loss of appetite and energy, sallow and pimply skins, even serious illness. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Research shows Kellogg's All-Bran provides "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful?

Two tablespoonsful of All-Bran daily, relieve most types of constipation. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Get the red and green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mystery Death Of Woman Probed

KITTANNING, Pa., Sept. 11.—Her name a mystery to the coroner and police, a woman, about 35 years old, who was found dead at a local hotel today, prompted an investigation.

The woman, who investigators believe might be a "Mrs. Wilson" of Du Bois, was found in the Neilson hotel when a domestic entered to clean the room.

Coroner A. W. Dosch withheld a statement on the cause of death, pending an investigation.

SCHOOL SET FOR DEMOLITION

(International News Service)
CADIZ, O., Sept. 11.—The Creal school, which General George A. Custer, the famous Indian fighter, attended when he was a boy, is doomed to destruction. Because the building is no longer being used, it was decided to remove the school.

Once, years ago, the school was the center of social life for this community where the famous Indian-fighting general lived prior to his entrance to West Point.

MORE OFFICERS OF SHIP BLAME INCENDIARIES

Morro Castle Fire Is Probed

Investigation Into Sea Tragedy Will Probably Last All Week

GRAND JURY WILL ALSO INVESTIGATE

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Between thirty and forty witnesses will be called at the federal inquiry now in progress into the cause of the Morro Castle disaster, it was announced today.

Three chief officers of the ill-fated liner have so far testified. They were agreed on one thing: incendiaryism was probably responsible for the fire which sent the luxurious pleasure ship to its flaming doom.

Officers Believe Fire Incendiary
"I think the fire was set," said acting captain William F. Warrms, who succeeded to the command of the Morro Castle when Captain Robert D. Willmott dropped dead last Friday night several hours before the flames broke out.

Acting second officer Clarence Hackney testified that "it looked like the ship might have been set afire."

Ivan Freeman, acting first officer, said he thought the fire was set deliberately.

The first witness to be called today will be chief engineer Elmer Abbott, according to Dickerson M. Hoover, head of the steamboat inspection service of the department of commerce who is conducting the hearing.

Hoover indicated the hearing would last throughout the week. He planned to question all the ten officers of the Morro Castle, perhaps twenty or thirty of the crew and a number of passengers.

Grand Jury Probe To Start
U. S. Attorney Martin Conboy announced he would begin a grand jury investigation of the disaster today.

He issued ten subpoenas for officers of the Morro Castle after he had interviewed George W. Rogers, chief radio operator, who sent out the S O S and who stuck to his post until the wireless room was enveloped in flames.

The hearing which was held in a crowded room in the Customs house, with spectators jamming against the witness chair, was to be transferred to a courtroom in the federal building where conditions were expected to be more satisfactory.

The testimony of all three of the Morro Castle officers was replete with sensation. All were of the opinion that the fatal blaze started in the locker of the writing room of the ship and spread so rapidly nothing could be done but order every one to the life boats.

Report Previous Blaze
In support of their belief that the fire was deliberately set, all three mentioned a previous suspicious blaze in the number 5 hold of the Morro Castle which was discovered and extinguished on Aug. 27 when the ship was enroute from New York to Havana.

Captain Warrms also said that reports to him indicated that the writing room locker, in which the fatal fire started, exploded and the flames acted "like gasoline or kerosene." The fire extinguishers had no effect on the flames.

"I think some one put something in that locker," he declared.

He was very positive that lightning did not strike the ship. He denied that water pressure in the fire hose failed. He vigorously defended his crew, asserting the men were "absolutely competent."

Added that discipline was good.

Captain Warrms denied he had delayed ordering the wireless operator to send an S O S after the fire started.

After he expressed the opinion that the fire had been deliberately set, he was asked if there had been any labor trouble on the Morro Castle.

"None whatever," he replied.

The motive back of possible incendiaryism was a mystery to all three. Each emphasized that the ship had a loyal, able crew in good standing with workers at its two ports of call, New York and Havana.

Warned Away as Agitators

Outsiders suspected of being agitators are being dealt with sternly by Massachusetts police on guard in textile strike centers. Warnings were given by New Bedford and Fall River authorities to Rev. Glen Trimble, shown above with his wife, Wheaton College instructor, and Lester M. Shulman (inset), social investigator, who sought to take part in demonstrations of strikers. (Central Press)

Dr. G. S. Bennett Chosen President

Pastor Of First Christian Church Will Head Ministerial Association For Year

At the opening fall meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association held Monday morning in the First Presbyterian church officers for the coming year were selected. With Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church named president.

Other officers include: Dr. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, vice president and the Rev. J. George Knapp, secretary-treasurer.

It was planned to hold the meeting on alternating Monday mornings through the year rather than weekly, as was the custom the past year.

The retiring officers were instructed to prepare and send fitting resolutions concerning the character and ability of Dr. Walter E. McClure, a former member of the present church, his Presbyterian, and any other bodies with which he is likely to be associated in his new field in Detroit.

Dr. Bennett named his committees

today and they will be: program Dr. S. E. Levine, Rev. Rees T. Williams and Dr. Grant E. Fisher; law and order: Dr. J. A. Galbraith, Rev. C. H. Heaton and Dr. C. C. McGeorge; library: Rev. P. C. Pearson, Dr. E. A. Crooks and Dr. C. B. Wingerd.

The new ministerial head will represent the Association in welcoming Bishop Lake and the Methodist Episcopal conference to New Castle Wednesday.

Legion Post To Have Open House

Big Program Is Planned This Evening, When Nominations Take Place

Following the business session of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion this evening, lunch will be served and there will be open house until midnight. Commander R. L. Boyd announced today.

Nominations of officers and reports from the state convention at Erie will be on the program.

Communists In Havana Arrested

(International News Service)
HAVANA, Sept. 11.—Suspected of plotting against the life of U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery, 26 Communists of the Havana suburb Marianito were under arrest today. The prisoners were charged specifically with illegal assembly.

Officers said the radicals had been maintaining a close watch over the movements of Caffery. The envoy himself said he had no information regarding any plots on his life.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES HEADS TO HEAR SMITH

(International News Service)
CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 11.—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York will address the national conference of Catholic charities meeting here October 7-10. Numerous archbishops and bishops of the Roman Catholic church in the United States are expected to attend the conference, which according to the announcement, will be directed toward achieving concerted action in carrying out the relief programs of public and private agencies and toward securing a permanent improvement of the social and economic order in accordance with the principles of social justice.

BIRD GRIEVING MATE CHEERED BY IMAGE

(International News Service)
GOLDWATER, Mich., Sept. 11.—A looking glass witnessed the whole course of life for one of a pair of love birds here owned by Mrs. G. E. Everett, bird fancier.

Recently the male bird died, leaving the female desolate. She sank into a deep brood, refused food, and was near death from loneliness.

Mrs. Everett placed a mirror in the cage and immediately a change was noted in the bird. She has resumed taking food and is apparently content. However, she will not move from the mirror but sits gazing at the reflection which has taken the place of her dead mate.

ATTENDANCE INCREASE
GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 11.—The Grove City public school registration of 1934 is the largest in school history here covering a 50 year period and is 50 more than this year.

The increase is stated to be in the grades where 895 pupils are registered.

In the eighth grades there were 126 pupils in two and one half rooms that were used. An additional teacher was needed and another room secured.

The record class of the high school is the Freshmen with 202. The seniors number 182, the Sophomores 179, the Juniors 171.

Activities are uniform. They don't limit up primitive people and teach them to be a menace.

Don't Want To Work For Their Food

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Sept. 11.—Nearly 100 members of the Ohio Unemployed League last night told Mayor O. Earl Greenwall and Service-Safety Director E. B. Laughlin they would not comply with an order providing that all physically able must work to obtain food relief.

Led by Arthur Marshall, they marched to the downtown district after a meeting near an abandoned pottery, where addresses were made condemning the administration's edict which became effective today. Under the plan relief orders will be issued for city work at the rate of 50 cents an hour.

'Eternal Trust Fund' Will Held Invalid

(International News Service)
DAVENPORT, Ia., Sept. 10.—There is no such thing, legally, as an "eternal trust fund," a court has ruled.

So the will left by Mrs. Eva Gardner, who provided for such a fund to assure that neither her nor her husband's bodies would ever be disturbed, is invalid.

Approximately $10,000 which was to have been used to fight any attempt to move the bodies will be divided among heirs. Mrs. Gardner lived for years in fear New York relatives would take her body east.

Conference Choir Rehearses Again

Final Rehearsal For Big Sunday Service To Take Place Friday Evening

Another rehearsal of the chorus choir, composed of the members of choirs from the different churches in the city, which will furnish the music for the big Sunday morning service at the Cathedral, took place last evening, with David Reese presiding in the absence of Chester P. Reynolds, who was taken ill at the rehearsal last Friday evening, and who has not completely recovered.

The final rehearsal will take place in the Cathedral Friday evening, and will start promptly at 7:30. The chorus is working on larger, difficult anthems, which will add greatly to the solemnity of Sunday morning's service. There are 250 voices in the chorus.

Let us do honor to Adam. He was "original" without watching the other guy's work to get ideas.

Mystery Death Of Woman Probed

KITTANNING, Pa., Sept. 11.—Her name a mystery to the coroner and police, a woman, about 35 years old, who was found dead at a local hotel today, prompted an investigation.

The woman, who investigators believe might be a "Mrs. Wilson" of New Bois, was found in the Neilson hotel when a domestic entered to clean the room.

Coroner A. W. Dosch withheld a statement on the cause of death, pending an investigation.

SCHOOL SET FOR DEMOLITION

(International News Service)
CADIZ, O., Sept. 11.—The Great school, which General George A. Custer, the famous Indian fighter, attended when he was a boy, is doomed to destruction.

Because the building is no longer being used, it was decided to remove the school.

Once, years ago, the school was the center of social life for this community where the famous Indian-fighting general lived prior to his entrance to West Point.

Accident Fatal To Beaver Man

W. LeRoy Armstrong Dies In Ellwood Hospital As Result Of Collision

WOMAN AND ANOTHER MAN ARE INJURED

Car Of Richard Skeewis Crashes Into Armstrong's Going Through Stop Sign

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—Last night about 10 o'clock W. LeRoy Armstrong, 65, of Beaver R. D. 2 succumbed to injuries at the Ellwood City hospital, received just an hour before, when his car collided with that of Richard Skeewis, Fifth street, Ellwood City, on the Zellenople road near the North Star school. Death was due to an internal hemorrhage caused by a crushed chest. He also had a broken right arm and injuries to the right side and a suspected skull fracture.

Skeewis was skinned up and bruised quite a bit. He was discharged from the local hospital when his wounds were tended to.

Miss Edith Rodgers, of Ellport, a passenger in Armstrong's car, was bruised and considerably shaken up. She was also taken to the hospital. Her condition is not serious. She is expected to be discharged sometime today.

Skeewis' version of the accident coincides with an investigation made by Lawrence County Coroner Orville Potter and Highway Patrolman P. J. Burns of the Beaver Falls station. The former's statements were confirmed by Levi Rapp, of Knox Plan who witnessed the accident and a number of other nearby residents.

The accident occurred about two miles from the borough limits of Ellwood City. Skeewis was traveling in the direction of Zellenople at the time, when suddenly another car came onto the highway from a Pin-chot road to his left, just past the North Star school, directly into the path of his car. Skeewis said that this machine failed to observe a stop sign, and apparently intended to cross the highway. Skeewis was unable to avoid the collision. Both cars were considerably wrecked. Passing motorists took the injured to the local hospital.

Officials are endeavoring to determine who was driving the car in which Armstrong met his death. The injured woman asserted that Armstrong was driving at the hospital last night. Coroner Potter and Patrolman Burns are inclined to believe that this is in view of the damages to the car, and that it was Armstrong who was the most seriously injured. They reason that it was to the left of Skeewis that the car came from, then it is logical to think that whoever was behind the wheel would be least injured, but as the Skeewis car ran into the right side of it, and the driver would therefore be the furthest from the actual impact. The right side of the car was smashed and in view of Armstrong's injuries, it must have been on this side that he was sitting at the time of the accident.

Coroner Potter expects to conduct an inquest into the fatality in Ellwood City sometime the latter part of this week.

Library Board Has Regular Meeting

Many Delinquent Books Are Being Returned Local Librarian States

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—Library Board of Ellwood City held its regular monthly meeting last night in its rooms of the public library on Crescent avenue.

Librarian Mrs. Catherine Charles in her monthly report stated that the circulation for the past month was 7,400 volumes, which is 1,600 less than the corresponding month last year. "This is a good omen as it means that there is more work being done and therefore people have less time for reading. The local library has been more or less of a barometer in regards to the work. As work would increase the circulation would drop and visa versa. This year the circulation has been dropping noticeably each month in comparison with the corresponding month of last year. Although there has been an increase over July when the circulation was 7,007. The number of active borrowers for August were 5,227. There were also 117 new books added which brings the total volumes up to 14,387 or quite more than one book per capita. It is the aim of the local library to make this two.

Mrs. Charles stated that many delinquent books were being returned since Mr. Lash, the local truant officer, has been employed in visiting delinquent borrowers. He made 51 calls and collected 35 books in six weeks. A number of books that were given up for lost were also recovered.

The librarian was rather mystified as to why books would have to be stolen from a public library when they are available to anyone free of charge. She also urged that local users of the library be prompt in the return of books in order that the library will be in a better position to render real service.

PWA Check Received By School Board

Board Accepts Depository And Trustee For $75,000 Federal Loan At Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—The arrival of a $75,000 PWA check from the federal government was the cause of the special meeting held by the Ellwood City Board of Education in its rooms in the Lincoln High School last night.

The board immediately accepted the recommendation that the People's National bank of Ellwood City be used as a depository for the funds and that the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh be the trustee and hold the securities to cover the deposit.

The board at this time selected Albert Dahl of this city to build a retaining wall and repair another one at the North Side school. Some EWD work was also planned. It was decided to finish the old ticket booth in Lincoln field and build a similar one on the opposite end. Also to complete a ramp to the field and construct a new entrance at the Circle building.

Friendship Circle Class Has Meeting

Accident Fatal To Beaver Man

W. LeRoy Armstrong Dies In Ellwood Hospital As Result Of Collision

WOMAN AND ANOTHER MAN ARE INJURED

Car Of Richard Skewis Crashes Into Armstrong's Going Through Stop Sign

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—Last night about 10 o'clock W. LeRoy Armstrong, 66, of Beaver R. D. 2 succumbed to injuries at the Ellwood City hospital, received just an hour before, when his car collided with that of Richard Skewis, Fifth street, Ellwood City, on the Zelenople road near the North Star school. Death was due to an internal hemorrhage caused by a crushed chest. He also had a broken right arm and injuries to the right side and a suspected skull fracture.

Skewis was skinned up and bruised quite a bit. He was discharged from the local hospital when his wounds were attended to.

Miss Edith Rodgers, of Ellport, a passenger in Armstrong's car was bruised and considerably shaken up. She was also taken to the hospital. Her condition is not serious. She is expected to be discharged sometime today.

Skewis' version of the accident coincides with an investigation made by Lawrence County Coroner Potter and Highway Patrolman P. J. Burns of the Beaver Falls station. The former's statements were confirmed by Levi Rapp of Knox Plan who witnessed the accident and a number of other nearby residents.

The accident occurred about two miles from the borough limits of Ellwood City. Skewis was traveling in the direction of Zelenople at the time, when suddenly another car came onto the highway from a Pin-chot road to his left, just past the North Star school, directly into the path of his car. Skewis said that this machine failed to observe a stop sign, and apparently intended to cross the highway. Skewis was unable to avoid the collision. Both cars were considerably wrecked. Passing motorists took the injured to the local hospital.

Officials are endeavoring to determine who was driving the car in which Armstrong met his death. The injured woman asserted that Armstrong was driving at the hospital last night. Coroner Potter and Patrolman Burns are inclined to be skeptical in this view of the damages to the car, and that it was Armstrong who was the most seriously injured. They reason that if it was to the left of Skewis that the car came from, then it is logical to think that whoever was behind the wheel would be least injured, but as the Skewis car ran into the right side of it, and the driver would therefore be the furthest from the actual impact. The right side of the car was smashed and in view of Armstrong's injuries, it must have been on this side of the accident at the time of the collision.

Coroner Potter expects to conduct an inquest into the fatality in Ellwood City sometime the latter part of this week.

Ellwood Students Enter Westminster

Immediate survivors are: her husband, Ralph Stroble, one daughter Margaret; two brothers, Victor and John Shaffer and her father M. L. Shaffer.

Interment was made in the Evans City cemetery.

Library Board Has Regular Meeting

Many Delinquent Books Are Being Returned Local Librarian States

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—Library Board of Ellwood City held its regular monthly meeting last night in its rooms of the public library on Crescent avenue.

Librarian Mrs. Catherine Charles in her monthly report stated that the circulation for the past month was 7,400 volumes, which is 1600 less than the corresponding month last year. This is a good omen as it means that there is more work being done and therefore people have less time for reading. The local library has been more or less of a barometer in regards to this case. As work would increase the circulation would drop and visa versa. This year the circulation has been dropping noticeably each month in comparison with the corresponding month of last year. Although there has been an increase over July when the circulation was 7,007. The number of active borrowers for August were 6,227. There were also 117 new books added which brings the total volumes up to 14,387 or quite more than one book per capita. It is the aim of the local library to make this two.

Mrs. Charles stated that many delinquent books were being returned since Mr. Lash, the local truant officer, has been employed in visiting delinquent borrowers. He made 51 calls and collected 35 books that were given up for lost were also recovered.

The librarian was rather mystified as to why books would have to be stolen from a public library when they are available to anyone free of charge. She also urged that local users of the library be prompt in the return of books in order that the library will be in a better position to render real service.

W. M. S. MEETINGS

PWA Check Received By School Board

Board Accepts Depository And Trustee For $75,000 Federal Loan At Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—The arrival of a $75,000 PWA check from the federal government was the cause of the special meeting held by the Ellwood City Board of Education in its rooms in the Lincoln High School last night.

The board immediately accepted the recommendation that the People's National bank of Ellwood City be used as a depository for the funds and that the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh be the trustee and hold the securities to cover the deposit.

The board at this time selected Albert Dahl of this city to build a retaining wall and repair another one at the North Side school. Some RWD work was also planned. It was decided to finish the old ticket booth in Lincoln field and build a similar one on the opposite end. Also to complete a ramp to the field and construct a new entrance at the Circle building.

Friendship Circle Class Has Meeting

Will Try To Buy Ill-Fated Ship

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO SEE VESSEL

(International News Service) ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 11.—The morbid, but undeniably intense interest of the public in the wreck of the Morro Castle on the beach here has been duly noted by the city fathers of Asbury Park, who today were seriously considering making the fire-blackened vessel a permanent addition to the resort's amusement attractions.

On Sunday the city charged 25 cents admission to the Convention Hall pier from which an excellent view can be obtained and grossed more than $2,800.

The city council has retained Donald Waesche, a Jersey City lawyer, to press the claim that the municipality is entitled to claim ownership of the ship on the grounds that ownership is vested in the city as a riparian right.

If Waesche is unable to obtain a judicial opinion upholding this point of view an effort will be made to purchase or lease the hull.

Will Try To Buy Ill-Fated Ship

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO SEE VESSEL

(International News Service) ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 11.—The morbid, but undeniably intense interest of the public in the wreck of the Morro Castle on the beach here has been duly noted by the city fathers of Asbury Park, who today were seriously considering making the fire-blackened vessel a permanent addition to the resort's amusement attractions.

On Sunday the city charged 25 cents admission to the Convention Hall pier from which an excellent view can be obtained and grossed more than $2,800.

The city council has retained Donald Waesche, A Jersey City lawyer, to press the claim that the municipality is entitled to claim ownership of the ship on the grounds that ownership is vested in the city as a riparian right.

If Waesche is unable to obtain a judicial opinion upholding this point of view an effort will be made to purchase or lease the hull.

Accident Fatal To Beaver Man

W. LeRoy Armstrong Dies In Ellwood Hospital As Result Of Collision

Car Of Richard Skewis Crashes Into Armstrong's Going Through Stop Sign

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—Last night about 10 o'clock W. LeRoy Armstrong, 56, of Beaver R. D. 2, succumbed to injuries at the Ellwood City hospital, received just an hour before, when his car collided with that of Richard Skewis, Fifth street, Ellwood City, on the Zelenopole road near the North Star school. Death was due to an internal hemorrhage caused by a crushed chest. He also had a broken right arm and injuries to the right side and a suspected skull fracture.

Skewis was skinned up and bruised quite a bit. He was discharged from the local hospital when his wounds were attended to.

Miss Edith Rodgers, of Ellport, a passenger in Armstrong's car, was bruised and considerably shaken up. She was also taken to the hospital. Her condition is not serious. She is expected to be discharged sometime today.

Skewis' version of the accident coincides with an investigation made by Lawrence County Coroner Orville Potter and Highway Patrolman F. J. Burns of the Beaver Falls station. The former's statements were confirmed by Levi Rape of Knox Plan who witnessed the accident and a number of other nearby residents.

The accident occurred about two miles from the borough limits of Ellwood City. Skewis was traveling in the direction of Zelenopole at the time, when suddenly another car came onto the highway from a Pin-chot road to his left, just past the North Star school, directly into the path of his car. Skewis said that this machine failed to observe a stop sign, and apparently intended to cross the highway. Skewis was unable to avoid the collision. Both cars were considerably wrecked. Passing motorists took the injured to the local hospital.

Officials are endeavoring to determine who was driving the car in which Armstrong met his death. The injured woman asserted that Armstrong was driving at the hospital last night. Coroner Potter and Patrolman Burns are inclined to be skeptical of this in view of the damages to the car, and that it was Armstrong who was the most seriously injured. They reason that if it was to the left of Skewis that the car came from, then it is logical to think that whoever was behind the wheel would be least injured, but as the Skewis car ran into the right side of it, and the driver would therefore be the furthest from the actual impact. The right side of the car was smashed and in view of the Armstrong injuries it must have been on this side that he was sitting at the time of the accident.

Coroner Potter expects to conduct an inquest into the fatality in Ellwood City sometime the latter part of this week.

Ellwood Students Enter Westminster

FUNERAL SERVICES

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—Funeral services for Mrs. Ralph Stroble, whose death occurred at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Blaine Rider of Park avenue on Friday evening following an illness of two years' duration, were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Christian Missionary Alliance in Bell avenue. Rev. F. R. Schilling, pastor of the church, officiated.

Immediate survivors are: her husband, Ralph Stroble, one daughter, Margaret; two brothers, Victor and John Shaffer and her father, Mr. L. Shaffer.

Interment was made in the Evans City cemetery.

Library Board Has Regular Meeting

Many Delinquent Books Are Being Returned Local Librarian States

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 11.—Librarian Mrs. Catherine Charles in her monthly report stated that the circulation for the past month was 7,400 volumes, which is 1600 less than the corresponding month last year. This is a good omen as it means that there is more work being done and therefore people have less time for reading. The local library has been more or less of a barometer in regards to this case. As work would increase the circulation would drop and visa versa. This year the circulation has been dropping noticeably each month in comparison with the corresponding month of last year. Although there has been an increase over July when the circulation was 7,007. The number of active borrowers for August was 6,227. There were also 117 new books added which brings the total volumes up to 14,387 or quite more than one book per capita. It is the aim of the local library to make this two.

Mrs. Charles stated that many delinquent books were being returned since Mr. Lash, the local trustee, has been employed in visiting delinquent borrowers. He made 31 calls and collected 35 books in six weeks. A number of books that were given up for lost were also recovered.

The librarian was rather mystified as to why books would have to be stolen from a public library when they are available to anyone free of charge. She also urged that the return of books to the library be prompt in the return of books in order that the library will be in a better position to render real service.

W. M. S. MEETINGS

Open On September 21; Play Kams City High Here On September 28

George Washington Junior high school football team is hard at work preparing for the opening of the 1934 football season. Coach Dan Carroll has a squad of 48 youngsters out for the first sprinkling of veterans on the roster.

Merle "Red" McIntosh, former New Castle high star, is assisting Coach Carroll this year. McIntosh is directing the play of the linemen and Carroll is looking after the backfield men.

The veterans on the squad are Charles Mort, Louis Leonard, Jack Court, Tony Ferret, and Don Covelli. With a wealth of material on hand the coaches hope to put out a winning combination this year.

The opening game on September 21 has not as yet been arranged. The first scheduled game for the Washington high team will be September 28 when the fast Kams City High team will play at Washington Field.

Veteran Backfield
The Carrollmen lost to Kams City last year and are out for revenge this season. A tough schedule of games will be mapped out by Coach Carroll.

The backfield will be a veteran one, with Mort, Ferret, Leonard and Covelli doing duty.

The coaches will have to build a whole new line this year with the exception of Covelli who is a star end and Leonard a guard. The squad this year is one of the best that Coach Carroll has ever had.

With a little more experience the Washington team will be in position to meet any of the opponents this year. Jack Duffy is being groomed for center.

Plans Class Teams
Carroll hopes to develop an idea that should prove a good one, that of having class teams and playing a series of games with the seven, eight and ninth graders participating. This will give every boy in school a chance to play football. This is a new proposal and one of real merit. Carroll is now perfecting plans for the start of this lightweight league. The following are out for football:—Bill Chip, Bud Fraser, Hal

Bessemer-Ellwood Arrange For Series Starting Wednesday

Will Play Three-Game Series, Second Game At Bessemer Saturday

Bessemer baseball team champions of Lawrence County League have arranged a series of games with the Ellwood City Shelby Stars. The first game will be played at the Ellwood City Ewing Park Field at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The second game is scheduled for Bessemer Saturday afternoon. If the third game is necessary it will be played on the loss of the coin.

Snyder or Nord will take the mound for Bessemer in the first game Wednesday with the Ellwood City team having Sankey McCullough, Brown, Sanders and Dallenbach for their hitting power at the bat. The Ellwood City team will more than likely choose Paul McCullough to hurl against the Bessemer.

Yarosz-Dundee Battle Tonight

Middleweight Championship At Stake In Bout At Forbes Field

MONACA YOUTH IS FAVORITE

By VICTOR J. JACOBS
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Here, amid the hum and clatter of an industrial center, two embattled champions of the prize ring clash tonight, with their minds, hearts and all settled on the spoils that will be the winners.

Teddy Yarosz, the handsome Polish youth who came out of the small Ohio valley mill town of Monaca, Pa., to become the big city favorite, strikes out boldly in quest of the world middleweight title. He would like to add to the 160-pound state crown, but Vince Dundee, who owns the universal 162, stands ready to meet the thrust.

Skeptics who expect to give the match a "doubtful" financial tag because of the tiny $25,000 guarantee given Dundee, are forced to sit back and listen now to the broadcasts of the promoters while they bragging and the success of the under-taking. Advance ticket sales, they report, are far up in the thousands and good weather favoring, nothing short of a $50,000 gate is expected.

Yarosz Favorite
To return to the original theme of thought, the boys will go 15 rounds or less, probably the limit, in Pittsburgh's initial world title fight at Forbes field in deciding the question of who shall occupy the New York state portion of the middleweight throne.

Ted can well view the affair as an example of the proverb: "All comes to him who waits." The ambitious, well-lad has camped among the topographers and the lower caliber boys of the writer and middleweight divisions for years, and tonight he earns the reward for his excellent and undisciplined plodding.

Save for age, where Yarosz enjoys a handicap of several years, the principals will match very closely in size. On the strength of two shell-lacks he previously routed Dundee, with here and once in the "charm" home town of Newark, Ted remains on the long end of 6-5 betting odds. Vince, though, is an improved battler when his crown is at stake, witness two earlier defeats of same and it may be on this score that little doubt is being laid on the line.

Dempsey Present
Fit and vibrant, Yarosz and Dundee with their long retinues of handlers and friends were both in town resting the few hours before the going. Both appeared in the peak of condition. To the manager, Max W. W., of the defending half and Ray Fouts, vouchsafed on behalf of their fighters and voluntarily added separate optimistic notes.

The appearance of the notable, including Jack Dempsey, who Maxman claims as an ally of his organization, gives the affair added lustre.

Pirates Hand Giants Defeat

DETROIT GAINS ON N. Y. YANKEES

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—For a while this summer New Yorkers thought they would surely see the Giants and Yankees battling in the world series next month.

They became resigned to seeing only half a series when Mickey Vernon, pitcher of the Yankees, was injured and it was thought that he would be out for the season.

The latest doubt is occasioned by the terrific slump of the Giants who have lost their last three while the Cardinals have won their last three. The Giants, who were leading the series 3-2, are now 3-3.

Pirates Top Giants
Dizzy Fielding rather than Hal Schumacher's poor pitching was the cause of their 9 to 7 defeat by the Pirates. The Giants made six errors and all of them were costly.

Going into the ninth Schumacher apparently had his 22nd victory well in hand but three hits and four errors settled him and the Giants at the same time.

While the Giants were wobbling all over the Polo grounds, the Tigers were picking up half a game at the expense of the idle Yankees by taking the Red Sox 2-1 on two homers by Greenberg.

Elton Auker held the Sox to three hits while the Tigers made five off Dusty Rhodes. Greenberg's first homer tied the score in the seventh and his second won the game in the ninth. The second one—a wallop over the center field fence—was one of the longest drives ever made in Detroit and probably second only to the one Babe Ruth hit over that same fence in 1927.

Dean Wins 25th
Dizzy Dean hunk up his 25th victory by holding the Phillies to five hits in win 4-1.
Cliff Belton's homer with the bases loaded gave the Senators a 7-4 decision over the White Sox. The A's topped the Indians 9-6 and the Dodgers used 13 men in dropping one to the Reds 6-5. In the only other game of the day.

Stock Shenango With Young Bass

Shenango Valley Sportmen are collaborating with state authorities today in stocking the Shenango River in Palmski with young bass, according to C. B. White, secretary of the organization. The sportsmen feel fortunate in being given these bass by the state as the stocking of bass in local streams is an occurrence of rare interval.

Goodman, Little And Dunlap Play Matches At Brookline, Mass., Course

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 11.—After one day of madness, the national amateur golf championship settled down this morning to a period of tranquility. The second round having virtually nothing to offer beyond the fact that W. Lawson Little, the British amateur champion, John Goodman, 1933 open champion, and George Dunlap, defending champion, were in the list for today. Little was to play a gentleman by the name of J. M. Tucker, of Rochester. Dunlap was coupled with W. S. McCullough of Philadelphia, and Goodman was to play a party by the name of Bob Jacobson of Deal, N. J.

Jacobson, according to all accounts, has been shooting sub-par rounds of 70 or better and is all set for the young man from Omaha. It would be fitting and strictly in line with what happened yesterday with the defeat of Francis Ouimet by Bobby Jones, the second, if a sap by the name of Jacobson were able to win from the former national open champion. As a matter of fact, anything is possible in these 18 hole round matches, which go on until further notice, or in other words, until Thursday.

Class vs Young
It's a formality that Knox M. Young, Pittsburgh conqueror of Max Marston, must play Fred Hass, the Texan who won the recent western junior championship. Hass ordinarily ought to draw a breather but after his hard match of yesterday he must go out and give his best against the man who beat an exceptional champion.

Goodman apparently picks up a live one in Jacobson who has been playing the course like a master. As for Little, nobody knows much about Tucker, of Rochester, except that Tucker have a way of knocking off a champion. Jesse Sweetser, another former champion, would seem to have an easy match with Francis Deyle the Holy Cross entry.

Bobby Jones To Play
Bobby Jones, the Detroit conqueror of Francis Ouimet, is teamed up with C. Bayard, Plymouth, N. J. one of the best members of the day will play with W. L. H. Chicago, with Tommy Greenham, Montreal, N. Y.

One of the Walker cup team, Johnny Fisher will meet Al Anderson, Chicago, and every thing ought to be alright.

Another old hand champion, Chick Evans, will be teamed with Pat Sawyer, Minneapolis. This will be strictly one of the three matches in which one old hand will be distinguished to give anything to the younger men, the result that nobody properly will get anything.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Former champs and near champs of two decades ago, gathered here last night preparatory to making a trip to Pittsburgh to see Teddy Yarosz attempt to wrest the middleweight championship from Vince Dundee.

In the crowd were Johnny Kilbane, George Chapp, Tom McMahon, Jimmie Dunn and Tony Ross.

Kilbane clipped the ears of Abe Attel to win the featherweight title when the weight was 122. George Chapp called Frank Klaus for the title when the poundage was 158 and Tom McMahon outboxed Jess Willard. Tony Ross fought Jack Johnson and a host of other good boys and Jimmie Dunn wrangled with Abe Attel and Freddy Welsh.

Later was a youngster in campers when the other boys were boxing has since become a manager of fighters. The writer listened in on the boys and while it is true the aggregation will journey to see the regular contest tonight, not one word of awe as to who will win was uttered by the ex-boxing men last night.

In fact Johnny Kilbane, Chapp, McMahon, Ross and Dunn were too intent on teasing their legs around each other last night to worry over a winner at Pittsburgh tonight. They knew what it felt like in a hot battle and probably having no equal ability, would have stayed in the ring something, but that "tree" to which the writer murmured acquiescence.

PITT GRIDDERS START TRAINING

Coach "Jock" Sutherland Takes Pitt Football Team To Camp Windber

WINDBER, Sept. 11.—Fifty varsity gridders trotted out on the practice field at Camp Ramamon, three miles from here, Monday morning, as Jack Sutherland sent the Pitt Panthers through their first drill of the 1934 campaign.

Two drills will be held daily until Saturday, September 22, when one exercise will be on the program. Then the Panthers will return to Pittsburgh and to classes, and from there on begin the regular season.

Face Tough Job
Jack Sutherland and his new assistant coach, Bill Kern, have the hardest jobs of their coaching careers on their hands this fall. In three weeks they must whip into shape an eleven that must vary in strength the hardest schedule in the history.

In succession the Panthers must meet Washington and Jefferson, West Virginia, Southern California, Minnesota, a Westminster, Notre Dame, Nebraska, Navy, and Cornell. Then the West Virginia, Westminster, Nebraska and Navy games will be played away.

Returning lettermen include Captain Charles Hartwig, Kenneth Ormiston, and Frank Kutz guards; George Shewell and Nick Kiskey, centers; Bob Reid, tackle; Harvey Becker, end; Miller Munjas, quarterback; Mike Nickack, Hube Rancourt, and Lou Shewell, fullbacks; and Jerry Westbrook and Eric Wescenbach, fullbacks. Of this number only three, Hartwig, Westbrook, and Shewell were regulars in 1933.

Three More Days Until Opening Game Of Year With Braddock High

Three more days and then the opening battle should draw a large crowd to the local football arena. Can New Castle go through another undefeated season? This is the question that the fans are asking. The Class AA conference champions are going to face a tough program. Five major games are on the schedule mapped out by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner.

The five big games are New Kensington, Washington, Clairton, Turtle Creek and Charleroi.

Braddock High will prove a good tester for the caliber of the Braddock machine this year. Ellwood City will be the second game on the program.

RYANTOWN AND CLIFTON FLATS PLAY WEDNESDAY

Fifth And Deciding Game Of Series Will Be Played At E. And A. Field

Ryantown will play the Clifton Flats team at E. and A. field at 4:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the fifth and deciding game of the independent league championship series. It was definitely announced today.

The count stands at two games apiece. The winner tomorrow afternoon will be crowned champions. The Clifton Flats team will place their hopes in the strong right arm of Coates, with Newman receiving. The Ryantowns will probably start their left with Danies Hill or Boos on the mound. Grum will be behind the plate.

A good game is expected and in event of good weather a large crowd will no doubt wind their way to the Seventh Ward field to witness the "championship" game.

Pirates Purchase Georgia Grid Star

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Norman Mett, a halfback from University of Georgia has been purchased from the Cincinnati Reds, professional football squad, President Art Rooney of the Pittsburgh Pirates announced today.

At the same time, it was revealed George Kavel, former co-captain and halfback of Carnegie Tech, and Harry Marker, West Virginia C. halfback, were released.

All-Stars Will Schedule Games

Lawrence County League All-Star baseball team will schedule few games for the remainder of the week, and for next week it was announced by Louis Park, Clutch coach. ### Washington High Gridders Train

Open On September 21; Play Karns City High Here On September 28

George Washington Junior high school football team is hard at work preparing for the opening of the 1934 football season. Coach Dan Carroll has a squad of 48 youngsters out for the grid sports this year. There is a fair sprinkling of veterans on the roster.

Merle "Red" McIntosh, former New Castle high star is assisting Coach Carroll in the play of the linemen and Carroll is looking after the backfield men.

The veterans on the squad are Charles Mort, Louis Leonard, Jack Court, Tony Perrett, and Dom Covelli. With a wealth of material on hand the coaches hope to put out a winning combination this year.

The opening game on September 21 has not as yet been arranged. The first scheduled game for the Washington high team will be September 28 when the fast Karns City High team will play at Washington Field.

Veteran Backfield
The Carrollmen lost to Karns City last year and are out for revenge this season. A tough schedule of games will be mapped out by Coach Carroll.

The backfield will be a veteran one, with Mort, Perrett, Louden and Covello doing duty.
The coaches will have to build a whole new line this year with the exception of Covelli who is a star end and Leonard a guard. The squad this year is one of the heaviest that Coach Carroll has ever had.

With a little more experience the Washington team will be in position to meet any of the opponents this year. Jack Duffy is being groomed for center.

Plans Class Teams
Carroll hopes to develop an idea that should prove a good one, that of having class teams and playing a series of games with the seven, eight and ninth graders, participating thus giving every boy in school a chance to play football. This is a new proposal and one of real merit. Carroll is now perfecting plans for the start of this lightweight league. The following are out for football:—Bill Chip, Bud Fraser, Hal Johnston, Ed Caputo, Bob Dix, Walter Gociano, Jack Reena, Chas. Mort, Ware Pfeiffer, Dick Stevenson, Nevin Serger, Joe Lanner, Dom Covelli, Frank Rozz, Albert Russo, Jack Court, George Bashor, Jack McMillen, Clarence Brown, Norris Brown, George Swisher, Tom Cunningham, Tom McCormick, Louis Leonard, Jack Duffy, Darrell Gould, Bob McNeil, Clyde Brest, Bill Dewberry, Bill Pettison, George Hubbard, Allen Naslund, Bob Joyce, Tom Williams, Charles Caputo, Joe Donegan, Tom Carey, Bob Wilkison, Jim Higgins, George Louden, Frank Pasqualina, Wylie Shira, John Cameron, Tony Funera, Bill Paul, Jack McLafferty, Bob Miller, Walter Fabian.

Kickers' Handicap Will Be Held This Afternoon, Fine Program Is Mapped Out

New Castle church golfers will have their first annual banquet tonight at Castle Hills golf course at 7 o'clock. A kickers' handicap event will be held this afternoon with prizes offered for the winning cards. A fine program has been arranged for the banquet which will be held at the Castle Hills club house. It is to be a steak dinner.

Attorney T. W. Dickey has been chosen as toastmaster of the event. "Jack" Waddington will preside as president of the league owing to the illness of John P. Lockhart. The beautiful Gerson Trophy cup will be presented to the First Presbyterian "A" team tonight.

World's Series To Be Discussed

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—At the bidding of baseball commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis representatives of each Major League club with a mathematical chance to win the respective pennants will meet here next Thursday to discuss World Series plans.
Invitations for the preliminary conference were issued to New York, St. Louis and Chicago in the National League and to the Detroit and New York club in the American League.

Bessemer-Ellwood Arrange For Series Starting Wednesday

Will Play Three-Game Series, Second Game At Bessemer Saturday

Bessemer baseball team champions of Lawrence County League have arranged a series of games with the Ellwood City Shelby Socials. The first game will be played at the Ellwood City Ewing Park Field at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The second game is scheduled for Bessemer Saturday afternoon. If the third game is necessary it will be played on the toss of the coin.

Snyder or Nord will take the mound for Bessemer in the first game Wednesday with the Ellwood City team having Sankey McCullough, Brown, Sanders and Dallenbach for their hitting power at the bat. The Ellwood City team will more than likely choose Paul McCullough to hurl against the Bessemerers.

Yarosz-Dundee Battle Tonight

MONACA YOUTH IS FAVORITE

By VICTOR J. JACOBS
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Here, amid the hum and clatter of an industrial center, two embattled exponents of the prize ring clash tonight, with their minds, hearts and all settled on the spoils that will be the winners.

Teddy Yarosz, the handsome Polish youth who came out of the small Ohio valley milltown of Monaca, Pa., to menace the big city favorites, strikes out boldly in quest of the world middleweight title. He would like to add it to the 160-pound state crown, but Vince Dundee, who owns the universal toga, stands ready to meet the thrusts.

Skeptics who elected to give the match a "double" financial tag because of the tidy $25,000 guarantee given Dundee, are forced to sit back and listen now to the broadcasts of the promoters while they propound the success of the undertaking. Advance ticket sales, they report, are far up in the thousands and good weather favoring, nothing short of a $50,000 gate is expected.

Yarosz Favorite
To return to the original vein of thought, the boys will go 15 rounds or less, probably the limit, in Pittsburgh's initial world title fight at Forbes field in deciding the question of who shall occupy the New York state portion of the middleweight throne.

Ted can well view the affair as an example of the proverb: "All comes to him who waits." The ambitious eagle had camped among the topnotchers and the lower calibre boys of the welter and middleweight divisions for years, and tonight he earns the reward for his excellent and undisciplined plodding.

Save for age, where Yarosz enjoys a handicap of several years, the principals will match very closely in size. On the strength of two shell-lacks he previously costed Dundee with, here and once in the champion's home town of Newark, Ted remains on the long end of 6-5 betting odds. Vince, though, is an improved batter when his crown is at stake (witness two earlier defenses of same) and it may be on this score that little dough is being laid on the line.

Dempsey Present
Fit and vibrant, Yarosz and Dundee with their long retinues of handlers and friends were both in town resting the few hours before the going. Both appeared in the peak of condition. To this their managers, Max Warner of the defending half and Ray Fouts, vouchsafed on behalf of their fighters and voluntarily added separate optimistic notes.

The appearance of Dempsey, who Waxman claims as an auxiliary of his organization, gives the affair added lustre.

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—For a while this summer New Yorkers thought the boys would surely see the Giants and Yankees battling in the world series next month.
They became resigned to seeing only half a series when Mickey Cochrane's rampant Tigers put the chill on the Yankees, and now they are wondering if they are going to see any part of the fall classic.

The latest doubt is occasioned by the terrific slump of the Giants who have blown their last three while the Cardinals have run their winning string to five straight, leaving the Giants with only a four-game lead over the St. Louis entry today.

Pirates Top Giants
Dizzy Fielding rather than Hal Schumacher's poor pitching was the cause of their 9 to 7 defeat by the Pirates. The Giants made six errors and all of them were costly.

Going into the ninth Schumacher apparently had his 22nd victory well in hand but three hits plus three errors settled him and the Giants at the same time.

While the Giants were wobbling all over the Polo grounds, the Tigers were picking up half a game at the expense of the idle Yanks by taking the Red Sox 2-1 on two homers by Greenberg.

Eldon Auker held the Sox to three hits while the Tigers made five off Dusty Rhodes. Greenberg's first homer tied the score in the seventh and his second won the game in the ninth. The second one—a wallop over the center field fence—was one of the longest drives ever made in Detroit and probably second only to the one Babe Ruth hit over that same fence in 1927.

Dean Wins 25th
Dizzy Dean hung up his 25th victory by holding the Phillies to five hits to win 4-1.
Cliff Bolton's homer with the bases loaded gave the Senators a 7-4 decision over the White Sox; the A's topped the Indians 9-6 and the Dodgers used 18 men in dropping one to the Reds 6-5, in the only other game of the day.

Will Try To Buy Ill-Fated Ship

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO SEE VESSEL

(International News Service) ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 11.—The morbid, but undeniably intense interest of the public in the wreck of the Morro Castle on the beach here has been duly noted by the city fathers of Asbury Park, who today were seriously considering making the fire-blackened vessel a permanent addition to the resort's amusement attractions.

On Sunday the city charged 25 cents admission to the Convention Hall pier from which an excellent view can be obtained and grossed more than $2,800.

The city council has retained Dorand Waesche, a Jersey City lawyer, to press the claim that the municipality is entitled to claim ownership of the ship on the grounds that ownership is vested in the city as a riparian right.

It Waesche is unable to obtain a judicial opinion upholding this point of view an effort will be made to purchase or lease the hull.

Work of preparing the old kindergarten building for use as a hotel headquarters is progressing according to George Muddach, engineer of the RWD here. The third floor has been cleared out and is about ready for the carpenters and painters. Material will be ordered in a day or so for the remodeling job and in about three weeks it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy.

Scrimmage Sessions To Start For Titan Squad

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11—One week of preliminary drills over, scrimmage sessions are in prospect for the Westminster College football squad this week, Coach Bill Gilbane has said.

While the latter part of last week was devoted to dummy scrimmage, no rough workouts for the Titans have been given by the Gilbane brothers, but it is possible that these will start Wednesday afternoon.

Both Bill and Tom Gilbane are pointing the men in each drill for the opening game with Slippery Rock here on Sept. 22. Realizing that there are but two weeks in which to get ready for this game, last year's dropped the opening game to the Teachers by a 13-6 score, the new Titans mentors hope to get the players in the right frame of mind to start the season with a victory.

With the arrival of freshmen for the start of the orientation period Monday two additional men reported to the squad, so that there are 34 men in uniform. One or two more may report yet this week.

Scrimmage sessions will be secret if the wishes of the new Titan mentors are observed. The gate to the playing field has been kept locked during the drills to date.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

FAMILIAR NAMES

Although the Chicago Bears probably received a different impression on August 31, there will be an unusually large number of the 1933 college stars returning to the various campuses for another football season.

Look over the following list of players, you should be able to identify all of them since they were in the headlines on all sport pages very often last year.

Backfield—Cotton Warburton, Southern California; Duane Purvis, Purdue; Pug Lund, Minnesota; Jack Buckler, Army; Jay Berwanger, Chicago; Andy Pinney and Don Elser, Notre Dame; Franklin, Oregon State; Byron, Illinois; Clark and Borries, Navy; Nott, Detroit; Crayne, Iowa; Weinstock and Weisenbaugh, Pitt; Alustiza, Stanford.

Ends—Frank Larson, Minnesota; Willis Ward, Michigan; Lib Lewis, Carnegie Tech; Julius Besco, Southern California; Moscrip, Stanford; Vairo and Millner, Notre Dame.

Tackles—Torrence, Louisiana State; Dolloway, Carnegie Tech; Theodoratus, Washington State; Ferraro, Columbia; Williams, Georgia Tech.

Guards—Barclay, North Carolina; Hartwig, Pitt; Monahan, Ohio State; Centers—Muller, Stanford; Robinson, Tulane; Devine, Washington State; Shotwell, Pitt.

If those names aren't familiar to you it is because the year that has elapsed since football was last in the limelight has erased from your memory some of the best players of the 1933 season.

What an All-American team could be selected from this group: Warburton at quarter; Crayne and Lund at the halves; Weinstock and Moscrip at fullback; Larson and Moscrip, ends; Torrence and Ferraro, tackles; Barclay and Monahan, guards; Devine at center.

That makes a strong pre-season All-American team. Although a little premature, the fact that such stars are available should give you a pretty good idea of the power that will be in the 1934 college line-ups.

THE GOTHAM JEWISH STAR
While Phil Weintraub is being heralded as the magnet to draw the Jewish population to the Polo Grounds, the Giants publicity department may be overlooking its best bet, Harry Danning, young catcher, at present looks much more like a future star than Chicago Phil. Weintraub has been around quite a few years without ever learning to field, so it isn't likely that he will suddenly develop at 27 years of age. He is considered a good hitting prospect but has yet to prove it over a full major league campaign.

On the other hand Danning has youth on his side and even now is a better catcher than Weintraub is an outfielder. Only 23 years old, Harry has become Screwball Carl Hubbell's individual battery mate. He has gradually ousted Richards as the second string receiver and isn't far behind Gus Mancuso. He is a much harder and more consistent hitter than the Italian.

So, regardless of the reams of Weintraub publicity, it will probably be Harry Danning who will prove to be the Jewish gate attraction of the New York Giants.

LOCAL TALENT IN FOREIGN FIELDS

Harold "Had" Haid—Pitcher, Oakland, Pacific Coast league. August 26, relief pitcher against Los Angeles, allowed 4 hits in 1 and one-third innings; August 29, lost a pitching duel to Seattle, 3-1, allowing seven hits in eight innings.

Mike Duffley—Catcher, Beckley, Middle Atlantic league. August 25 to 31, caught five games, at bat 16 times, five hits, batted in 2 runs.

Washington High Gridders Train

Open On September 21; Play Karns City High Here On September 28

George Washington Junior high school football team is hard at work preparing for the opening of the 1934 football season. Coach Dan Carroll has a squad of 48 youngsters out for the first sports this year. There is a fair sprinkling of veterans on the roster.

Merle "Red" McIntosh, former New Castle high star, is assisting Coach Carroll this year. McIntosh is directing the play of the line and Carroll is looking after the backfield men.

The veterans on the squad are Charles Moore, Louis Leonard, Jack Court, Tony Ferretti, and Don Covelli. With a wealth of material on hand the coaches hope to put out a winning combination this year.

The opening game on September 21 has not as yet been arranged. The first scheduled game for the Washington high team will be September 28 when the fast Karns City High team will play at Washington Field.

Veteran Backfield
The Carrollmen lost to Karns City last year and are out for revenge this season. A tough schedule of games will be mapped out by Coach Carroll.

The backfield will be a veteran one, with Moore, Leonard, Court and Covelli doing duty.

The coaches will have to build a whole new line this year with the exception of Covelli who is a star end and Leonard a guard. The squad this year is one of the heaviest that Coach Carroll has ever had.

With a little more experience the Washington team will be in position to meet any of the opponents this year. Jack Duffy is being groomed for center.

Plans Class Teams
Carroll hopes to develop an idea that should prove a good one, that of having class teams and playing a series of games with the seven, eight, and ninth graders participating.

Thus every boy in school has a chance to play football. This is a new proposal and one of real merit. Carroll is now perfecting plans for the start of this high school league.

The following are out for football: Bill Chip, Bud Pratt, Hal

CHURCH GOLFERS TO DINE TONIGHT

Kickers' Handicap Will Be Held This Afternoon, Fine Program Is Mapped Out

New Castle church golfers will have their first annual banquet tonight at Castle Hills golf course at 7 o'clock. A kickers' handicap event will be held this afternoon with prizes offered for the winning cards.

A fine program has been arranged for the banquet which will be held at the Castle Hills club house. It is to be a steak dinner.

Attorney T. W. Dickey has been chosen as toastmaster of the event. "Jack" Waddington will preside as president of the league owing to the illness of John P. Lockhart. The beautiful Gerson Trophy cup will be presented to the first Presbyterian "A" team tonight.

World's Series To Be Discussed

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—At the bidding of baseball commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, representatives of each major league club will discuss the mathematical chance to win the respective pennants will meet here next Thursday to discuss World Series plans.

Invitations for the preliminary conference were issued to New York, St. Louis and Chicago in the National league and to the Detroit and New York club in the American league.

Bessemer-Ellwood Arrange For Series Starting Wednesday

Will Play Three-Game Series, Second Game At Bessemer Saturday

Bessemer baseball team champions of Lawrence County League have arranged a series of games with the Ellwood City Shelby Sox. The first game will be played at the Ellwood City Ewing Park field at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The second game is scheduled for Bessemer Saturday afternoon. If the third game is necessary it will be played on the toss of the coin. Snyder or Nord will take the mound for Bessemer in the first game Wednesday with the Ellwood City team having Sonny McCullough, Brown, Sanders and Dalton for their hitting power at the bat. The Ellwood City team will more than likely choose Paul McCullough to hurl against the Bessemers.

Yarosz-Dundee Battle Tonight

MONACA YOUTH IS FAVORITE

By VICTOR J. JACOBS

International News Service Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Here, amid the hum and clatter of an industrial center, two embattled exponents of the prize ring clash tonight, with their minds, hearts and all settled on the spoils that will be the winners.

Teddy Yarosz, the handsome Polish youth who came out of the small Ohio valley milltown of Monaca, Pa., to measure the big favorites, strikes out boldly in quest of the world middleweight title. He would like to add to the 160-pound state crown, but Vince Dundee, who owns the universal title, stands ready to meet the challenge.

Skeptics who elected to give the match a "doubtful" financial tag because of the $25,000 guarantee given Dundee, are forced to sit back and listen now to the broadcasts of the promoters while they propound the slogans of the under-taking. Advance ticket sales, the report, are far up in the thousands and good weather favoring, nothing short of a $50,000 gate is expected.

Yarosz Favorite
To return to the original name of thought, the boys will go 15 rounds or less, probably the limit, in Pittsburgh's capital world title fight at Forbes field in deciding the question of who shall occupy the New York state portion of the middleweight throne.

Ted can well view the affair as an example of the proverb: "All come to him who waits." The emphatic, egotist has been named among the topnotchers and the lower calibre boys of the welter and middleweight divisions for years, and tonight he earns the reward for his excellent and undaunted plodding.

Save for age, where Yarosz enjoys a handicap of several years, the principals will match very closely in size. On the strength of two shell-lackies he previously coated Dundee with, here and once in the "chance" home town of Newark, Ted remains on the long end of 6-5 betting odds. "Finger, though, is an unproved batter who has been at stake countless times, and it may be on this score that little dough is being laid on the line.

Dempsey Present
Fit and vibrant, Yarosz and Dundee with their long routines of banter and friends were both in town resting the few hours before the going. Both appeared in the peak of condition. To this their managers, Max War, one of the defending half and Ray Foutis, vouchsafed on behalf of their fighters and voluntarily added separate optimistic notes.

The appearance of the two notables, including Jack Dempsey, who Waxman claims as an auxiliary of his organization, gives the affair added lustre.

Pirates Hand Giants Defeat

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—For a while this summer New Yorkers thought they would surely see the Giants and Yankees battling in the world series next month.

They became resigned to seeing only half a series when Mike McCormack's pumpkin Tapers put the chili on the Yankees, and now they are wondering if they are going to see any part of the fall classic.

The latest doubt is occasioned by the terrific slump of the Giants who have blown their last three while the Cardinals have run their winning string to five straight, leaving the Giants with only a four-game lead over the St. Louis entry today.

Pirates Top Giants
Dizzy Holding rather than Hal Schumacher's poor pitching was the cause of their 9 to 7 defeat by the Pirates. The Giants made six errors and all of them were costly.

Going into the ninth Schumacher apparently had his 22nd victory well in hand but three hits plus three errors settled him and the Giants at the same time.

While the Giants were wobbling over the Polo grounds, the Tigers were picking up half a game at the expense of the idle Yankees by taking the Red Sox 2-1 on two homers by Greenberg.

Eldon Auker held the Sox to three hits while the Tigers made five off Dizzy Rheder. Greenberg's first homer tied the score in the seventh and his second won the game in the ninth. The second one—wallowing the center field fence—was one of the longest drives ever made in Detroit and probably second only to the one Babe Ruth hit over that same fence in 1927.

Dean Wins 25th
Dizzy Dean hunk up his 25th victory by leading the Phillies to five hits to win 4-1.

Chief Bollinger's homer with the bases loaded gave the Senators a 7-4 decision over the White Sox. The A's topped the Indians 9-6 and the Dodgers used 18 men in dropping one to the Red Sox 6-5. In the only other game of the day.

Australian Net Star Defeats Frank Shields

Vernon Kirby, Of Australia, Hands Lacing To Shields, Meets Perry Today

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 11.

Thanks to the countless men which infest the native South Africa, Vernon Kirby found himself in a position today to obstruct Fred Perry's entrance into the final round of the men's national tennis championship here.

Sounds far-fetched, but there is a direct connection, for it was from the sediment of the archipelago in Durban, where the slim, blond left-hander was born, 22 years ago, that the courts were made on which he learned to play tennis.

And he must have learned well, for Kirby yesterday gave the American Frank Shields in four sets in their quarter-final encounter.

The South African hardly hopes to beat Perry today, but he is hopeful of making a better showing than Butler did yesterday, or Pebleman the day before.

There is no such strong favorite in the other semi-final, involving Wilmer Allison, five-set conqueror of Lester Stetten, and Sidney Wood, straight-set winner over Frankie Parker, as in the Perry match.

Chess Champion at 22

Though only 22 years old, Samuel Reshevsky of New York proved so much better than the bearded stars of chess that he is winner of an international chess championship tournament, held in Syracuse, N. Y.

SOUGHT ADVICE
International News Service
HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—A total of 4521 patients sought advice at tuberculosis clinics held in various sections of the state the past month, according to Dr. John B. Critchfield, chief of the clinics.

The important question is not who will boss the NRA, but who will boss the U. S. A.

Amateur Stars Resume Battles

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Editor
BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 11.—After one day of madness, the national amateur golf championship settled down this morning to a period of tranquility. The second round having virtually nothing to offer beyond the fact that W. Lawson Little, the British amateur champion, John Goodman, 1933 open champion, and George Dunlap, defending champion, were in the list for today.

Little was to play a gentleman by the name of J. M. Tucker of Rochester. Dunlap was coupled with W. S. McCullough of Philadelphia, and Goodman was to play a party by the name of Bob Jacobson of Deal, N. J.

Jacobson, according to all accounts, has been shooting sub-par rounds of 70 or better and is all set for the young man from Omaha. It would be fitting and strictly in line with what happened yesterday with the defeat of Francis Oulmet by Bobby Jones, the second, if a sap by the name of Jacobson were able to win from the former national open champion. As a matter of fact, anything is possible in these 18 hole round matches, which go on until further notice, or in other words, until Thursday.

Pass vs Young

It's a formality that Knox M. Young, Pittsburgh conqueror of Max Marston, must play Fred Haas, the Texan who won the recent western junior championship. Haas ordinarily ought to draw a breather but after his hard match of yesterday he must go out and give his best against the man who beat an ex-national champion.

Goodman apparently picks up a live one in Jacobson who has been playing the course like a master. As for Little, nobody knows much about Tucker, except that Tucker has a way of knocking off a champion. Jesse Sweet, another former champion, would seem to have an easy match with Francis Doyle, the Holy Cross entry.

Bobby Jones To Play
Bobby Jones, the Detroit conqueror of Francis Quimet, is teamed up with C. Byard, Plymouth, N. J. One of the good matches of the day will be Walter A. Dill, Chicago, with Jimmy Cochrane, Miami, N. Y. One of the weaker cup teams, Johnny Fisher will meet Al Andrusen, Chicago, and every thing ought to be alright.

Another old time champion, Chick Evans, will be teamed in with Pat Sawyer, Minneapolis. This will be surely one of those matches in which an old hand will be demonstrated to the advantage of the team, with the result that nobody properly will get anything.

Face Tough Job
Jack Sutherland and his new assistant coach, Bill Kern, have the hardest job of their coaching careers on their hands this fall. In three weeks they must whip into shape an eleven that may carry on through the hardest schedule in the history.

In succession the Panthers must meet Washington and Jefferson, West Virginia, Southern California, Minnesota, Westminster, Notre Dame, Nebraska, Navy, and Carnegie Tech. The West Virginia, Westminster, Nebraska and Navy games will be played away.

Returning letters include Captain Charles Hartwig, Kenneth O'Connell, and Frank Kutz guards; George Shottel and Nick Klesky, centers; Bob Heel, tackle; Harvey Roeder and Miller Mungie, quarterbacks; Mike Stosick, halfback; and Len Sheldyck, halfback; and Irvy Weinstock and Henry Wendenbaum, fullbacks. Of this number only three, Hartwig, Weinstock, and Shottel were regulars in 1933.

PITT GRIDDERS START TRAINING

Coach "Jock" Sutherland Takes Pitt Football Team To Camp Windber

WINDBER, Sept. 11.—Fifty varsity gridders started out on the practice field at Camp Hamilton, three miles from here, Monday morning, as Jack Sutherland sent the Pitt Panthers through their first drill of the 1934 campaign.

Two drills will be held daily until Saturday, September 23, when the one session will be on the program. Then the Panthers return to the barracks and to classes, and from then on begin a series of practices which will be the rule.

Jack Sutherland and his new assistant coach, Bill Kern, have the hardest job of their coaching careers on their hands this fall. In three weeks they must whip into shape an eleven that may carry on through the hardest schedule in the history.

Three More Days Until Opening Game Of Year With Braddock High

Three more days and then the big kickoff of the 1934 season for the "Red Hurricane" against Braddock high under the maza lamps at Taggart stadium. The game Friday night will start at 8 o'clock. The doors will swing open at 7 o'clock.

In event of good weather the opening battle should draw a large crowd to the local football arena. Can New Castle go through another undefeated season? This is the question that the fans are asking. The Class A conference champions are going to face a tough program. Five major games are on the schedule mapped out by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner.

The five big games are New Kensington, Washington, Clairton, Turtle Creek and Clarion.

Braddock High will prove a good tester for the caliber of the Braddock machine this year. Ellwood City will be the second game on the program.

RYANTOWN AND CLIFTON FLATS PLAY WEDNESDAY

Fifth And Deciding Game Of Series Will Be Played At E. And A. Field

Ryantown will play the Clifton Flats team at the E. and A. field at 4:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the fifth and deciding game of the independent league championship series. It was definitely announced today.

The count stands at two games apiece. The winner tomorrow afternoon will be crowned champions. The Clifton Flats team will place their hopes in the strong right arm of Coates, with Numan receiving the Ryanstown, will probably carry them for with Dennis Hill or Berk on the mound Clifton will be behind the plate.

A good game is expected and in event of good weather a large crowd will be doubt well their way to the Spenten Ward field to witness the game.

Pirates Purchase Georgia Grid Star
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—New York's Baltimore from University of Georgia has been purchased from the Cincinnati Reds' preference football squad. President Art Remey of the Pittsburgh Pirates announced today.

At the same time it was revealed George Kavel, former co-captain and halfback of Carnegie Tech, and Harry Marston, West Virginia, halfback, were released.

Shenango Valley Sportsmen are collaborating with state authorities today in stocking the Shenango River in Pulaski with young bass, according to C. B. White, secretary of the organization. The sportsmen feel fortunate in being given these bass by the state as the stocking of bass in local streams is an occurrence of rare interval.

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 11.—Robert Perkins, 23, last year's W. & J. college tennis champion, died Monday after a long illness. Perkins was a ranking net star here.

Scrimmage Sessions To Start For Titan Squad

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11.—One week of preliminary drills over for the Westminster College football squad this week, Coach Bill Gibbons has said.

While the latter part of last week was devoted to dummy scrimmages, no touch workouts for the Titans have been given by the Gibbons brothers, but it is possible that these will start Wednesday afternoon.

Both Bill and Tom Gibbons are pointing the men in each drill for the opening game with Slippery Rock here on Sept. 22. Realizing that there are but two weeks in which to get ready for this game, and remembering that the Titans last year dropped the opening game to the Teachers by a 13-6 score, the new Titans mentors hope to get the players in the right frame of mind to start the season with a victory.

With the arrival of freshmen for the start of the orientation period Monday two additional men reported to the squad, so that there are 24 men in uniform. One or two more may report yet this week.

Scrimmage sessions will be secret if the wishes of the new Titans men are observed. The gate to the playing field has been kept locked during the drills to date.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAKER, JR.

FAMILIAR NAMES

Although the Chicago Bears probably received a different impression of August 31, there will be an unusually large number of the 1933 college stars returning to the arena to compete for another football season.

Look over the following list of players; you should be able to identify all of them since they were in the headlines on all sport pages very often last year.

Barkfield—Cotton, Warburton, Southern California; Duane Purvis, Purdue; Pat Lund, Minnesota; Jack Buckler, Army; Jay Berwanger, Chicago; Andy Plancy and Don Elser, Notre Dame; Franklin, Oregon State; Reynold, Illinois; Clark and Borries, Navy; Noel, Detroit; Crayne, Iowa; Weinstock and Weisenbaugh, Pitt; Alustiza, Stanford.

Ends—Frank Larson, Minnesota; Willis Ward, Michigan; Lib Lewis, Carnegie Tech; Julius Bescoe, Southern California; Moscrip, Stanford; Vaire and Milner, Notre Dame.

Tackles—Dorloway, Carnegie Tech; Theodoratus, Washington State; Ferraro, Columbia; Williams, Georgia Tech.

Guards—Barclay, North Carolina; Hartwig, Pitt; Monahan, Ohio State; Centers—Muller, Stanford; Robinson, Tulane; Devine, Washington State; Shotwell, Pitt.

If those names aren't familiar to you it is because the year that has elapsed since football was last in the limelight has erased from your memory some of the best players of the 1933 season.

What an All-American team could be selected from this group; Warburton at quarter; Crayne and Lund at the halves; Weinstock at fullback; Larson and Moscrip, ends; Torrance and Ferraro, tackles; Barclay and Monahan, guards; Devine at center.

That makes a strong pre-season All-American team. Although a little premature, the fact that such stars are available should give you a pretty good idea of the power that will be in the 1934 college line-ups.

THE GOTHAM JEWISH STAR
While Phil Weintraub is being heralded as the magnet to draw the Jewish population to the Polo Grounds the Giants publicity department may be overlooking its best bet. Harry Danning, young catcher, at present looks much more like a future star than Chicago Phil Weintraub has been around quite a few years without ever learning to field, so it isn't likely that he will suddenly develop at 27 years of age. He is considered a good hitting prospect but has yet to prove it over a full major league campaign.

On the other hand Danning has youth on his side and even now is a better catcher than Weintraub is an outfielder. Only 23 years old, Harry has become a baseball star. He has gradually ousted Richards as the second string receiver and isn't far behind Gus Mancuso. He is a much harder and more consistent batter than the Italian.

So, regardless of the reams of Weintraub publicity, it will probably be Harry Danning who will prove to be the Jewish gate attraction of the New York Giants.

LOCAL TALENT IN FOREIGN FIELDS

Harold "Red" Haid—Pitcher, Oakland, Pacific Coast league, August 26, relief pitcher against Los Angeles, allowed 4 hits in 1 and one-third innings; August 29, lost a pitching duel to Seattle, 3-1, allowing seven hits in eight innings.

Mike Duffler—Catcher, Brooklyn, Middle Atlantic league, August 25 to 31, caught five games, at bat 18 times, five hits, batted in 2 runs.

Stock Market Is Irregular

RALLYING POWER IS WEAK TODAY

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The stock market was a highly irregular affair today with the main trend appearing to be toward lower levels. While a measure of support appeared in the list shortly after the opening, there did not appear to be any appreciable rallying power. United States Smelting was again subjected to pressure, and more than 2 cents before meeting with any support. This brought renewed liquidation into American Smelting, Howe Sound, and Alaska Juneau. In the steel group United States Steel opened unchanged, rallied fractionally and then quickly fell back to its opening price. General Motors and Chrysler gave similar performances getting up half a point each before meeting with renewed offerings. There was but minor movements in the rail group where Acheson, New York Central, Union Pacific and several of the lower priced issues were unable to do anything but just about hold their own. Western Union was a weak spot opening more than a point lower and showing no rallying power. Utilities were steady on the statement of Judge Mack now conducting the state's rate investigation. Commodity markets were mixed with grain lower and cotton moderately higher.

Strike Leaders Extend Deadline

PRESIDENT'S BOARD IS NOW HOPEFUL

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Confidence a settlement can be reached "which will be fair to workers, employers, and in the public interest," the president's special board of inquiry had the strike leaders extend their deadline for employers' acceptance of their arbitration proposal until 6 p. m. today and continued conferences with the mill owners. George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute and chief spokesman for the manufacturers, was back before the committee today after having a long session with it yesterday. Francis J. Gorman, strike chairman, renewed his demand that the grievances of the workers must be settled now or the strike will continue indefinitely. The first public statement from the mediators, issued by chairman John G. Winant, said: "The board is proceeding with conferences and negotiations with both sides and has explored the situation sufficiently in four days of inquiry to know that the problems arising out of the textile dispute are not impossible of solution. The board believes that a settlement can be reached which will be fair to workers, employers, and in the public interest. It is our earnest hope that while these discussions are in progress all parties to the dispute use their utmost endeavors to preserve law and order in all strike areas." It was significant that Winant conferred with AAA officials, because many cotton manufacturers have complained about the 4.2 cent a pound cotton processing tax.

Seeking Funds For Committee

Quinn Investigating Committee For Relief Probe Has Been Without Funds

REP. McELWEE IS BOARD MEMBER

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—A drive for funds to enable the Quinn House Committee named to investigate the state emergency relief setup to go to work is expected to be started at the special session of the legislature convening here tomorrow. Headed by Rep. James J. Quinn, Allegheny Democrat, the committee was named at the 1933 special session but was stymied because the legislature voted it no funds to carry on an investigation. As a result the committee has never met. Will Seek Funds Quinn himself is expected to lead the campaign to give his committee funds and observers give him full Democratic support in his move. Other members of the committee, whom Quinn said will meet with him early in the session, to outline a course of action, are Reps. Fred C. Gartner, and Mrs. Martha M. Pennock, Philadelphia. William C. McElwee, Lawrence, and William P. Roan, Luzerne. Creation of the Quinn committee was not the first official action taken by the legislature to probe the machinery of the relief board and its far-flung personnel reaching into all sections of the state. At the 1933 regular session, the legislature asked the board to report the salaries of its employees, a request which was not complied with by the board. During the same session at which the Quinn committee was named, Rep. Joseph R. Lynch, Allegheny, introduced a resolution asking for a committee to probe relief distribution in his county. An impartial board of inquiry reported several months later that the Allegheny board was an efficiently operating unit.

Complete Plans For Celebration

Final Outdoor Celebration Of Year To Be Held On Friday And Saturday

On Monday night in the Victor Emmanuel club, West Home street, the committee in charge of the outdoor celebration to be held on South Jefferson street on Friday and Saturday, completed plans for the final outdoor ceremony of the year. Chairman Frank Mastrangelo announced that on Friday night vespers in the St. Vitus, at 7:30 o'clock, will mark the opening of the event. At 8:30 o'clock, the South Side Board of Trade band, under the direction of Anthony Basile, will give a concert. Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, solemn high mass will be celebrated in the St. Vitus church, by the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita who will also deliver a sermon on "The Life of St. Vitus." Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, second vespers will be conducted. On Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the band will parade through the principal streets of the city. During the course of the evening, the South Side band will give another concert. The Honorable Charles B. Mayne, Attorney Frank Moretti and Raymond Peluso will address the audience on Saturday night. A huge fireworks display at 11:30 o'clock, will bring to a close the celebration. The committee included: Frank Mastrangelo, chairman, Frank Musolino, assistant chairman, Angelo Chilli, secretary, Angelo Luongo, Salvatore Rusciotti, Angelo Calabrese, Nunzio Musone, Giovanni Marchione, Vincenzo Marozzi and Cesario Tomasi.

Job Registrations Now At High Peak

Job Bureau Here Reports 10,500 On File; Look For Drop Shortly

Active registrations in the files of the Federal-State Employment office, Johnson building, have jumped from 7,000 to 10,500 as a result of the recent abandonment of RWD work here. Supervisor R. L. Meermans announced today. It is believed, however, that the resumption of relief work projects under the state's proposed program, scheduled for September 15, will sharply reduce that number. Files of the office, Mr. Meermans pointed out, are planned every three months to determine the "active" and "inactive" cards. Where applicants have received jobs, moved or otherwise provided work for themselves, their cards are classified as inactive. Those still seeking jobs are termed active. The employment office staff continued today its task of readying the files for the inauguration of the new work relief system under which it will play a more significant role. Left-over details of the recent county-wide survey of "employables" of families were also receiving attention.

Husband Failed To Tell Wife Of Getting Divorce

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Claiming she didn't know her husband had divorced her, Martha Roberts, of Elizabeth, Jefferson county, today petitioned divorce court asking the case be reopened. In her petition, the woman said she received no notification of the divorce action brought against her by Percy L. Roberts in 1928 charging wilful desertion. She added that it was not until August 20 when she appeared in desertion and non-support court against Roberts that she learned of his divorce. The petition asked.

Y. M. C. A. BOARD RENAMES OFFICERS

McGrew Speaks To Lion's Club

Tells Of Work Of HOLC In New Castle And Lawrence County

To date the Home Owner's Loan Corporation in Lawrence county has granted 287 loans aggregating $843,356.61 and before the close of September will have approved, no doubt loans exceeding a million dollars. Don F. McGrew, sub-district manager for the HOLC in the Union Trust Building, declared in an address at the Lions Club luncheon today.

McGrew told the clubmen in his talk that 1,300 applications are now on file in the HOLC office. Figuring that an average of five persons are concerned in each application, McGrew calculated that 6,500 people alone are interested in the HOLC here today from the borrower's standpoint and that from one to eight mortgage are interested as well. He estimated that close to 10,000 people are interested in the HOLC in this county.

The office of the HOLC here employs 32, partly salaried people and partly on fee. The payroll approximates $4,000 monthly. Loans in Lawrence county, the sub-district manager showed, average around $3,000, comparing almost the same with the national average.

Mr. McGrew praised the legislation creating the corporation as one of the "most useful acts" of the last Congress.

A state bulletin which revealed a sharp decrease in the number of new applications for home mortgage relief and an increase in the excess of loans closed above the number of new applications from home owners in the state at large during the week ending August 17 was noted by the speaker.

Canal Tunnel At Lebanon Collapses

(International News Service) LEBANON, Pa., Sept. 11.—Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of work on the canal bed, the west wall of the old Union Canal tunnel, believed to be the oldest in the United States collapsed today. CWA workers last July had completed an $18,000 project intended to preserve and beautify the old landmark which has attracted thousands of tourists and sightseers.

Voters In Seven States At Polls

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Voters in seven states went to the polls today in primary elections of more or less local importance. Senatorial nominations feature the contests in Arizona, Michigan, Washington and Vermont. Other primaries are being held today in Louisiana, Colorado and New Hampshire.

Stock Market
Is Irregular

RALLYING POWER
IS WEAK TODAY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The stock market was a highly irregular affair today with the main trend appearing to be toward lower levels.

While a measure of support appeared in the list shortly after the opening, there did not appear to be any appreciable rallying power.

United States Steel was again subjected to pressure and lost more than 2 points before meeting with any support. This brought renewed liquidation into American Smelting, Howe Sound, and Alaska Juneau.

In the steel group United States Steel opened unchanged, rallied fractionally and then quickly fell back to its opening price.

General Motors and Chrysler gave similar performances getting up half a point each before meeting with renewed offerings.

There was but minor movements in the rail group where Atchafalpa, New York Central, Union Pacific and several of the lower priced issues were unable to do anything but just about hold their own.

Western Union was a weak spot opening more than a point lower and showing no rallying power.

Utilities were steady on the statement of Judge Mack now conducting the state's rate investigation.

Commodity markets were mixed with grain lower and cotton moderately higher.

Strike Leaders
Extend Deadline

Ultimatum On Arbitration
Is Extended For 24 Hours
By Gorman

PRESIDENT'S BOARD
IS NOW HOPEFUL

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Confidence a settlement can be reached

"which will be fair to workers, employers, and in the public interest," the president's special board of inquiry had the strike leaders extend their deadline for employers' acceptance of their arbitration proposal until 6 p. m. today and continued conferences with the mill owners.

George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute and chief spokesman for the manufacturers, was back before the committee today after having a long session with it yesterday.

Francis J. Gorman, strike chairman, renewed his demand that the grievances of the workers must be settled now or the strike will continue indefinitely.

The first public statement from the mediators, issued by chairman John G. Winant, said: "The board is proceeding with conferences and negotiations with both sides and has explored the situation sufficiently in four days of inquiry to know that the problems arising out of the textile dispute are not impossible of solution. The board believes that a settlement can be reached which will be fair to workers, employers and in the public interest."

"It is our earnest hope that while these discussions are in progress all parties to the dispute use their utmost endeavors to preserve law and order in all strike areas."

It was significant that Winant conferred with AAA officials, because many cotton manufacturers have complained about the 42 cents a pound cotton processing tax.

The five-day week at the State Capitol which was put into effect this spring will be continued until the end of his administration, Gov. Gifford Pinchot announced today.

Beginning with the week of September 17 employees will work from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. with Saturday off. A skeleton force will be maintained on duty Saturday in all departments.

Seeking Funds
For Committee

Quinn Investigating Committee For Relief Probe Has Been Without Funds

REP. McELWEE IS BOARD MEMBER

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—A drive for funds to enable the Quinn

House Committee named to investigate the state emergency relief setup to go to work is expected to be started at the special session of the legislature convening here tomorrow.

Headed by Rep. James J. Quinn, Allegheny Democrat, the committee was named at the 1933 special session but was stymied because the legislature voted it no funds to carry on an investigation. As a result the committee has never met.

Will Seek Funds

Quinn himself is expected to lead the campaign to give his committee funds and observers give him full Democratic support in his move. Other members of the committee, whom Quinn said will meet with him early in the session to outline a course of action, are Reps. Fred C. Gartner, and Mrs. Martha M. Pennock, Philadelphia, William C. McElwee, Lawrence, and William P. Roan, Luzette.

Creation of the Quinn committee was not the first official action taken by the legislature to probe the machinery of the relief board and its far-flung personnel reaching into all sections of the state. At the 1933 regular session, the legislature asked the board to report the salaries of its employees, a request which was not complied with by the board.

During the same session at which the Quinn committee was named, Rep. Joseph R. Lynch, Allegheny, introduced a resolution asking for a committee to probe relief distribution in his county. An impartial board of inquiry reported several months later that the Allegheny board was an efficiently operating unit.

Complete Plans
For Celebration

Final Outdoor Celebration Of Year To Be Held On Friday And Saturday

On Monday night in the Victor Emmanuel club, West Home street, the committee in charge of the outdoor celebration to be held on South Jefferson street on Friday and Saturday, completed plans for the final outdoor ceremony of the year.

Chairman Frank Mastrangelo announced that on Friday night vespers in the St. Vitus, at 7:30 o'clock, will mark the opening of the event.

At 8:30 o'clock, the South Side Board of Trade band, under the direction of Anthony Basile, will give a concert. Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, a solemn high mass will be celebrated in the St. Vitus church, by the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita who will also deliver a sermon on "The Life of St. Vitus."

Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, second vespers will be conducted. On Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the band will parade through the principal streets of the city. During the course of the evening, the South Side band will give another concert. The Honorable Charles B. Mayne, Attorney Frank Moretti and Raymond Peluso will address the audience on Saturday night.

A huge fireworks display at 11:30 o'clock, will bring to a close the celebration. The committee includes: Frank Mastrangelo, chairman, Frank Musolino, assistant chairman, Angelo Chial, secretary, Angelo Lunardo, Salvatore Ruscitti, Angelo Calabrese, Nunzio Musone, Giovanni Marchione, Vincenzo Marozzi and Cesaro Tomasi.

Violence Occurs
In Silk Strike

Workers Who Refused To Join
Strike At Hazelton, Pa.,
Are Attacked

(International News Service)
HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 11.—Violence broke out in the silk strike here today as pickets left their posts at the Duplan silk mill and began picketing houses of workers who failed to join the walkout.

Tin cans filled with oil drained from automobile crankcases, bricks, bottles and other missiles, many with threatening notes attached, were hurled through the windows of workers who refused to join the silk strike. Considerable damage was reported.

Job Registrations
Now At High Peak

Job Bureau Here Reports 10,500 On File; Look For Drop Shortly

Active registrations in the files of the Federal-State Employment office, Johnson building, have jumped from 7,000 to 10,500 as a result of the recent abandonment of RWD work here, Supervisor R. L. Meermans announced today. It is believed, however, that the resumption of relief work projects under the state's proposed program, scheduled for September 15, will sharply reduce that number.

Files of the office, Mr. Meermans pointed out, are gleaned every three months to determine the "active" and "inactive" cards. Where applicants have received jobs, moved or otherwise provided work for themselves, their cards are classified as inactive. Those still seeking jobs are termed active.

The employment office staff continued today its task of readying the files for the inauguration of the new work relief system under which it will play a more significant role. Left-over details of the recent county-wide survey of "employables" of families were also receiving attention.

McGrew Speaks
To Lion's Club

Tells Of Work Of HOLC In New Castle And Lawrence County

To date the Home Owner's Loan Corporation in Lawrence county has granted 287 loans aggregating $843,356.61 and before the close of September will have approved, no doubt loans exceeding a million dollars, Don F. McGrew, sub-district manager for the HOLC in the Union Trust Building, declared in an address at the Lions Club luncheon today.

McGrew told the clubmen in his talk that 1,300 applications are now on file in the HOLC office. Figuring that an average of five persons are concerned in each application, McGrew calculated that 6,500 people are interested in the HOLC here today from the borrower's standpoint and that from one to eight mortgage are interested as well. He estimated that close to 10,000 people are interested in the HOLC in this county.

The office of the HOLC here employs 32, partly salaried people and partly on fee. The payroll approximately $4,000 monthly.

Airplane Sales Under Spotlight By Senate Board

Airplane Business Has Been Split By Two Big Companies

MANY PLANES ARE SHIPPED ABROAD

American Investigation Into Munitions And Planes Scored In London

By EUGENE J. CADOU
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Matters of airplane sales through which two huge American companies have sold most of the military airplanes of the world during the last two years were described to the Senate committee today.

In war-torn South America, where Bolivia and Paraguay are at war and where Colombia, Peru and Brazil not long ago armed themselves in fear of warfare and in the oriental tinder box involving Russia, Japan and China, the "Merchants of Death" have peddled their wares.

The Curtiss-Wright corporation and United Aircraft and Transport companies split the lion's share of

Charges Hurdled

Officials of the two companies have hurled charges of foul dealing and "dirty work" at each other, the committee learned, and members said that the evidence indicated both sides were right in their allegations.

Committee members said the airplane manufacturers were as irregular in their business methods as the sellers of guns, submarines and other arms, who, according to the testimony, employed bribery, described picturesquely as "greasing the ways," "using palm oil," "doing the needful" and sometimes as plain "passing out graft."

Bribery Described

One letter in the committee's possession described bribery in Chicago gangster phraseology, saying the Brazilian "Chief De Cabinet will come in for fifty grand, meaning $50,000."

The DuPonts, large manufacturers of smokeless powder, also were engaged extensively in the airplane armament business, according to testimony. Through holding 40 per cent of the common stock of the General Motors company, which indirectly is a large stockholder in the Curtiss-Wright organization, the DuPonts have entered the aviation field.

Military Plane

During the last two years 171 of the 178 planes sold by Curtiss-Wright have been for military purposes, according to the evidence.

Lammot and Felix Du Pont, part owners of the munitions company, are slated to appear tomorrow and Thursday for extensive questioning.

In anticipation of their appearance, the committee's public department made public a lengthy statement denying the DuPonts engaged in fomenting war, disloyal foreign activities and profiteering, which have been charged against other arms concerns.

Red Cross Board Hears Reports

Activities Of Past Summer Reviewed At First Meeting Of Fall

WILL PARTICIPATE IN COMMUNITY CHEST

Members of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, met last evening, after a suspension of their monthly meetings during the summer months.

The board members voted to continue their participation in the Community Chest campaigns, as in the past and will also have their supplementary roll call in the rural districts.

Miss Kathryn A. Hite, chapter nurse, reported on her activities of the summer. In addition to the regular nursing program, a class in home hygiene and care of the sick was completed at Hillsville, and two first aid stations were conducted.

Jack Hulme, chairman of life saving, reported 109 beginners were given certificates after learning to swim under Red Cross supervision, while 19 juniors and 48 seniors received certificates of advancement.

Identify Bodies Of Dr. And Mrs. H. J. Strauch, Morro Castle Victims

(International News Service)
DONORA, Pa., Sept. 14.—Discovered last night among the bodies brought to shore at Spring Lake, N. J., the lifeless forms of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Strauch, passengers on the destroyed luxury liner, Morro Castle, were expected to be brought to their home here today.

According to information received here, the Donora doctor and his wife were drowned when their ship was swept by flames off the Jersey coast Saturday. Neither bodies showed burns.

Identifications were made by Mrs. Strauch's father, Vermer Rose, her brother-in-law, Regis Smith, both of Donora, and by Joseph Strauch, Pittsburgh, a brother of the dead physician.

May Seize Upon Russia's League Entrance As Pretext For Larger Army

(International News Service)
TOKYO, Sept. 11.—The Japanese army may seize upon Russia's entry into the League of Nations as a pretext for a demand for a larger budget and more arms, it was learned today.

While the official government spokesman was expressing an attitude of nonchalance regarding Russia's joining the league, semi-official circles failed to hide a concerned attitude.

The army, frowning upon the so-called diplomatic move, was understood to be ready to claim a larger army budget is necessary if Japan is to protect herself from aggressors.

Probe Is Scored
London, Sept. 11.—The practice of "greasing palms" as munitions manufacturers have described the payments of bribes and near-bribes in selling their wares, is a necessary evil in the armaments trade, Captain John Henry Ball, managing director of the sole armament company declared today.

Capt. Ball and the Soley Arms firm are able to sell enough small arms from the British war office surplus "to alter the political balance of power in the smaller states." It was testified yesterday before the United States Senate's munitions inquiry in Washington.

That quotation at the inquiry about "greasing" is exactly what I wrote about," said Capt. Ball, "but I was pointing out that my low prices enabled this to be done from the other side and we could still make a profit."

"The majority of foreign government officials," continued Capt. Ball, "are so badly paid it is impossible for them to live on their salaries. It is an understood thing they should receive tips, just as a railroad porter is tipped for carrying your bag."

Capt. Ball branded the Washington inquiry "distorted ballyhoo."

STORM TROOPER SLAYS TWO AND WOUNDS OTHERS

Nazi Storm Trooper Goes Insane And Knives Two Of Comrades To Death

(International News Service)
NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 11.—A storm troop corporal ran amuck today in a large camp at Langwas, near here, and knifed and killed two of his comrades and wounded several others before he could be subdued.

The crazed man left his cot during the early hours of the morning and murdered the troopers as they lay asleep in his own tent. He was seriously injured in the struggle preceding his capture.

State Highway Department May Erect Building

Site Along Wilmington Road Near City Is Being Looked Over
Possibilities of the State Highway Department locating its plant and equipment on the Wilmington road are seen in the recent actions of the engineers of the department. A plot of ground, approximately five acres in size fronting on the Wilmington road and Glen-Moore Boulevard have been surveyed by the Highway Department and while no sale has yet been consummated it is thought that this is the next step.

For several years the department has been endeavoring to locate a site to build an office and a garage and the Wilmington Avenue site seems to be ideal for such a purpose.

NEGRO ATTACKER BEING HUNTED

Jane Shinton, 12, Of Paoli, Pa., Attacked By Negro, But Escapes

(International News Service)
PAOLI, Pa., Sept. 11.—Armed with rifles, pistols and clubs, posses of citizens and police today continued an unrelenting search of Chester county woodlands in this section for a fiend who attempted to attack 12-year-old Jane Shinton.

Fears were expressed that should any one of the angry posses corner the fugitive, described as a burly negro, before police, he would be lynched.

Occurs Near Home
The attempted attack occurred along an isolated road near the child's home. In her struggle to free herself from the man as he dragged her into a clump of bushes, the youngster's dress was torn and her face and hands were badly cut. Frightened by the child's screams, the negro freed his victim and darted into the woodlands near here. Although searchers combed the section throughout the night with flickering torchlights and lanterns, no trace of the fugitive was found.

The intended victim is the daughter of Harry Shinton, superintendent of the United States Veterans hospital at Gettysville, and Mrs. Emily Shinton, ex-postmistress of Paoli.

Stock Market
Is Irregular

IS WEAK TODAY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The stock market was a highly irregular affair today with the main trend appearing to be toward lower levels.

While a measure of support appeared in the list shortly after the opening, there did not appear to be any appreciable rallying power.

United States Steel was again subjected to pressure and lost more than a point, before reacting with support. This brought renewed liquidation into American Smelting, Howe Sound, and Alaska Juneau.

In the steel group United States Steel opened unchanged, rallied fractionally and then quickly fell back to its opening price.

General Motors and Chrysler gave similar performances getting up half a point each before meeting with renewed offerings.

There was but minor movements in the rail group where Atchafalaya, New York Central, Union Pacific and several of the lower priced lines were unable to do anything but just about hold their own.

Western Union was a weak spot opening more than a point lower and showing no rallying power.

Utilities were steady on the statement of Judge Mack now conducting the state's rate investigation.

Commodity markets were mixed with grain lower and cotton moderately higher.

Strike Leaders
Extend Deadline

PRESIDENT'S BOARD

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Confidence a settlement can be reached "which will be fair to workers, employers, and in the public interest," the president's special board of inquiry had the strike leaders extend their deadline for employers' acceptance of their arbitration proposal until 6 p. m. today and continued conferences with the mill owners.

George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute and chief spokesman for the manufacturers, was back before the committee today after having a long session with it yesterday.

Francis J. Gorman, strike chairman, renewed his demand that the grievances of the workers must be settled now or the strike will continue indefinitely.

The first public statement from the mediators, issued by chairman John G. Winant, said:

"The board is proceeding with conferences and negotiations with both sides and has explored the situation sufficiently in four days of inquiry to know that the problems arising out of the textile dispute are not impossible of solution. The board believes that a settlement can be reached which will be fair to workers, employers and in the public interest."

"It is our earnest hope that while these discussions are in progress all parties to the dispute use their utmost endeavor to prevent law and order in all strike areas."

It was significant that Winant conferred with A. S. Gorman, because many cotton manufacturers have complained about the 42 cents a pound cotton processing tax.

Seeking Funds
For Committee

Quinn Investigating Committee For Relief Probe Has Been Without Funds

REP. McELWEE IS BOARD MEMBER

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—A drive for funds to enable the Quinn House Committee named to investigate the state emergency relief setup to go to work is expected to be started at the special session of the legislature convening here tomorrow.

Headed by Rep. James J. Quinn, Allegheny Democrat, the committee was named at the 1933 special session but was stymied because the legislature voted it no funds to carry on an investigation. As a result the committee has never met.

Will Seek Funds
Quinn himself is expected to lead the campaign to give his committee funds and observers give him full Democratic support in his move.

Other members of the committee, whom Quinn said will meet with him early in the session to outline a course of action, are Reps. Fred C. Gartner, and Mrs. Martha M. Pennock, Philadelphia, William C. McElwee, Lawrence, and William P. Roan, Luzerne.

Creation of the Quinn committee was not the first official action taken by the legislature to probe the machinery of the relief board and its far-flung personnel reaching into all sections of the state. At the 1933 regular session, the legislature asked the board to report the salaries of its employees, a request which was not complied with by the board.

During the same session at which the Quinn committee was named, Rep. Joseph R. Lynch, Allegheny, introduced a resolution asking for a committee to probe relief distribution in his county. An impartial board of inquiry reported several months later that the Allegheny board was an efficiently operating unit.

Job Registrations

Job Bureau Here Reports 10,500 On File; Look For Drop Shortly

Active registrations in the files of the Federal-State Employment office, Johnson building, have jumped from 7,000 to 10,500 as a result of the recent abandonment of RWD work here, Supervisor R. L. Meermans announced today. It is believed, however, that the resumption of relief work projects under the state's proposed program scheduled for September 15, will sharply reduce that number.

Files of the office, Mr. Meermans pointed out, are gleaned every three months to determine the "active" and "inactive" cards. Where applicants have received jobs, moved or otherwise provided work for themselves, their cards are classified as inactive. Those still seeking jobs are termed active.

The employment office staff continued today its task of readying the files for the inauguration of the new work relief system under which it will play a more significant role. Left-out details of the recent county-wide survey of "employability" of families were also receiving attention.

Husband Failed
To Tell Wife Of Getting Divorce

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Claiming she didn't know her husband had divorced her, Martha Roberts, of Eleonora, Jefferson county, today petitioned divorce court asking the judge be dropped.

In her petition, the woman said she received no notification of the divorce action brought against her by Percy L. Roberts in 1928 charging wilful desertion.

She added that it was not until August 20 when she appeared in desertion and non-support court against Roberts that she learned of his divorce, the petition added.

Young Woman Held In Slaying Case

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Richard Narcetta 22, was held in jail here today charged with murdering her three-year-old son, Carmello.

The woman was ordered committed to jail by Chief Deputy Coroner John S. Alderson. At the same time, detectives were ordered to continue their investigation.

Hospital attaches said the child died because of two pieces of tightly-twisted gauze lodged in its throat.

McGrew Speaks
To Lion's Club

Tells Of Work Of HOLC In New Castle And Lawrence County

To date the Home Owner's Loan Corporation in Lawrence county has granted 287 loans aggregating $843,356.01 and before the close of September will have approved, no doubt loans exceeding a million dollars.

Don P. McGrew, sub-district manager for the HOLC in the Union Trust Building, declared in an address at the Lions Club luncheon today.

McGrew told the clubmen in his talk that 1,300 applications are now on file in the HOLC office. Figuring that an average of five persons are concerned in each application, McGrew calculated that 6,500 people alone are interested in the HOLC here today from the borrower's standpoint and that from one to eight mortgages are interested as well. He estimated that close to 10,000 people are interested in the HOLC in this county.

The office of the HOLC here employs 22, partly salaried people and partly on fee. The payroll approximates $4,000 monthly.

Loans in Lawrence county, the sub-district manager showed, average around $3,000, comparing almost the same with the national average.

Mr. McGrew praised the legislation creating the corporation as one of the "most useful acts" of the last Congress.

A state bulletin which revealed a sharp decrease in the number of new applications for home mortgage relief and an increase in the excess of loans closed above the number of new applications from home owners in the state at large during the week ending August 17 was

Airplane Sales Under Spotlight By Senate Board

Airplane Business Has Been Split By Two Big Companies

American Investigation Into Munitions And Planes Scored In London

By EUGENE J. CADOU
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Miserable sales campaigns through which two huge American companies have sold most of the military airplanes of the world during the last two years were described to the Senate munitions committee today.

In war-torn South America, where Bolivia and Paraguay are at war and where Colombia, Peru and Brazil not long ago armed themselves in fear of warfare and in the aerial tangle box involving Russia, Japan and China, the "Merchants of Death" have peddled their wares.

The Curtiss-Wright corporation and United Aircraft and Transport companies split the lion's share of

Charges Hurdled

Officials of the two companies have hurled charges of "outrageous" and "dirty work" at each other, the committee learned, and members said that the evidence indicated both sides were right in their allegations.

Committee members said the airplane manufacturers were as irregular in their business methods as the sellers of guns, submarines and other arms, who, according to the testimony, employed bribery, described picturesquely as "greasing the ways," "using palm oil," "doing the needful and sometimes as plain "passing out graft."

Bribery Described

One letter in the committee's possession described proposed bribery in Chicago gangster phraseology, saying the "Broadway" "Chief" De Cade will come in for fifty grand, "meaning $50,000."

The DuPonts, large manufacturers of smokeless powder, also were engaged extensively in the airplane armament business, according to testimony. Through holding 40 per cent of the common stock of the General Motors company, which indirectly is a large stockholder in the Curtiss-Wright organization, the DuPonts have entered the aviation field.

Military Plane

During the last two years 171 of the 779 planes sold by Curtiss-Wright have been for military purposes, according to the evidence.

Lamont and Felix Du Pont, part owners of the munitions company, are slated to appear tomorrow and Thursday for extensive questioning.

In anticipation of their appearance, the company's publicity department made public a lengthy statement denying the DuPonts engaged in fomenting war, disloyal foreign activities and profiteering, which have been charged against other arms concerns.

Red Cross Board Hears Reports

WILL PARTICIPATE IN COMMUNITY CHEST

Members of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, met last evening, after a suspension of their monthly meetings during the summer months.

The board members voted to continue their participation in the Community Chest campaigns, as in the past, and will also have their supplementary roll call in the rural districts.

Miss Kathryn A. Hite, chapter nurse, reported on her activities of the summer. In addition to the regular nursing program, a class in home hygiene and care of the sick was completed at Hillsville, and two first aid stations were conducted.

Jack Hulme, chairman of life saving, reported 109 beginners were given certificates after learning to swim under Red Cross supervision, while 19 juniors and 48 seniors received certificates of advancement.

IDENTIFY BODIES OF DONORA COUPLE

(International News Service)

DONORA, Pa., Sept. 14.—Discovered last night among the bodies brought to shore at Spring Lake, N. J., the lifeless forms of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Strauch, passengers on the destroyed luxury liner, Morro Castle, were expected to be brought to their home here today.

According to information received here, the Donora doctor and his wife were drowned when their ship was swept by flames off the Jersey coast Saturday. Neither bodies showed burns.

Identifications were made by Mrs. Strauch's father, Vernon Ross, her brother-in-law, Regis Smith, both of Donora, and by Joseph Strauch, Pittsburgh, a brother of the dead physician.

JAPANESE MAY ENLARGE ARMY

May Seize Upon Russia's League Entrance As Pretext For Larger Army

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Sept. 11.—The Japanese army may seize upon Russia's entry into the League of Nations as a pretext for a demand for a larger budget and more arms, it was learned today.

While the official government spokesman was expressing an attitude of nonchalance regarding Russia's joining the league, semi-official circles failed to hide a concerned attitude.

The army, frowning upon the Soviet diplomatic move, was understood to be ready to claim a larger army budget is necessary if Japan is to protect herself from aggressors.

UNCOVER PLOT TO KIDNAP PREMIER

Canadian Police Uncover Plan To Kidnap Premier Bennett In Ottawa

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—Ottawa police today claimed discovery of a plot to kidnap the right Honorable R. B. Bennett, prime minister of Canada, following the arrest of members of an alleged gang of house breakers.

Inspector Mortimer H. Culver said the arrest of William Holtz on charges of receiving stolen goods brought information concerning plans to abduct the prime minister, who is a millionaire, and hold him for ransom.

NEGRO ATTACKER BEING HUNTED

Attacked By Negro, But Escapes

Jane Shinton, 12, Of Paoli, Pa.,

(International News Service)

PAOLI, Pa., Sept. 11.—Armed with rifles, pistols and clubs, posses of citizens and police today continued an unrelenting search of Chester county woodlands in this section for a found who attempted to attack 12-year old Jane Shinton.

Fears were expressed that should any one of the angry posses corner the fugitive, described as a burly negro, before police, he would be lynched.

Occurs Near Home

The attempted attack occurred along an isolated road near the child's home. In her struggle to free herself from the man as he dragged her into a clump of bushes, the youngster's dress was torn and her face and hands were badly cut. Frightened by the child's screams, the negro freed his victim and darted into the woodlands near here. Although searchers combed the section throughout the night with flickering torchlights and lanterns, no trace of the fugitive was found.

The intended victim is the daughter of Harry Shinton, superintendent of the United States Veterans hospital at Coatesville, and Mrs. Emily Shinton, ex-mistress of Paoli.

Announcement is made of the regular meeting of the New Castle School Board at the East Street school building on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.
